WEST VIRGINIA AND OHIO MINE STRIKE CALLED

25,000 Are Expected to Join in Walkout Tomorrow.

IGNORING OF PARLEY BY OWNERS IS CAUSE

12,000 Workers Already Are Idle as Result of Wage Dispute.

Columbus, Ohio, March 30 (A.P.).—A strike of all coal miners not under contract in Ohio and the West Virginia Panhandle, effective April 1, was called by representatives of the United Mine Workers of America at a meeting here tonight.

Lee Hall, president of District 6, United Mine Workers, said the call would be answered by approximately 25,000 miners, including 12,000 already idle as a result of a wage dispute.

Of the 25,000 men, union officials said 3,500 were in the West Virginia Panhandle. They estimated that an additional 10,000 miners in both the Panhandle and Ohio had drifted away from the union during recent years.

Owners Ignore Parley.

The union chiefs announced their decision after the mine owners in the district had ignored an invitation to attend a joint conference here today. The joint conference was called last week by Hall, with a view to settling the present strike, which had its inception in the Hocking Valley field, where the operators put into effect a reduced wage scale of $3 a day for laborers and 38 cents a ton for loaders.

The Hocking Valley miners walked out February 1 and diggers in other parts of the State declared sympathy strikes.

The new strike call was signed by Hall, Percy Tetlow, international representative of the union; James R. McCormick, international executive board member; David Watkins, vice president of District 6; G. W. Savage, secretary-treasurer; Herman Pherson, chairman of the Hocking Valley scale committee; Sam Phillips, chairman of the Cambridge field scale committee; John Cinque, chairman of the Eastern Ohio scale committee; Thomas J. Price, chairman of the Tuscarawas field, and Pearl Parker, chairman of the Pomeroy field.

Statement Issued.

The union leaders waited for more than 30 minutes after the time for the joint conference to start, but no operators or their representatives appeared.

The strike statement follows:

"We, the representatives of the miners of Ohio and the Panhandle section of West Virginia, have been petitioned that a request be made at all mines to cease work on April 1, 1932, in the above districts and remain idle until a contract be made to govern wages and working conditions with the United Mine Workers of America.

"We ask that all miners not under contract cease work in compliance with the petition above mentioned and remain idle until further orders. Adopted by the international and district officers and the members of the scale committees of the United Mine Workers of America of District 6."

Illinois Deadlock Continues.

Chicago, March 30 (A.P.).—Both operators and members of the Illinois District, United Mine Workers of America, tonight expected a suspension of digging operations with the expiration of the present wage contract tomorrow.

Negotiations for a compromise agreement on wages remained trapped in a deadlock which both sides agreed could not be ended by midnight Thursday.

Notices were posted at mines ordering diggers to have their tools out of workings, and the union policy committee announced its members would only be permitted to work after March 31 in mines, the officials of which had obtained union permis-

St. Paul, Minn., March 30 (A.P.).—M. W. Thatcher today resigned as general manager of the Farmers Union Terminal Association, to become manager of the Farmers National Grain Corporation office at Washington.

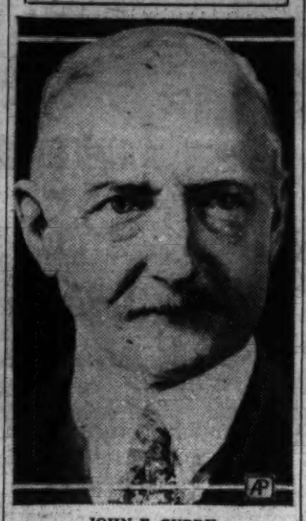
He resigned also as a director of the grain corporation, a Federal Farm Board agency. His change is effective April 15. The terminal association is an agricultural cooperative organization.

Ireland Redrafts Reply To London on Annuities

Dublin, Irish Free State, March 30 (A.P.).—President Eamon de Valera and his new cabinet today were reported to be working on a redraft of his reply to the British government, which recently told him that the oath of allegiance and the land annuities were regarded in London as an integral part of the ten-year-old Anglo-Irish Treaty.

Although it was not made clear just what revisions were being made in the reply, which originally was reported to uphold De Valera's stand for abolition of the oath and the annuities, unofficial advices were that word from Canada had brought reconsideration.

NEUTRAL IN RACE



JOHN F. CURRY.

MAINE DELEGATION TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Resubmission of Dry Law Is Favored at Democrats' State Convention.

Portland, Maine March 30 (A.P.).—An instructed delegation for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and a platform plank calling for resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the people were voted by the Maine State Democratic convention here today as they brought their two-day session to a close.

Instruction of the twelve delegates to the national convention to vote for the New York Governor as the party's presidential nominee, subject to the unit rule, brought the only decided break in the party's ranks.

On a standing vote the resolution for instruction was lost, but the vote was questioned and a poll of the convention by counties carried the resolution, 286 to 245.

It was a real test of strength—not so much of the Roosevelt strength, but of the power of the State leaders. Until this morning they had strenuously opposed any move to instruct the delegation, fearing that such action might cause a split similar to that occasioned four years ago, when the supporters of Alfred E. Smith forced through an instruction resolution.

Overnight they had a change of heart, and so just before the noon recess Charles L. Donahue, of Portland, one of those most vigorously opposing the move, presented the resolution.

Hardly had it been placed before the convention when the opposition opened up, much to the surprise of the leaders, who had felt that the sentiment among the delegates was almost solid for Roosevelt.

Those opposed were able to lay it on the table and then take the noon recess during which leaders of the two camps were busy. When the standing vote was taken it was against the resolution.

Many of the delegates did not vote

NEW YORK PICK OF DEMOCRATS KEPT TILL JUNE

STATE'S DELEGATES WILL BE KEPT SOLID

Choice Will Be Decided in Chicago; Roosevelt Will Attend.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

There must have been a commotion in the graves of Richard Croker, Charles F. Murphy, "Boss" Tweed and other departed chieftains of Tammany Hall yesterday.

John F. Curry, the present leader of Tammany, did a thing that those masters of political intrigue would have regarded as unthinkable.

Mr. Curry held a press conference. In his suite at the Mayflower he faced 20 or more correspondents, men representing newspapers in all parts of the country. And for an hour he answered their questions concerning Tammany's attitude in the coming battle over the Democratic presidential nomination.

Decision Due at Parley.

He made it clear that neither Franklin D. Roosevelt nor Alfred E. Smith, the two New Yorkers in the field, could definitely count on the support of the New York delegation at this time.

The question of whom the 94 delegates will support, Curry said, will be decided in Chicago next June, just before the national convention starts.

"We will hold a caucus then and decide that question," Curry said.

He was informed that Gov. Roosevelt had lined up 12 more delegates in Maine, sending his total of delegates to 123. That information, however, did not seem to excite Curry.

Significant Remark.

"New York had the national convention in 1924," he said, "and it had a nominee in 1928. New York doesn't want to hog everything."

This remark precipitated a flurry of questions.

Did this mean, he was asked, that Tammany did not favor either Roosevelt or Smith? Did it mean that Tammany wanted the nomination to go to some candidate outside of New York?

"No," Curry said, "that would not be a fair interpretation."

In New York, he said, there is sentiment for all the men who have been mentioned for the nomination, including Speaker John N. Garner. Right now, he said, Tammany is neutral.

Curry said that Tammany was sufficiently powerful to decree what the New York delegation would do in Chicago.

When the Democratic State conven-

Two Killed, 30 Injured In Blast at Film Studio

Zagreb, Jugoslavia, March 30 (A.P.). Two persons were burned to death and it was feared that many others lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the studios of the Star Film Co. after a terrific explosion last night.

Thirty persons were taken to hospitals, seventeen of them in critical condition, and the authorities were afraid many others had been buried in the ruins. The cause of the explosion had not been determined this morning as firemen combed the debris for other victims.

Steamship Lines Slash Fare 10 to 50 Per Cent

Leviathan, Bremen, Europa and Other Vessels Come Under Drastic Cut, as Bookings Fail to Reach Expected Total.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Reductions in transatlantic passenger fares ranging from 10 to 50 per cent and abolition of the usual summer increase were announced today by virtually all of the major steamship lines, both foreign and domestic. The cuts brought the rates to the lowest point since 1914.

While the decreases vary in accordance with the class of passage and the grading of the ships, officials agreed the new schedules would show virtually a uniform reduction by all lines.

The new fares apply to such stately vessels as the Leviathan, the Aquitania, Olympic, Belgenland, Homeric, Bremen, Europa, President Harding and President Roosevelt.

The reductions are greatest in first class accommodations, scaling down to 10 per cent in third class rates.

With some lines, including the United States, Hamburg-American, and Cunard, the new schedules are effective immediately. With others, such as the White Star, Red Star and North German Lloyd, they will go into effect on April 4.

J. S. Mahool, passenger traffic manager of the White Star Lines, said the reductions were made "in keeping with the trend to reduce prices that is prevalent throughout the country." British agencies credited American lines with initiating the cuts; all lines said they hoped the lower fares would lead to increased bookings for sum-

CAPITAL AIR LINES' MERGER IS SOUGHT

Officials of Ludington and Eastern Air Confer on Consolidation.

Officials of two of the largest and most important air transportation companies in the country, the Ludington Air Lines and Eastern Air Transport, both serving Washington, have been in conference for the past several weeks considering a consolidation of the two systems which it is believed will be effected within the near future.

Although no definite announcement has been made by officers of the two organizations it has been learned that they are giving serious consideration to the move which would bring together the Ludington interests of Philadelphia, operators of the famous "Every Hour on the Hour" passenger service between Washington and New York, and Eastern Air Transport, an operating subsidiary of North American Aviation and present contractors of Government air mail between New York and Miami, Fla.

Information that the companies are considering the move comes on the heels of a House inquiry into the air mail completed this month and just before a Senate committee headed by Senator Oddie (Republican), Nevada, will undertake a similar investigation.

The proposed move is of outstanding importance to the aviation industry, as it makes the second time

15 in Colombia Die In Political Rioting

Many Reported Injured as Factions Clash; Troops Are Sent.

Bogota, Colombia, March 30 (U.P.). Fifteen persons were killed in political rioting at Guaca, in the Province of Garciarovira, the Bucaramanga correspondent of the newspaper Espectador reported tonight.

Liberal and conservative political factions engaged in the fighting, in which many were wounded.

Meager reports, due to disrupted communications, said 30 houses were burned. Troops were sent to the scene to restore order.

KentuckyDeputy Named In Coal Field Slaying

Harlan, Ky., March 30 (A.P.).—The first deputy sheriff indicted in connection with labor killings in the southeastern Kentucky coal fields was named in two true bills returned today by the Harlan County grand jury.

In its list of eighteen indictments, the grand jury returned two true bills against Deputy Sheriff Lee Fleenor, 25, in connection with the fatal shooting last fall of Julius Baldwin, 30, and Charles Moore, 30, striking miners, at a soup kitchen of the National Miners Union near Harlan. Fleenor contended at the time of the shooting he was fired on when he stopped to serve warrants on two men.

Three Go Blind and Die From Poison Alcohol

Cleveland, Ohio, March 30 (A.P.).—Poisonous alcohol consumed at a Chagrin Falls drinking party Saturday night had proved fatal to three men today. The victims, all of whom went blind before they died, are: Herman Hill, 61; Willhart Lane, 30, and Alex Algren, 51.

Lane died today after telling Marshal Alvin J. Smith, of Chagrin Falls, that he purchased two quarts of wood alcohol for 50 cents a quart. "I knew it would kill me, but I wanted a drink," he told the marshal.

AMERICANS IN PARIS SEEK U.S. TRADE AID

Resolution Adopted Urging Hoover to Act in French Imports Limiting.

Paris, March 30 (A.P.).—The American Chamber of Commerce sought today to enlist the intervention of President Hoover against the French quota system of restricting American imports.

An appeal for action "to obtain relief for American trade" from the French system, which some members said is ruining business, was adopted by the chamber.

Harold Smith, representative in Europe of Will Hays, head of the American motion picture industry, said American business men were thoroughly aroused.

"The chamber unanimously adopted a resolution requesting Ambassador Edge to invite the attention of the American Government and President Hoover to the situation created by the quota policy of the French government," Mr. Smith said, "and to indicate to Mr. Hoover the urgent necessity of taking action deemed proper to obtain relief for American trade."

The resolution would be presented to Ambassador Walter E. Edge within the next two days for transmission to Washington, Mr. Smith said. It was adopted in one of the largest sessions of the chamber of commerce in years.

The appeal was described as a last

Feeling Runs High After Raid Killing

Victim, on Deathbed, Accuses Dry Agent of Firing Fatal Shot.

Kingman, Ariz., March 30 (A.P.).—Feeling ran high in Kingman today as officials prepared to hold an inquest into the death of Andrew L. Carnley, killed in a raid by Federal prohibition enforcement agents in the Bill Williams River country.

Carnley died yesterday, accusing Prohibition Enforcement Agent Louis M. Taylor of having fired the fatal shot.

Taylor and brother officers asserted they resorted to gunplay in self-defense. The Mohave County Service Men's Club protested with Sheriff Ernest Graham against the use of "fake warrants to promote liquor raids" in the county.

Man Who Stole to Aid Another Is Pardoned

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 30 (A.P.). Gov. A. H. Clark has arranged for the release from the Albany County Jail of Oscar Johnson, a lumberman, who stood trial on a charge of stealing gasoline to befriend a man whose family was without support. Johnson was sentenced and fined.

Sheriff Eugene Smith and H. J. Hunt, district judge of Laramie, recommended Johnson's release, and Gov. Clark was assured by the attorney general he had the power to grant the pardon.

4 Months Without Pay Faced by Tennesseans

Nashville, Tenn., March 30 (A.P.).—Four months without a pay day were forecast for Tennessee's governmental employes today by Comptroller Roy Wallace.

He said the rate at which revenue is forthcoming gave no promise of paying salaries until August 1. Meanwhile, he and the State treasurer must raise $850,000 by June 21 to pay interest on the State's indebtedness. Despite the straits, he contemplates payment of Confederate pensions.

BURRAGE 'SURE' HE DEALS WITH KIDNAPING GANG

Negotiators' Spokesman Says He Would Not Serve Otherwise.

ADMIRAL RETICENT ON TASK'S PROGRESS

States, However, No Contact Made With "Go-Between" Since Last Sunday.

Norfolk, Va., March 30 (A.P.).—Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, said tonight that he would not be serving as a negotiator for the return of the infant son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh unless he was "satisfied" that he and his associates are dealing with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby.

"I wouldn't have gone into the case," Admiral Burrage said, "and I wouldn't be in now unless I was satisfied that we were dealing with the abductors of the Lindbergh baby."

Admiral Burrage, speaking for himself and the Very Rev. Dean H. Dobson-Peacock and John Hughes Curtis, the other negotiators, told a conference of newspapermen that he could not give an approximation of the time that would be required to bring the negotiations to a successful conclusion.

He stated that Mr. Curtis had not made any contact with a "go-between" for the kidnapers since Sunday, the day Mr. Curtis returned from a 36-hour trip in connection with the negotiations.

Ransom Payment Not Arranged.

Asked if any arrangements had been made with Col. Lindbergh for the payment of a ransom, Admiral Burrage replied:

"No."

Asked if Mr. Curtis made a trip to Philadelphia on Saturday, (the day he was away from Norfolk), Admiral Burrage said: "I can not tell you."

Mr. Curtis today refused to answer the same question. He said the plane in which he left Norfolk landed in Philadelphia, but declined to say whether he was in it at that time.

Nor would he say if on the same trip he had conferred with Col. Lindbergh or his representative at Hopewell or nearby.

A set of written questions was submitted to Admiral Burrage to answer at the conference tonight. The questions and answers follow:

Q. Do the three negotiators feel that publicity is in any way hampering their efforts? If so, will you please give us definite instructions to guide newspaper representatives in their contacts with you?

Cornell President Asks 18thAmendment Repeal

Ithaca, N. Y., March 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Livingston Farrand, president of Cornell University, today placed himself on record as an advocate of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"In my judgment," said Dr. Ferrand, "there has been no social experiment in our later American history which has proven so disastrous a failure as has the eighteenth amendment. I am not discussing the misguided judgment, often sincere, which led to its adoption."

TAX AMENDMENTS PASSED BY HOUSE ADD $293,500,000

Estimated Revenue on Bill Advanced to $743,500,000; Postage Rate Is Increased to 3 Cents.

BATTLE IS EXPECTED TODAY OVER LEVY ON STOCK SALES

Garner Again Takes Floor and Urges Members to Consent to Test Out Penalty on Consolidated Returns.

By J. B. McDONNELL.

With every indication that it would continue to do so, the House yesterday voted its approval of ways and means committee substitute taxes for the manufacturers' sale tax, against which it rose in rebellion last week.

Committed by overwhelming majority to the policy of balancing the budget in the next fiscal year, the House gave short shift to any evidence of further rebellion. Proposal of a committee amendment designed to help replace the $595,000,000 lost by defeat of the sales tax became tantamount to adoption.

At the end of the day the House had voted into the bill special taxes which were estimated to bring into the Federal Treasury something like $293,500,000. These, added to those already in the bill, brought the estimated revenue production of the bill to $743,500,000 when adjournment was taken.

An increase in first-class postage rates, from 2 to 3 cents, was voted after a futile battle by opponents. The increase was estimated to mean $135,000,000 in revenue. The vote by which it was approved was 147 to 63.

Stock Deal Tax Fight.

Another battle was begun late in the afternoon on the proposal by the committee to tax stock exchange transactions. The committee proposed to levy a tax of one-quarter of 1 per cent on the selling price of all stocks traded on the exchanges of the country, with a minimum tax of 4 cents a share. The Treasury Department estimated this would produce from $65,000,000 to $70,000,000.

Representative Fiorella H. LaGuardia (Republican), of New York, who has fought the stock exchange tax to acceptance by the ways and means committee, estimated that it would produce $150,000,000 or more. A return to normal times and exchange trading, he said, would result in its production of so much revenue that it would eliminate necessity for the many "nuisance" taxes forced into the bill.

The battle over the stock exchange tax is to be settled soon after the House convenes at noon today. It is expected to be adopted, despite the protests of Tammany members who said that it was an exhorbitant and unfair tax and would tend to transfer transactions from the United States to Canada.

There were several flare-ups in the course of consideration of the bill yesterday, but they were of minor importance. The House had had its fling of rebellion and continued in its mood to follow recommendations of the leaders.

Garner Again Succeeds.

Speaker John N. Garner, the white-haired, bushy eyebrowed Texan, took the floor again to keep the docile House docile, and he succeeded without much difficulty.

Representative Clarence Cannon (Democrat), of Missouri, proposed an amendment to forbid consolidated tax returns being filed by large holding companies. Proponents of the amendment said it permitted large organizations, operating smaller units, to balance the losses of one unit against the profits of another and thereby achieve a tax advantage not possible to their smaller, single-unit competitors.

The ways and means committee amendment permitted consolidated tax returns but imposed a higher tax, by one and one-half per cent, on consolidated returns. The consolidated rate was put by the committee at 18

MUNICIPAL CENTER MUST WAIT YEARS

Postponement Revealed by Donovan; Forced by Lack of Funds.

Actual construction work on the District's new $22,000,000 municipal center will not get under way for several years, it was disclosed yesterday in published hearings of the House District appropriations subcommittee.

"We are not in a position to go ahead with construction because current revenues of the District are not sufficient to carry on this project and at the same time make adequate provision for the other activities and needs of the District," Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, told the subcommittee.

"It does not seem possible, from the present outlook, to go on with any actual construction work for several years, anyhow."

He attributed this development, first, to the failure of the Treasury Department to turn over to the District $5,000,000 for the present District Building and, second, to the exhaustion of the District's surplus account by next June 30. He said the $6,000,000 already used to purchase land for the center was drawn from surplus District revenues.

The 1933 budget provided $900,000 for completing purchase of site,

St. Louis-to-Detroit Mark Set by Doolittle

Detroit, March 30 (A.P.).—Maj. Jimmy Doolittle set a new unofficial St. Louis-Detroit flying record today, landing at the municipal airport at 2:15 p. m., Eastern standard time, after a flight of 1 hour and 55 minutes from St. Louis.

Doolittle, flying a racing plane for exhibition in the national aircraft show which opens here Saturday, said the previous St. Louis-Detroit time was a little over two hours.

Police Vigil for Davidson Blackmailers Proves Futile

Although detectives kept patient vigil, the author of telephoned threats to the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Porter Davidson, Capital society folk, failed to make an appearance at the spot designated for receipt of the extortion money.

The time—between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon—found headquarters sleuths stationed strategically near all stores in the neighborhood. The "grocery store at Nineteenth and Florida avenue northwest" had been named as the rendezvous. There is no store of any type at that corner, but all stores within several blocks came under the scrutiny of the detectives.

Mrs. Davidson, who had been instructed to appear with $2,000 at the store, decided not to put in an appearance, and Inspector Frank S. W. Burke had agreed that this was the wisest plan.

No new threats have been received by any of the nearly a score of prominent persons who have recently been the subject of demands, police officials said yesterday.

Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, yesterday interviewed a number of those who have received the telephonic and written warnings. The police head was accompanied by his stenographer and was closeted for short periods with practically all of those who have received threats.

Late yesterday afternoon, Gen. Glassford said that the police were practically without tangible clues to the identity of the threat perpetrators. He declined to reveal what new information he may have gained during his inteviews with the recipients of the warnings.

Mother's Appeal and Clew Spur Search for Arias Boy

Wealthy Importer's Son Now Believed to Be en Route for New York or Norfolk; Disappeared Tuesday From Capital Home.

A prostrated mother's appeal for the safe return of her son, coupled with information that he is en route either to New York or Norfolk, Va., last night spurred authorities in their search for Jose Arias, 15 years old, who on last Tuesday packed a small handbag, tucked his .22-caliber rifle under one arm and disappeared from his home in Meridian Mansions, 2400 Sixteenth street northwest.

The boy's mother, Senora de Arias, wife of Antonio Arias, wealthy sugar importer and president of the Oriental Cuban Sugar Corporation, last night made a grief-stricken plea to The Washington Post to aid her in communicating with her missing son.

The appeal was brief. Coming from a mother's broken heart, it pleaded:

"Jose, come home or get in touch with us. We want you and need you."

Meanwhile, it was learned, the boy wrote a note to a companion, Jimmy Phillips, just before he disappeared. It declared that he had given up plans of going to Richmond, Va., as they had discussed, and had decided to make his way to Cape May, N. J.

The youth's family, however, discredit this angle. They are of the opinion that he is on his way either to New York or Norfolk, Va. Police along highways leading to these two points have been asked to look out for anyone answering Jose's description.

The note hinted that he was failing in his studies at the Friends School and had decided the best thing to do was to get out and shift for himself. He said he would return home only after finding a suitable career.

"I will go away and do something

GLASS CLAIMS BILL OPPOSED BY "PLOT"

Says Witnesses Instructed; To Ask Investigation by Senate.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Glass announced yesterday he would seek a senatorial investigation of what he described as a "conspiracy" of "stimulated propaganda" against the banking revision bill, which bears his name.

As the banking committee concluded a week of hearings in the course of which a score of bankers opposed the measure in whole or in part, the Virginia Democrat told newspapermen:

"Two men here in Washington organized the whole opposition, sent out wires and letters to these people and tutored them after they got them here.

"I think we will develop that whole conspiracy in the next few days. We will develop it in a formal way, perhaps with use of the subpena power."

Says Witness Instructed.

He said one witness had told him yesterday that after he came to Washington he was "called up on the telephone and told to oppose bitterly every section of the bill."

Glass made a similar charge earlier in the day in the hearings on the measure which is designed to keep Federal Reserve funds out of stock market speculation with a view to averting a repetition of the 1929 crash.

James Francis Burke, general counsel of the Pittsburgh Clearing House and attorney for the Republican national committee, was on the stand when Glass said sharply that those who have opposed the measure "were brought here and organized" to protest.

Hits "Stimulated Propaganda."

"And I think you were, too," he added, remarking that little importance should be attached to "stimulated propaganda."

Burke replied that the appearance of the bankers before the committee was "voluntary" and that they "have a right to come here."

He opposed the measure as "unwise and unnecessary" and calculated to nullify the benefits of recent Federal reconstruction measures by contracting credit.

A Democratic senator—Barkley, of Kentucky—asked him whether he protested in his capacity of attorney for the Republican national committee. Burke replied in the negative, saying he was speaking for the Pittsburgh Clearing House.

The record of testimony which the committee will have before it as it takes up the bill in executive session includes several amendments proposed by the Federal Reserve Board.

Backs Some Amendments.

Senator Glass told newspapermen that some of these confer even broader regulatory powers on the Federal Reserve Board than his measure.

In reply to a question he said he thought some of the amendments could be included with profit.

Among the witnesses opposing features of the bill yesterday were Howard Brucen, chairman of the Baltimore Trust Co.; George F. Rand, president of the Marine Trust Co., of Buffalo, N. Y.; Roy M. Hanes, president of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.; Fred I. Kent, a director of the Bankers Trust Co., of New York, and P. D. Houston, chairman of the board of the American National Bank, Nashville, Tenn. Their testimony in general was that enactment of the measure under present conditions would increase deflation, restrict credit and delay recovery.

Mapes Tax Hearings To Resume Tuesday

Hearing on the Mapes tax program will be resumed by the Senate District committee next Tuesday afternoon, with the proposed 2-cent increase in the local gasoline levy up for discussion, Chairman Arthur Capper announced yesterday.

Hearings on the estate tax bill are complete, with the exception of a requested report from the District Commissioners. Friday, April 8, the committee plans to go on to consideration of the proposed automobile weight tax. A bill to regulate local employment agencies will be considered by the committee tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Quakers Give Help In Soft-Coal Field

35,000 Children Are Being Fed, Report to President Hoover Discloses.

(Associated Press.)

Members of the American Friends service committee, Philadelphia Quaker organization, said yesterday they had informed President Hoover that more than 35,000 children and 749 nursing or expectant mothers are being fed in the bituminous coal fields.

The Quaker group, to which President Hoover recently contributed $2,500, said they had told the Chief Executive approximately 1,300,000 meals had been served to undernourished school children of miners in the coal fields of six States.

Clarence Pickett said the outlook in the coal fields was "not a cheerful one." In addition to feeding the undernourished, Pickett said, the organization has sent 18,000 pairs of shoes into this section, provided many communities with cobbler shops, organized 50 sewing groups to make clothes sent down in unsewed form from Philadelphia, and a number of canning groups to preserve fruit contributed to the unemployed.

Optical Make-Up Looms As a Real Aid to Budget

By JOHN J. DALY

Ah, but she is merely the king's daughter.

For splendor to shame the sartorial glory of the king's daughter, be her clothing of wrought gold or beaten silver, cast your eyes now to the mid-western portion of the grand old United States.

There the business of making milady beautiful goes on, the experts in session on the banks of Lake Michigan. This season the designers of feminine fashion decree that more ingenuity must be exercised in dressing "the windows of the soul"—in plain prose, the eyes.

When the vote is cast, it shall be said by the stylists that the eyes have "it."

OPTICAL make-up, such as Solomon's wives dreamed of but never realized, or the Sybarites—lovers of luxury—longed for but never attained, now occupies the attention of the cosmeticians. They, working in harmony with the dressmakers and the modistes, will see to it that fashion flashes forth in regal splendor. Eyelashes to match the gown is the order. This is what the world of womanhood is coming to—green tinted lashes when wearing green frocks and, marvel of marvels, bronze flecked with gold for evening gowns of gossamer, on a goddess, on a gorgeous night in spring.

The congressional chorugus concerns itself with taxes and the superhuman task of balancing the budget, a feat that may even throw the Nation off the gold standard—if gold still has a standard; but milady, should fashion so dictate, would have diamond-dust sprinkled on her brow though it send all the males speeding to South Africa, there to raid the diamond mines.

* * * *

THERE is nothing stylish but style, as there is nothing immortal but immortality.

Nothing will be balanced that cannot be balanced, including the budget—if it can be budged. So, no soul need bother much about the window-dressing unless, like the king's daughter, all is glorious within; though clothing be of wrought gold.

Of course, what a cosmetician can not do is yet to be seen—which is one reason why the Government hopes to get a huge tax return from cosmetics—beauty balancing the budget.

PAY CUTS "SLEEP" IN ECONOMY GROUP

Committee Considers Broader Phases of Federal Reorganization.

The threatened Federal pay cut bill was "sleeping" yesterday in the House economy committee, which passed on to consideration of the broader phases of governmental reorganization for which it was created.

Salary reductions were not touched on at a late afternoon session of the group, which by tacit agreement has decided to turn out a number of reorganization bills before reviving the controversial pay issue.

Federation of Labor representatives yesterday continued their canvass, seeking to pledge a majority of members to oppose any reduction reported out by the committee. Last night they said they had a majority.

Further, they interpreted apparent decision of Congress to balance the budget through the revenue bill as rendering cuts unnecessary.

Senate and House agricultural appropriations bill conferees will meet at 10 o'clock this morning to work out differences between the two bodies on this the first of the supply measures. Pay increases, promotions and filling of vacancies, banned by the House but not by the Senate, will be the knottiest problem debated. Senate conferees said they will hold out against the House provisions.

Germans and Poles Sign Customs Pact

U. S. Hears 1931 Status of Important Items Is Confirmed.

(Associated Press.)

Germany and Poland were reported yesterday by the Commerce Department to have signed a customs agreement which confirms the customs status of 1931 preventing either from applying maximum duties on important German-Polish trade items.

John N. Willys, Minister to Poland, cabled the department that Germany is granted contingents by Poland on goods prohibited under import restrictions established last December.

Poland also will restrict her maximum custom rates in regard to Germany, not applying them to goods which were prohibited during their customs war. Germany agrees to restrict the use of her maximum tariff and will not apply the highest rates to a number of Polish products.

ROOSEVELT IS FIRST IN BOSTON DRAWING

Slate Wins Top Place on Massachusetts Ballot; Smith Is Second.

Boston, March 30 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today gained an advantage over Alfred E. Smith in the campaign for Massachusetts delegates to the Democratic national convention when his slate drew top place on the ballot to be used in the primary April 26.

The name of Mayor James M. Curley, Roosevelt spokesman here, will hold the uppermost place on the ballot as a consequence of the draw which was conducted by Secretary of State Frederic W. Cook. Alongside the Roosevelt at-large slate will appear the at-large alternate group with the Smith slates being placed lower down on the ballot.

Much importance was placed on the draw by political leaders, and Mayor Curley, jubilant by the good fortune, predicted it would mean an advantage of at least 25,000 votes in a poll of 400,000 votes which he expects will be cast.

Third position on the at-large part of the ballot went to Representative Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware, Independent Democrat, favorable to Smith, with Roosevelt as second choice. The ballot law commission today refused to allow Mr. Sawyer to have the designation "Independent Smith delegate" beside his name.

The Roosevelt luck continued in the draw for district delegate places when first place was gained in eight of the fifteen districts.

The problem presented by the Republican candidates was easy, as compared with that of the Democrats. There was no contest for the delegate-at-large places, as all candidates for which are pledged to President Hoover.

Senate Group Approves Geneva Narcotics Pact

(Associated Press.)

The Senate foreign relations committee yesterday approved the Geneva convention regulating the distribution and limiting the manufacture of narcotic drugs.

CABINET MEMBERS ATTACK BUDGET CUT

Aver Appropriations Have Already Been Reduced to Minimum.

(Associated Press.)

Emphatic protests have been filed with the Senate appropriations committee by members of the Cabinet against the 10 per cent cut ordered by the Senate in the funds for their departments.

The Cabinet officers have asserted their appropriations were already cut to a minimum and that to reduce them further would seriously impair the work delegated to their branches of the Government by law.

The Senate has ordered a 10 per cent slash in the $124,000,000 supply bill for the State, Justice, Commerce and Labor Departments and a $12,000,000 cut in the $57,000,000 Interior Department bill.

In view of these orders, Chairman Jones of the appropriations committee has decided to make similar reductions in the Treasury-Postoffice bill now pending before his committee.

In order to make the cuts as wisely as possible, Jones wrote to the department heads asking them for suggestions where the reductions could be made with the least objection.

He said yesterday all but two of them have replied, and they have all said substantially the same thing, that the cuts can not be made without materially impairing the functions of their departments.

Philippine Groups Threaten Boycott

President Relays Message to Senate Without Comment.

(Associated Press.)

A message from Philippine groups demanding independence, and threatening a boycott against "American imperialists, goods and business," was sent to the Senate yesterday by President Hoover.

The Chief Executive relayed the message without comment. It was addressed to him by Jose Nava, chairman of the Philippine Civic Union and the island federation of labor.

Nava's message said that a popular assembly under the auspices of the Union Civica Filipina and Federacion Odrera "unanimously demands from the American Congress through you immediate independence with all its consequences," adding: "Otherwise we will boycott American imperialists, goods and business."

RAIL LOANS CALLED TREASURY MENACE

Couzens Says They May Result in Government Ownership.

(Associated Press.)

An enormous loss to the Treasury or Government ownership of railroads was predicted by Senator Couzens yesterday as the eventual result of the Reconstruction Corporation's policy on loans to the carriers.

Vigorously criticizing the recent $12,800,000 advance to the Missouri-Pacific, approved "with some reluctance" by the Interstate Commerce Commission, Couzens remarked that half the loan was to meet taxes and operating expenses. On the other hand, he said, the intent of Congress was that loans to the railroads be for refinancing purposes or for meeting maturities.

"Collateral Overvalued."

Couzens, who is chairman of the Senate interstate commerce committee, said that the securities offered as collateral by the Missouri-Pacific for its $12,800,000 loan had a market value of only $12,450,000. He said the Reconstruction Corporation adopted a resolution approving the loan before asking the consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"I have no knowledge of Congress having declared a policy of Government ownership of the railroads," he said, "and yet the loan to the Missouri Pacific and others that have been approved, and others still pending, clearly indicate to me that if loans are continued in the same manner as they have been in the past, and those pending are approved, many of these properties will eventually revert to the Government or the Government will lose its investment. The Government will at least find itself in possession of the least desirable and least profitable railroads."

He estimated that applications for railroad loans before the Reconstruction Corporation total $354,000,000. He said that of this total, $72,000,000 was in behalf of the Van Sweringen Lines.

"There is also listed among the applicants," he added, "a number of railroads who are already in default to the Government for loans made under the transportation act of 1920."

Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, who is preparing to speak on this subject, complained the other day that half of the loan was to "bail out" New York banks which had refused to extend in full their loans to the railroad.

Home Loan Bank Bill Is Indorsed by Dawes

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover's home loan bank bill was indorsed yesterday by Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes, president of the Reconstruction Corporation, in a closed session of a House committee.

Representative Reilly (Democrat), Wisconsin, chairman, said Dawes testified his huge corporation was not in a position to give building and loan associations the financial assistance they need.

Earle's First Wife Asks Back Alimony

Nature of Suit Filed by Washington Woman Is Revealed.

Mount Holly, N. J., March 30 (A.P.).—An alimony suit filed last week against Binney Woodward Earle by his first wife was disclosed today to be a contempt of court proceeding based on his alleged failure to pay back alimony amounting to $2,700.

Earle, member of a wealthy and socially prominent family of Edgewater Park, N. J., and Palm Beach, was in the news four years ago when he and a friend, Emil Reinbold, married each other's wives after divorces. The new line-up was disrupted by a double divorce at Tampa, Fla., last year, and Earle subsequently remarried the former Maybelle Stillson, who had been his second wife.

The alimony suit was filed by Mrs. Irma Leigh Earle Taylor, of Washington, D. C., formerly of Burlington, N. J. The alimony order was made at the time of their divorce in November, 1911, and provided for payments of $10 a week. Mrs. Taylor said he failed to make any payments since November 30, 1927.

Gotwals Returns; Ill for 9 Months

District Engineer Commissioner to Resume Work in Afternoons.

After an absence of more than nine months on account of illness, Maj. John C. Gotwals, District Engineer Commissioner, was back at his desk yesterday afternoon. Officials of the District government, including his two colleagues, greeted him.

Declaring that he felt considerably better, and that his physician had advised him to go back to work, Maj. Gotwals said that he intended to resume his duties gradually. For a while he will come to the District building only in the afternoons.

Maj. Gotwals has been before the Army retiring board for an examination, but the decision of the board has not been announced. The Engineer Commissioner yesterday diagnosed his illness as neuritis.

BONUS FRIENDS AIM TO OVERRIDE VETO

Rankin Declares Hoover's Opposition Statement Was Anticipated.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Rankin (Democrat), of Mississippi, said in a statement yesterday that advocates of full payment of the soldiers' bonus expect to pass it over President Hoover's veto.

"President Hoover's advance veto of the bill for the payment of the balance of the soldiers' adjusted service certificates came as no surprise to those of us who are familiar with the Hoover mind," he said.

"We knew it would never get the approval of his billion dollar Cabinet. We knew the international bankers were opposed to it.

"We knew that those individuals of vast wealth, who reaped enormous fortunes from the World War, were opposed to it. We knew that men who have placed their wealth in tax-exempt securities, thereby escaping taxation, oppose it.

"Why?

"Because this bill provides for an inflation or expansion of the currency to the extent of about $2,000,000,000 and would not increase the value of their holdings, but would increase wages and put men to work who are now in bread lines. * * *

"Even if we should balance the budget this year, unless we inflate the currency and restore commodity values, we will have a deficit next year, and the next, and so on."

In a telegram to President Hoover, Harold D. DeCoe, commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, yesterday expressed the support of the organization for cash payment of veterans' adjusted compensation certificates.

DeCoe's telegram from Kansas City, which was made public here by the organization, said "our contentions are supported by the rank and file of all veterans irrespective of organization or affiliation."

He asserted payment of the certificates would benefit economic conditions generally.

Thomas Holds Aid To Farms Slighted

Senator Asks Congress to Seek Agreement on Relief Method.

(Associated Press.)

Senator Thomas (Democrat), of Oklahoma, told the Senate yesterday that Secretary Hyde is not in sympathy with the law under which he is required to administer loans to the farmers. He read to the Senate Hyde's statement characterizing his department as "the prize boob" for lending money to farmers with "thinner security" than ever before in history.

Hyde's statement referred to loans being made by his department from the $50,000,000 fund created in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act. Thomas criticized Congress for failing to help the farmer and introduced a resolution to authorize the agriculture committee to hold hearings for the purpose of getting an agreement among farm leaders for a relief plan.

"Here we are discussing matters that might be postponed," Thomas said, "and doing nothing to help conditions." He said economic conditions were getting worse, rather than improving.

Farm Prices Advance First Time Since Fall

(Associated Press.)

Farm prices advanced last month for the first time since October.

The index of the general level on March 15 was 61 per cent of the 1910-1914 average—one point above the February figure. The index for grains was 51 per cent, the same as a month ago. Slight advances in wheat, barley and rye were offset by a decline in corn prices. Meat animals advanced four points, to 69 per cent of prewar.

Lewis Urges Equal Rights For Women in World Court

BY HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

That fine flower of Illinois chivalry, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Democrat, tossed a garlanded monkey wrench into the machinery of the World Court yesterday in the form of still another reservation to American adherence to the court. The gallant pink-whiskered Galahad from Chicago rose in the Senate foreign relations committee to demand that the United States specify that the code of international law to be used at The Hague tribunal be purged of any inequalities based on sex.

The reservation is part of the campaign waged by the National Woman's Party to protect not only the rights of women in the United States but in all other countries signatory to the World Court convention.

The foreign relations committee was asked to consider the resolution by Senator Robert La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, immediately, but as Senator Thomas Walsh (Democrat), Montana, objected the motion was put over until next Wednesday. By that time Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson will be able to appear before the committee and consideration of the reservation will be held then.

Stimson Still Ill.

Secretary Stimson is still confined to his home at Woodley with a severe attack of grippe, which has settled in his knee. He expects to be well enough to leave his home by the end of the week.

The League of Nations, it became known yesterday, has been quietly canvassing the other nations present at the conference on codification of international law in 1930 to urge their adoption of the convention drawn up at that conference. The United States dissented because of the provisions of the convention with regard to nationality.

Members of the feminist organization declared yesterday that this convention discriminates against women in their nationality rights. They have endeavored through the league assembly last September and through the league council in its present session to secure reconsideration of this convention, which is to form the first chapter of the code of law to be applied by the World Court.

Their efforts have met with the resolute opposition of league officials. Instead of abandoning the convention which was rejected by the American delegation to the conference, the league now seems determined to secure the ratification of this new code to be applied by the World Court.

The reservation which the feminist group wish to see embodied in the code is the following:

"That the United States adhere to the court with the following reservation: Providing that the code of law to be administered by the World Court shall not contain inequalities based on sex."

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, president of the group, cabled a lengthy telegram from her home in Paris to Senator Hiram Johnson (Republican), of California, urging the adoption of the reservation by the foreign relations committee. Other dispatches were received from Mrs. Edith Houghton Hooker, of Baltimore, editor of Equal Rights; Mrs. Olive Stott Gabriel, of New York, president of the National Association of Women Lawyers; Mrs. Stephen Pell, Mrs. Elizabeth Selden Rogers and Mrs. Ruth Vander Litt, all prominent feminist leaders.

Greece Must Pay Cash on U. S. Grain

Credit Will Be Denied if Deal, Now in Doubt, Is Completed.

(Associated Press.)

If the Grecian government wants to buy 7,000,000 bushels of wheat from the Farm Board, it will have to pay cash. Indications that such a deal is imminent found no strong foundation in Washington. At the Farm Board the only comment was: "Cash, no credit."

The Greek ministry said it has not presented an offer to the board since last December. At that time 1,000,000 bushels figured in the discussions.

Greece Tuesday announced new decrees, placing an embargo on Canadian, Argentine and Australian wheat imports. This was taken as a preliminary to possible reopening of negotiations with the board.

PACT IDEA DOUBTED IN DOUBLE SUICIDE

Nurse Follows Johns Hopkins Instructor in Death at Baltimore.

Baltimore, March 30 (A.P.).—A strange combination of despondency on one hand and sudden shock on the other was blamed today by police for the double suicide of Frederick B. Jennings, jr., research scientist, and his assistant and nurse, Mona O. Rittenhouse.

Jennings, who had been in ill health for months, last night took a lethal dose of one of the most deadly poisons known, and as soon as he was pronounced dead, Miss Rittenhouse snatched the bottle containing it and drained it, dying almost instantly.

The scientist, who was a volunteer in research at the Johns Hopkins Medical School department of pathology and an instructor in the same branch, was a member of a prominent New York and Vermont family, and received an income of nearly $50,000 a year from a trust fund, documents found in his effects showed.

He recently had returned from Saranac Lake, N. Y., where he had gone for treatment of tuberculosis, and had been aided in his research work and cared for during the last few weeks by Miss Rittenhouse.

Coroner John J. Morrissey, who investigated the deaths and gave a verdict of double suicide, said he could find no evidence of a preconceived pact on double destruction. He said that letters found in Jennings' seven-room suite at an exclusive apartment house where the suicides took place, cast no light on the case.

Jennings' body was sent to Bennington, Vt., late today in charge of an undertaker's assistant. Police said relatives of the girl had communicated with them and said some one would arrive here later to take charge of her body. She was a native of Canada, and was graduated from a Buffalo training school in 1928. Since then she had lived in Albany, N. Y., and in the West before coming to Baltimore.

Jennings was separated from his wife, daughter of a prominent Grand Rapids, Mich., family. Neither his wife nor members of her family could give any reason for the suicide, but said Jennings was "of a despondent disposition."

BRITON SAYS DOLLAR SURVIVAL IS CERTAIN

Declares Gold Standard Will Stay as 4-Power Danube Parley Hope Fades.

London, March 30 (A.P.).—Confidence in the American financial situation was expressed today by one of the highest financial authorities in Great Britain while prospects for a four-power conference here to discuss economic relief of the Danubian countries of southeastern Europe faded.

The financial authority, who would not permit his name to be used, said it was inconceivable that the dollar should go off the gold standard. His comment was on press reports current the past few days of a "flight from the dollar."

"There are all sorts of risks in America, but there are no currency risks," he said. "I can conceive of bank robberies, kidnapings and gang murders, but not of a collapse of the dollar."

Although a conference on the Danubian situation, embracing delegates of Italy and Germany, as well as France and England, was likely to be delayed, Premier Andre Tardieu, of France, will come over from Paris for a meeting with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald on Monday.

The plight of the five Danubian countries—Austria, Hungary, Jugoslavia, Roumania and Czechoslovakia—is the chief subject for the conversations, but the whole range of European problems, including reparations and war debts, disarmament and tariffs, will be discussed.

The four-power conference probably will be held at Geneva some time in April.

Recovery Held Hinged On Confidence of U. S.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Until America regains confidence, the international economic situation "can not be righted," Sir Josiah Stamp, economic adviser to the British government, said today as he arrived aboard the Majestic.

With Lady Stamp, he is en route to Evanston, Ill., to attend the marriage of his son, Dr. T. C. Stamp, to Miss Frances Bosworth, a niece of Gen. Charles G. Dawes. While here they plan to visit Ottawa and will return April 15. He is a director of the Bank of England and managing director of the London, Midland & Scottish Railroad.

GENEVA PROGRESS TOLD TO STIMSON

Norman Davis, Delegate, Is Optimistic in Report on Arms Work.

By HAROLD P. T. HORAN.

Encouraging reports of the progress of the general disarmament conference at Geneva heartened the condition of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson yesterday. The bearer of the good tidings was Norman Davis, former Undersecretary of State, who is now a member of the American delegation at the conference and temporarily in this country on business.

Mr. Davis, accompanied by Assistant Secretary of State James Grafton Rogers, spent most of the morning with Secretary Stimson at Woodley reviewing the progress in the conference so far. Secretary Stimson has not yet decided when he will go to Geneva, or if he will go there at all. What will be done after the recess has been terminated will determine his presence at Geneva.

Mr. Davis was inclined to optimism in his informal report. He based his optimism on the spirit of cooperation shown by every delegation present and upon the favorable reception given the project of a Danubian Economic Federation. This entente now in the making would go far in removing the fear and distrust in middle Europe from economic uncertainty and general financial depression.

Second Conference.

Later in the day Mr. Davis held another conference at the State Department, where he dwelt upon the more technical aspects of the conference's labors. Those who were present at this meeting included the Undersecretary, William R. Castle, jr.; the Assistant Secretary, Mr. Rogers; the Chief of Staff, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and the Chief of Naval Operations, Admiral William V. Pratt. Admiral Pratt was a member of the American delegation at the London conference and has made a profound study of the problems of naval disarmament.

Little has been done so far in the conference toward a general study of any particular problem, it was made clear to the military leaders. Work has been progressing slowly in the various subcommittees where most of the spade work is accomplished, but a very hopeful spirit of general conciliation and willingness pervades the whole conference.

Great efforts are being made to persuade France and Italy to cooperate along the specific lines of naval disarmament agreed upon at the London conference. One of the most hopeful augurs for eventual success in this direction is the favorable report on the Danubian confederation, which has won the approval of France, Italy, England and Germany.

Four Points Listed.

The Danubian confederation, according to the most authoritative sources here, reposes on the following four points:

First—Austria, Hungary and Czechoslovakia shall form an economic union whose terms will later be decided on.

Second—Other States of the Danube, Roumania, Jugoslavia and perhaps Poland, will be invited to join at some later time.

Third—France has formally announced her willingness to aid in the flotation of a loan of $50,000,000 for the entire group, provided that American financiers and British and perhaps German financial authorities cooperate.

Fourth—Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany bind themselves to seek no particular advantage and to establish an economic open door policy in this Danubian territory, particularly with regard to customs tariffs. The Danubian agreement is contingent upon an understanding between the four countries mentioned, Great Britain, France, Italy and Germany.

MOTHER SPURS HUNT FOR RUNAWAY SON, 15

wonderful," the note read, "and then I will return and make them proud of me."

The boy left home shortly before noon Tuesday, telling his mother he was going to spend the night with a friend, Billy Schultz, in Chevy Chase, Md. Taking his rifle, he said he and Billy planned to hunt in nearby Maryland woods.

When Frank H. Schultz, Billy's father, called Senora Arias early yesterday to inform her that Jose had failed to appear, a hasty search of his room revealed a small box, containing $70 he had saved, was also missing.

Learning that Jose had always had a longing to fly in an airplane, police checked with local airports, but found that no youth of his description had booked passage on planes either Tuesday or yesterday.

Besides his mother, Jose lived with a brother, Antonio, and a sister, Margot, 19 years old. His father is in Cuba.

The boy is described as being about 5 feet 7 inches tall, weighing 130 pounds. He was dressed in a brown suit when last seen.

NEW SHARP FIGHTING REPORTED IN CHINA

Peace Conference Believed Likely to Fail; Japanese Officer Kills Self.

Shanghai, March 30 (A.P.).—Peace negotiations here approached a crisis tonight after a sharp skirmish between Japanese and Chinese forces at Chiawangmiao earlier in the day.

Chinese and Japanese military leaders still were far apart on truce terms. Chinese newspapers predicted that the conference would collapse. A Chinese spokesman said the parleys might reach a critical stage tomorrow, when they are to be resumed without definite recommendations for either side to be discussed.

A Japanese officer, meanwhile, sought to wipe out in traditional fashion—by suicide—what he considered the dishonor he had brought upon the army by allowing himself to be captured.

Maj Noboru Kuga was captured by the Chinese during the fighting around Kiangwan. Released today, he went back immediately to the scene of his capture and ended his life, leaving a note of explanation.

The Japanese said the Chinese were driven to the south side of Soochow Creek in the skirmish at Chiawangmiao. The Chinese had built defenses along the north side. The Japanese objected on the ground that the Chinese were overstepping the limits of an ultimatum served on them last month.

A military subcommittee of the peace conference which has been on here since the fighting was ordered stopped by the leaders of both sides nearly three weeks ago failed to agree on an armistice protocol.

Apprehension over the truce negotiations was marked in the Nantao native section, where the residents feared a collapse of the parleys might bring fighting in their area like that which devastated the Chapei quarter.

There was increased Japanese military activity in Nantao. Sandbag defenses along the boundary of the adjacent French concession were strengthened.

Changchun, Manchuria, March 30 (A.P.).—The new Manchurian government prepared today to take over all the customs offices to finance the regime of Dictator Henry Pu-Yi while it still sought to put down a threatening revolt in western Kirin Province.

The customs control, which will be assumed by the new government Friday, is expected to net about 20,000,000 Mexican dollars annually after deduction of foreign loan allocations to Shanghai.

Arkansas Senate Fixes Selection of Delegates

Little Rock, Ark., March 30 (A.P.).—Selection of Arkansas delegates to the Democratic national convention in a primary or in county and district conventions was asked in a resolution adopted by the Senate today and sent to the Democratic State central committee. The central committee had arranged to meet here Friday and select the delegates.

Since the State's regular Democratic primary election was changed a few years ago from the spring to August, the State Democratic committee has been selecting the delegates to the national conventions.

ROOSEVELT REFUSES TO OUST 2 OFFICIALS

Governor Assails Good Faith of Churchmen Seeking Their Removal.

Albany, N. Y., March 30 (A.P.).—Gov. Roosevelt today refused the request of Dr. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen Wise, well known churchmen, for the removal of Sheriff James A. McQuade, of Kings County, and John Theofel, chief clerk of the Queens County surrogate court, and both Democratic field marshals in greater New York.

In his letter to the two officials of the city affairs committee, which repeatedly has sought the ouster of Tammany and allied officials, the governor said:

"It would perhaps be easy for me to question the good faith in which these letters were written, or to assume that you care more for personal publicity than for good government."

Again, Mr. Roosevelt declared:

"Let me tell you two gentlemen straight from the shoulder that I am becoming convinced from your letters that corruption in public office and unfit servants in public office are both far less abhorrent to you than they are to me. A rushing into print early and often, with extravagant and ill-considered language causes many of our decent citizens to doubt your own reliance on law, order and justice."

Dr. Holmes and Rabbi Wise had demanded the removal of McQuade because he failed to explain before the Hofstadter committee investigators the source of $465,000 of bank deposits.

McQuade, when register of Kings County, testified before Seabury. He said he made many loans to provide food for 33 McQuades he supported. A month later McQuade was elected sheriff, and this fact was stressed in the Roosevelt letter.

Gov. Roosevelt said Rabbi Wise and Dr. Holmes asked him "with grave impropriety" to influence the Queens surrogate to remove Theofel, the Democratic leader of that borough.

BURRAGE CERTAIN HE DEALS WITH LINDBERGH KIDNAPERS

mation that might hamper the contact or attempted contact with the supposed kidnapers can you indicate definitely whether or not the supposed kidnapers have given any information which establishes the identity of the baby as the kidnaped baby?

A. I think Col. Lindbergh will recognize his son.

Q. Without disclosing any information that might hamper the contact or attempted contact with the supposed kidnapers, can you give an approximation of the time required to carry the negotiations to a definite conclusion?

A. No.

Q. There is an apparent contradiction between statements made by the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock and those made by Col. Schwarzkopf as to Col. Lindbergh's confidence in the contact or attempted contact between the supposed kidnapers and the three Norfolk negotiators. Can you clarify this seeming discrepancy?

A. Easily understood, as Col. Schwarzkopf is in constant touch with Col. Lindbergh.

No New Contact Made.

Q. Can you now tell us whether any of the three negotiators has been in communication with any banker in reference to the attempted negotiations with the supposed kidnapers? If the man who with Mr. Curtis today called upon the Very Rev. Mr. Dobson-Peacock was not a banker, can you tell us whether his visit had any significance in reference to the attempted negotiations?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Can you tell us whether reports published today that Mr. Curtis has made a new contact with the so-called "go-between" are correct? Has any such contact been made since Sunday?

A. No (to both questions).

Q. Have any arrangements been made with Col. Lindbergh regarding the payment of a ransom?

A. No.

Q. Can you tell us whether there is any truth to published reports that the Norfolk negotiators have been in contact with some one in or near Baltimore?

A.—I can not tell you.

Q.—Can you now tell us whether Mr. Curtis made a trip to Philadelphia on Saturday?

A.—I can not tell you?

Q.—It is reported that the three Norfolk negotiators have added to their forces a "go-between" to make contact with the "go-between" for the kidnapers. Can you tell us whether this is true?

A.—As far as I know, there is no quartet, this is a trio.

Q.—Do you plan to get any positive identification from the kidnapers to convince Col. Lindbergh that this baby is his?

A.—I think Col. Lindbergh will recognize his son.

Q.—It is our understanding that the Lindbergh baby can be definitely identified by certain markings. Can you tell us whether any attempt has been made through the "go-between" to determine whether the baby in question is without doubt the Lindbergh baby?

A.—I think Col. Lindbergh will recognize his son.

Admiral Burrage's most definite statement as to his opinion of the outcome of the negotiators efforts was that "if there is failure in the Norfolk negotiations the kidnapers, and they alone, will know why." Asked for a possible reason for delay in their negotiations, he replied: "You might say the kidnapers are afraid to go to Col. Lindbergh with the child. That's a reasonable answer."

He admitted the possibility that the negotiators were following a false hope with the statement that "everybody is sometimes misled," but when asked whether or not he believed the baby was alive said: "Unquestionably we wouldn't be working if we thought the baby was dead."

The three negotiators are paying their personal expenses in connection with the case, Rear Admiral Burrage said.

A conference of the three intermediaries was held this morning at which it was assumed they discussed the interview between Col. Lindbergh and Dean Dobson-Peacock who returned here yesterday afternoon, and made the statement that their work would be carried on at the request of the flying colonel, personally made.

Federal Agents Active.

Hopewell, N. J., March 30 (A.P.).—While Department of Justice agents were working near here today on the Lindbergh kidnaping case, State police announced two Kansas City detectives had given them information "which they thought might be of value."

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, police superintendent, said his men were investigating the data turned over by the detectives, who came to New Jersey seeking Martin Depew in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs. Nell Donnelly, of Kansas City.

Schwarzkopf said Federal agents were not reporting to State police headquarters.

In his nightly 9 o'clock bulletin Col. Schwarzkopf declined to answer a question as to whether the information furnished by the Kansas City officers had been thoroughly checked and asked that it be withdrawn until a later date.

Morris Rosner, Salvatore Spitale and Irving Bitz, underworld intermediaries working on the case, had not been in Hopewell recently, he said, and the progress of their operations was not known by State police authorities. The bulletin also said:

LIONESS IN CANNES CAFE ALARMS ELITE

Washington Woman Among 700 Who See Animal's Unscheduled Stroll.

Cannes, France, March 30 (U.P.).—Internationally known society folk were among a crowd of 700 guests listening to the soft music of an orchestra in the restaurant adjoining the Cannes Casino last night when a lioness with an urge for excitement broke out of her cage and went for a stroll near the tea tables.

Several women fainted when they saw the sleek beast. Others screamed, and, within a moment, the entire restaurant was a scene of panic. Guests rushed for the exits. Expensive costumes, which had attracted admiring glances a few minutes before, were torn in the scramble, and the music faded away.

Half a dozen less panicky persons attempted to halt the break for the doors, and urged the orchestra to resume playing. After he had recovered from the first shock of seeing the lioness loose, Billy Arnold, of Paterson, N. J., the orchestra leader, sent his musicians into action again. They played frantically, and the blaring strains of "Happy Days" rose above the shouts of the crowd.

Lord Louis Mountbatten, Lady Mountbatten, Mrs. Paul Dubonnet (the former Jean Nash), Mrs. Harry Brown, of Washington; Mrs. Wooley Hart and Lady Oxford and Asquith attempted to allay the panic of the other guests, but the lioness, which had been peaceful enough at first, now became excited.

The beast's roars sounded above the wild playing of the orchestra and brought its trainer on the run. The lioness had been used in an act which was part of the program at a gala dinner at the restaurant and its cage was just outside the open windows. The trainer and his woman assistant turned a fire hose on the beast, and it was safely captured a few minutes later when the trainer lassoed it.

The lioness was more frightened than ferocious when it was restored to its cage.

SHIP LINE FARE CUT 10 TO 50 PER CENT

mer travel, saying the expected volume had failed to materialize.

French Line officials said they looked on the reductions as an experiment.

In past years rates have been increased from 10 to 30 or 40 per cent during May, June and July, when transatlantic traffic is at its peak. The larger percentage reductions are figured on the basis of what the fares would have been had this summer increase been put in effect this year as usual.

The United States Lines announced reductions of from 20 to 40 per cent to apply immediately. The North German Lloyd Line followed immediately by announcing cuts up to 50 per cent, effective April 4, and the Hamburg American announced reductions of approximately 20 per cent, effective immediately.

Slash for Leviathan.

The United States Lines, the only large transatlantic line which is not a member of the steamship conference meeting in Brussels, today brought the lowest first-class rate for its flagship, the Leviathan, down to $192, compared with the former $265 summer season rate.

The "D" deck suite of a bed room, sitting room, bath and luggage room—among the best offered by the line—has been scaled down to $520, from $990, for two persons. Double rooms without bath on the "D" deck may be obtained for two persons for $385 against an old summer rate of $580.

The United States Lines explained the new rates are 20 per cent below existing winter rates. Steamship companies customarily, it said, "increase their rates about the beginning of May for the summer months." With the new rates, however, the summer increase is abolished, bringing the 1932 ocean passage to a price between 30 and 40 per cent below the 1931 figure.

John Schroeder, general passenger manager of the North German Lloyd Line, said the reduced rates brought the price for a room with bath on "A" deck of the Bremen or Europa, the world's fastest ships, to $290 one way as against $582 previously for one person.

Tourist rates are cut 20 per cent, making a round trip to the British channel ports in that class $169, against the former $226 rate. A third-class round trip may be had for $125.

Tourist rates on the Leviathan to British ports were cut to $98, to Cherbourg $108, and to Bremen $113, one way. Round-trip fares, for which an additional 7½ per cent reduction is provided, are $173, $178 and $187, respectively.

Third Class Fares.

The new third-class rates for the round trip on the Leviathan are $130.50 to British ports, $138 to Cherbourg, and $147.50 to Bremen.

The one-way fare to any British port on the President Harding or President Roosevelt, both of the U. S. Lines, is cut to $118, to Cherbourg $123, and to Hamburg $128.

Mr. Schroeder said decrease in travel last year and the fact that advance bookings for 1932 summer travel held out little hope for a large increase led to the reductions.

Inquest Set Today In Truck Fatality

Driver Is Held Following Crushing to Death of Man at Plant.

An inquest will be held this morning into the death of John Hanagan, 30 years old, of 215 Emerson street northwest, who was almost instantly killed yesterday afternoon when his head was crushed between the top of a truck and an iron beam at the Sterrett Operating Service Co., 30 M street northeast, where he was employed. John Henry Raymond, colored, 26 years old, of 525 New Jersey avenue northwest, is held for action of the coroner's jury in connection with the accident.

The accident victim was standing on the tailboard of a truck of the company which was being backed by Raymond, according to the story of the death told police. He apparently did not notice the iron beam. He was taken to Sibley Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival.

TEXAS "ULTRADRYS" PLAN LEGAL BATTLE

Love to Challenge Right of State Democratic Group to Require Pledge.

Dallas, Tex., March 30 (A.P.).—Democratic "ultradrys," who bolted the party in 1928 and carried Texas for Herbert Hoover, prepared today to challenge again the legal right of the Democratic State executive committee to bind them with a loyalty pledge.

Thomas B. Love, of Dallas, former State senator who led the "dry" faction four years ago, said he would seek to file a writ of mandamus with the State Supreme Court compelling precinct primary officers to allow voters to participate in the primaries without making any pledge.

He declared several weeks ago that the Democratic party could not win in the November election if it nominated a "wet" candidate for President. The dry leader protested unavailingly a few days later when the Democratic State executive committee, meeting in Fort Worth, adopted a pledge to bind precinct voters to support "the Democratic nominee for President and Vice President by voting for the Democratic electors of Texas."

W. O. Huggins, of Houston, chairman of the committee, later refused to reconvene the committee to reconsider the action unless a majority of the members petitioned him for the call.

Love was successful in a similar mandamus suit in 1927. The court ordered the Democratic committee to certify his name on the ballot as a candidate for governor, even though he would not take the party pledge binding him to the presidential candidacy of Al Smith.

WORK ON MUNICIPAL CENTER IS DELAYED

$600,000 for paving and grading of streets and $100,000 for actually commencing construction on the first unit. District officials told the subcommittee the $100,000 would not be needed.

Congress was asked to reappropriate the unexpended balance of $1,278,000 from the 1932 appropriation, and add $222,000 more. This sum of $1,378,000 Maj. Donovan requested be earmarked as municipal center money.

Would Go to Relief.

"What we want to do now is to begin to accumulate, if we can, money enough to go on with the construction of this municipal center a few years later," he said.

Under supplemental estimates submitted to the subcommittee since completion of the hearings, $600,000 of the municipal center money would be reallocated to local unemployment relief. The committee has yet to determine what it will do with this item.

Members of the appropriations group were told Treasury will ask special legislation from Congress before taking the District building off the hands of the local Government. As the property originally was purchased under a 50-50 Federal-District fiscal relationship, the Treasury holds half of the purchase price should go to the Federal Government.

To Use Present Quarters.

Meanwhile the District government must make the best of its present quarters. Questioned as to their adequacy, Commissioner Luther C. Reichelderfer told the subcommittee:

"They are not sufficiently large, because at the present time various of our departments are carrying on their activities in other structures, for instance, in the Ford Building and numerous other buildings in this municipal center, which we are occupying temporarily. It is not large enough for the purposes of the District."

The published hearings bore out reports that the staff of District architects engaged on plans for the new municipal center will be dropped in less than two months. A. L. Harris, municipal architect, disclosed that the $200,000 appropriated for plans is virtually exhausted; that the architectural plans for the center are 95 per cent complete and the mechanical drawings, 85 per cent complete.

Economics Group Meets Wednesday

New Academy Invites Diplomats and Officials to First Forum.

Final plans for the first meeting of the Academy of World Economics of Washington, to be held next Wednesday, at 8 p. m., at Brookings Institution, 722 Jackson place northwest, were outlined at a session of the directors yesterday afternoon at the Cosmos Club.

The Academy, recently organized by a group of eminent scholars to provide a forum where scientific study of economic problems may be developed, is the only group of its kind in the United States, it is announced.

It was reported at the meeting yesterday that invitations are being sent to a number of diplomats, officials in Government circles and scholars to attend the first meeting. A program, including prominent speakers, to be followed by a reception, has been planned.

Members of the board of directors include Dr. William F. Notz, Georgetown University, and chairman of the board; Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, American University; Dr. John McDill Fox, Catholic University of America; Dr. John Donaldson, George Washington University; Dr. Leo Pasvolsky, the Brookings Institution, and Wallace McClure, Department of State. The Academy headquarters are at present located at 2145 C street northwest.

SENATOR ROBERT LA FOLLETTE, OF WISCONSIN.

THE nearest thing to a dynasty the United States ever produced, is the La Follette family of Wisconsin, and "Bob" La Follette, senator from that State, enjoys all the privileges and merits all the honor that such primogeniture endows.

The illustrious mantle of Bob the First has fallen upon Bob the Second, while a younger brother guides the progressive destinies of the State of Wisconsin as governor.

Few senators have ever entered upon the august career of a member of the upper house before they had approached, or at least been within hailing distance of, the fateful "ten lusters" that Pliny decreed was the proper age for a senator. Henry Clay unsettled the atmosphere of the Senate when he entered shortly after his thirtieth birthday. "Bob" La Follette was just seven months past 30 years old when he was elected to take his father's seat.

Now, at 37, he is a member of the most important committees of the Senate. He is in the vanguard of that pretorian group of progressives that number Borah, Blaine and Norris.

His golf is well above average and the romantic minded cherish him because he married his secretary, Miss Rachel Wilson Young. H. J. T. H.

TAMMANY WILL RESERVE CHOICE TILL CONVENTION

tion is held on April 20, he said, a resolution will be adopted pledging the 94 delegates to vote as a unit.

Among the delegates at large to be selected, he said, would be Gov. Roosevelt and former Gov. Smith. That Smith was going to the convention was generally known, but the information that Roosevelt also was going was news.

If Smith is still seeking to "stop" Roosevelt by convention time, a dramatic battle can be envisioned when the New York delegation holds its caucus and decides on its candidate.

Under the unit rule, the two men will have to abide by the decision of that caucus.

When John F. Curry was selected as chief of Tammany Hall in April, 1929, it was generally stated that the organization was reverting to tradition, and that the "new Tammany" of Al Smith had been wrecked.

Frequent Visitor Here.

Curry, however, has been anything but the traditional type of Tammany leader. He has taken a keen interest in national affairs, and since the Democrats took over the House has been a frequent visitor to Washington.

In the meantime, the conduct of the Tammany delegation in Congress has won high praise from the Democratic leaders. When the so-called "rebellion" took place over the sales tax, and Speaker Garner's own colleagues from Texas deserted him, the New York representatives stood by him to a man.

In yesterday's interview at the Mayflower, one of the newspapermen, the representative of a paper in the Middle West, told Curry that out there it is popularly believed that a Tammany leader is a wicked individual with horns sprouting from his head.

Curry laughed.

Political Wet.

The truth is that the white-haired, square-jawed boss is a man of exemplary habits and a devout churchman. Politically, he is an ardent wet, but personally he is a teetotaler.

A daughter recently was graduated from Trinity College here, and a son, Robert, is now a freshman at Georgetown University.

Curry is convinced that 1932 is a Democratic year. Any "strong" Democrat who is nominated, he said, is certain to carry New York and the country. However, he declined to say who, in his opinion, were "strong" candidates.

He advocated a wet plank for the Democratic platform. Asked if he thought a wet plank would help the Republicans, he replied:

"I don't think anything they do is going to make any difference."

Democrats Warn Cross of Break

Connecticut Governor Told Faction Will Oppose "Old Guard" Moves.

Hartford, Conn., March 30 (A.P.).—Seven New Haven leaders of the "reorganization" group of the Democratic party in the State today sent a warning to Gov. Wilbur L. Cross that they would contest efforts of the "Old Guard" faction to select a national committeeman. The warning was issued 24 hours after the governor had pleaded for party harmony.

The delegation told the governor that unless David E. Fitzgerald, former New Haven mayor, abandoned his attempt to succeed Archibald McNeil, of Bridgeport, as committeeman, a primary contest would be started.

The "reorganization" faction won control of the party in Connecticut when Gov. Cross was nominated in 1930. Its leaders have been supporting Franklin D. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination, while the "Old Guard" has been backing Alfred E. Smith. The governor yesterday suggested the groups compose their differences by splitting Connecticut's sixteen votes at the national convention between Smith and Roosevelt.

and Roosevelt leaders said some who were not delegates had voted and called for a "fair vote" by poll of the several county delegations.

Those against the instructed delegation gained an early lead as the counties reported and held it until the last county—York—where Biddeford, a stronghold of Democracy is located, came through with 61 instructed and 15 against to carry the instructed delegation.

(Associated Press.)

The far-flung campaign organization of Franklin D. Roosevelt gathered in another Northeastern State delegation to the Democratic national convention yesterday and increased the New Yorker's delegates to 123. This is nearly one-sixth of the 770 needed to win the presidential nomination at Chicago June 27.

Instruction of the Maine delegation of 12 to vote for Roosevelt came as an agreeable surprise to his friends in the Capital.

Roosevelt now has captured the entire delegations from six States—Washington, New Hampshire, Minnesota, Iowa, Maine and Georgia—and 9 of the 10 delegates from North Dakota. Georgia has yet to name its delegation of 28, but they are counted for Roosevelt in view of his primary victory there last week.

President Hoover picked up another delegate yesterday—from the Second Georgia District—bringing his total instructed, pledged and claimed delegates to 108 out of the 119 selected to date. A total of 578 votes is sufficient to nominate in the Republican convention.

Another Roosevelt for President Club has sprung up in the Capital, composed of employes on Capitol Hill. They are chiefly secretaries to senators and representatives and have adopted the slogan, "Win with Roosevelt." Frank T. Bell, secretary to Senator Dill, of Washington, a Roosevelt advocate, is president of the club.

Gen. Butler Loses Voice As He Starts Campaign

Greensburg, Pa., March 30 (A.P.).—The second day of his campaign, and Gen. Smedley Butler has lost his voice.

The former Marine chief, independent Republican candidate for United States senator, was examined by a physician on his arrival in Greensburg tonight. He was advised to discontinue his speeches until his throat is healed.

Bacon Rind, Osage Chief, Buried With Unique Rites

Pawhuska, Okla., March 30 (A.P.). The spirit of Bacon Rind, aged Osage Indian leader, was sped to the great beyond at a curious joining of primitive and Christian rites here today.

On a barren hilltop, the body of the chief was buried at noon, when the perpendicular rays of the sun opened a passage for his soul.

As a Catholic priest intoned the service for the dead, paid Indian mourners raised their voices in lamentation and spoke messages warning of pitfalls and giving instructions for his spirit to heed on its last journey.

Fully 5,000 persons, Indians and whites, followed the body up a winding trail to the burial ground.

Traditional rites of the once barbarous Osages preceded and followed funeral services at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

At sunrise, a medicine man painted the face of the chieftain as he lay in state in a bronze casket at his modern residence in the Indian village on the outskirts of Pawhuska.

While the crowd filed past the open casket at the grave, the Indians raised their open hands toward the sun. It was a last gesture of farewell to the Osage orator and counsellor, who died Monday.

ATTACK ON HOOVER UPHELD BY SHOUSE

Democratic Chieftain Denies Wood's Charge of "Slander."

(Associated Press.)

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, yesterday described as a "baseless charge" the statement of Representative Wood (Republican), Indiana, that he had slandered President Hoover in a radio address last week.

Wood, also speaking over the radio, said Shouse made three "utterly false" charges against Mr. Hoover: "First, that it was not until last Saturday that President Hoover made any appeal to the Congress or to the American people to balance the budget. Second, that the existing deficit was created by this Republican Administration. Third, that President Hoover introduced partisan politics into the present effort upon the part of the House of Representatives to pass the tax bill."

Shouse's Reply.

In reply to the first assertion, Shouse said last night in a statement:

"I made no such statement. What I did say was 'it must be a matter of regret to Mr. Hoover's friends, as it is a matter of deep moment to the American people, that he should have delayed so long in voicing his concern and in uttering his statement.'"

As to the charge that "the existing deficit was created by this Republican administration," Shouse said, "Mr. Wood points out that at the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1931, the Treasury showed a deficit of half a billion dollars, not including the debt redemption, which, according to the Treasury report, made the actual deficit $902,000,000.

"Why did not the President take the requisite steps then to balance the budget?" the Democratic chairman inquired.

Defends Accusation.

"It became evident during the summer of 1931," he added, "that the deficit would assume tremendous proportions before the end of the present fiscal year. * * * The emergency, however, so apparent to everybody, resulted in many suggestions and requests to the President to call Congress in special session that it might enact legislation so obviously indicated. He steadily refused. * * * I think this sufficiently sustains my accusation of dilatoriness."

Shouse asserted in his original address that President Hoover injected politics into the sales tax fight through Silas Strawn, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Asserting Strawn, "the intimate friend and frequent spokesman of the administration," said as he left the White House that the President had called it a "Democratic bill," Shouse added, "On a question of veracity between Mr. Strawn and Mr. Wood, few will doubt which to believe."

sion to continue operation under the present scale.

Wage Request Refused.

The present wage scale ranges from $5.05 to $10.07 per day, and the miners originally asked the joint wage conference to adopt a scale increasing the basic wage to $7 with a six-hour day and five-day week. The operators refused and countered with a basic figure of $3.90 to $4 a day.

On account of the illness of John H. Walker, president of the district union, meetings of the subcommittee of the wage scale conference have been abandoned the last two days. It was expected that Walker would be able to continue negotiations tomorrow.

An associate of the union leader, however, held out little hope of effecting an agreement immediately.

The union claims a strength of 75,000 members in this State.

Picketing Is Renewed.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., March 30 (A.P.). In the face of the renewal of picketing activity at several collieries, the number of workers at their posts in the anthracite mines of Wyoming Valley were reported as increased today. Company and district union officials said only a few collieries remained idle as a result of the outlaw strike three weeks ago.

Two of these collieries, Lance and Nottingham, of Glen Alden Coal Co., voted through their local unions today to return to work tomorrow. Stanton colliery of the same company, idle until yesterday from the time the strike was instituted, operated today with 60 per cent working force, company officials said. This is the colliery where Thomas Maloney, insurgent leader, is employed and serves as chairman of the local union.

Mine workers who have not gone back to their jobs at Glen Alden collieries were warned today by S. D. Dimmick, vice president and general manager, that the places can not be held open indefinitely.

Brief Conventions For Parties Seen

Baltimore Writer Urges Confidence in Future Before Bond Club.

Comparatively brief sessions for both presidential conventions at Chicago in June were predicted yesterday by J. Fred Essary, Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Bond Club of Washington at the Carlton Hotel.

Commenting on the ineffectiveness of the fight against Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mr. Essary stresses the fact that State after State is pledging its vote for the New York governor. If a hopeless stalemate instead of a rapid nomination develops, he sees a possibility of Gov. Ritchie of Maryland coming to the front, as Harding did in the Republican convention of 1920 and Davis in the Democratic convention of 1924.

Discussing existing economic and financial difficulties, the speaker admitted he has yet to find a man, in or out of public life, who can explain or even understand them. He ventured the opinion that they would not be ended by any great piece of statesmanship or any tremendous additional aid from the Government, but would fade, almost imperceptibly, when business men, regaining confidence in themselves, their fellow men, established institutions and the country's future, awaken to the fact that conditions are not as bad as their minds have led them to fear.

Operation Opens Boy's Jaws, Locked 12 Years

Memphis, Tenn, March 30 (A.P.). Surgeons today unfastened the jaws of Eugene Barnett, 17, Dekalb, Miss., whose jaws locked when he was 5 years old as the result of arthritis. The operation was a success.

For twelve years Barnett could eat only liquids. A front tooth was removed to allow a tube to be inserted.

Last September his right jaw was operated upon. The operation was t[oo] extensive to be done on both sides at once.

Bone surgeons explained the operation required chiseling the jaw and practically building a new joint.

FORD V-8 WILL SELL FROM $460 TO $650

Model to Go on Display Today and Dealers Expect to Be Stocked Soon.

Prices on the new Ford V 8-cylinder model which is having its premier showing today in Washington as well as everywhere else in the country, average from $460 for the roadster to $650 f. o. b. factory for the convertible sedan with prices of the 4-cylinder car $50 less for the corresponding 8-cylinder body types.

The prices for the 8-cylinder car average about $10 more in each class than the corresponding type of the 1931 4-cylinder cars, making the new fours some $40 cheaper than the 1931 models.

The cars will be on public display today in the Washington branch of the Ford Motor Co., Pennsylvania avenue and John Marshall place, and it is expected that dealers salesrooms will be filled, with sample cars at least, very soon.

Prices of New V-Eight.

The prices of the eight, all f. o. b. Detroit, are as follows: Roadster, $460; de luxe roadster, $500; phaeton, $495; de luxe phaeton, $545; coupe, $490; de luxe coupe, $575; sport coupe, $535; cabriolet, $610; victoria, $600; tudor sedan, $500; de luxe tudor sedan, $550; fordor sedan, $590; de luxe fordor sedan, $645; convertible sedan, $650; chassis, $370.

It also was announced that safety glass throughout will be standard equipment on all de luxe models and on the sport coupe, cabriolet, viatoria and convertible sedan, and available at a slight extra cost on standard types.

Fourteen body types of modern stream-line are available in the eight-cylinder model, which is powered by a motor with a bore of 3 1-16 inches and a stroke of 3¾ inches, giving a displacement of 221 cubic inches and developing a horsepower of 65 and capable of a speed of 75 miles an hour.

Simple Design Featured.

Simplicity of design is very noticeable throughout the construction of the new car, and many of its features are new to the industry, such as the method of timing the motor and the regulation of the spark, as well as the design of the intake manifold. The motor is of the 90-degree type, with a 65-pound crankshaft of the 90-degree type, with its four cranks at right angles to each other.

Numerous mechanical advances are also incorporated, among which might be mentioned synchronized silent gear shift and silent second, rubber engine mountings, down-draft carburetor and carburetor silencer, fuel pump and rear fuel tank. There is also a nicely designed rear spring, thermostatically controlled Houdaille double acting shock absorbers, newly designed electrically welded steel spoke wheels with large hubs and hug caps. The entire motor, as well as the chassis is cushioned by rubber insulators.

Cylinder blocks and crankcase are cast in one unit, giving exceedingly rigid engine construction and new type one piece valves eliminate tappets operating directly from the camshaft. Connecting rods from opposite pistons are placed side by side on each 90 degree throw and they are mounted on new floating steel bushings babitted on the inside and outside, which serve to give the benefit of full crankpin bearing area to each connecting rod.

Increase In Roadability.

The rugged new double drop frame is formed to the shape of the body and with the new low rear spring provides a low center of gravity with consequent increase in roadability.

The riding comfort of the car is due to many features, but particularly to the new flexible transverse cantilever springs, larger tires and newly designed shock absorbers.

The new bodies are fresh and modern from the gracefully rounded V type radiator to rear bumpers. The air flow lines are carried out by the long hood with its rustless steel center strip, the slanting safety glass windshield and rounded roof line. The convex lamps, fully crowned fenders and long, low running board harmonize with the balance of the design.

A four cylinder engine developing 50 horsepower can also be supplied with any of the fourteen body types at a lower price.

Spain's New Budget Approved.

Madrid, March 30 (A.P.).—The assembly tonight approved the 1932 ministerial budget, carrying obligations totaling 64,752,000 pesetas. At the present rate of exchange this amounts to $4,856,400.

RED PAPER CHARGES STALIN DEATH PLOT

"White Guards" Accused of Far-Flung Conspiracies Against Soviet.

Moscow, March 30 (A.P.).—A Paris dispatch to the Tass (Russian) News Agency today quoted the French Communist newspaper L'Humanite, as saying that Russian "White Guards" were plotting against the life of Joseph Stalin and conducting other far-flung anti-Soviet conspiracies outside the Russian border.

A plot in Italy to assassinate Maxim Gorki, noted Russian author, and one in Germany to kill Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, were reported in the dispatch, which Moscow newspapers displayed prominently.

L'Humanite was quoted as saying Russian emigres were developing anti-Soviet activity "under the protection of France and 'vassal states.'" It sought to link the recent attempt on the life of the counselor of the German Embassy here with the "White Guard" maneuvers.

The dispatch said the anti-Soviet activities were directed from Paris with "terroristic" centers at Prague, Warsaw, Bucharest and Belgrade. The Prague organization, it said, recently sent two former czarist officers to Moscow under forged passports to kill Stalin, the Soviet "man of steel." Neither of them has yet returned, it was added.

GERMANY'S MONEY DIFFICULTY TO FORE

Stock Exchange Decides to Resume Normal Trading on April 12.

Berlin, March 30 (U.P.).—Germany's financial difficulties again rose to the surface of public attention today after a month of intense political excitement. Three developments stood out:

1. The stock exchange decided to resume normal business on April 12, when the government is expected to lift the ban on official bourse quotations for the first time since the 1931 crisis.

2. Negotiations for a "standstill" agreement were begun on German municipal short-term credits abroad, estimated at 300,000,000 marks (about $69,000,000) of which one-third is due United States banks.

3. Bankers discussed the possibility of a partial moratorium on Germany's foreign private debts despite the government's recent statement that such action was not envisaged.

Doubt About Foreign Debt.

In connection with the moratorium idea, it was pointed out that interest and amortization on foreign debts require about 1,750,000,000 marks this year and the question has arisen as to whether the foreign trade surplus in 1932 will enable Germany to meet payment of that amount in foreign currency.

In 1931 the average monthly surplus in foreign commerce was about 250,000,000 marks, as compared to an average of 100,000,000 marks for the first two months of this year. Soaring customs duties, and suspension of the gold standard in many countries had been blamed for the steady decline in German exports. Imports already are restricted to essential foodstuffs and raw materials.

If the trade balance does not yield sufficient foreign currency to enable full service of foreign short-term debts, bankers believe Germany may be in position to pay only part of the interest and amortization in foreign currency and, therefore, would be forced to offer to pay the balance in reichsmarks, which could be "suitably" invested in Germany.

Lausanne Results Vital.

The outcome of the Lausanne reparations conference is awaited as a determining factor in this connection and the situation may be improved if the conference leads to relaxation of international trade barriers.

In the standstill negotiations opened here, the Germans proposed a twelve-months agreement, after which the debts would be paid in ten annual installments at the rate of 6 per cent interest. The United States bankers accepted this proposal and are not participating in the conference.

The other creditors, including British, Dutch, Swiss and Swedish bankers, made a counter proposal to accept the German terms only if Germans establish a sinking fund to which the debtors would pay 2 per cent of their liabilities monthly.

within two days that it has been learned that present contractors of the air mail are giving consideration to consolidation with some of the larger independent operators who fly without Government aid.

Yesterday morning The Post stated that E. L. Cord, president of the Cord Corporation and of Century Air Lines, "has acquired a substantial interest in Aviation Corporation." It is understood on good authority that Cord's interest is now around 10 per cent and that he is endeavoring to obtain more.

When interviewed yesterday in Philadelphia on the Ludington-Eastern Air merger, James M. Eaton, president of the Ludington Line, said:

"Yes, we have been in conference, but as yet no definite and final plan has been worked out. The Ludington Line is not and never has been for sale. It is a profitable operation as it is now conducted, running a frequent passenger service between the Capital of the United States and the largest city. It is entirely possible, however, that providing a sane, sensible and economically feasible plan can be worked out, the two companies will be merged."

Asked yesterday whether the Postoffice Department would look favorably or unfavorably upon such a move, Irving W. Glover, Assistant Postmaster General in Charge of Air Mail, said:

"The Postoffice Department has neither been advised nor consulted on any such consolidation. Our only information has come from rumors. The department would only require that the specifications of the air mail contracts as originally awarded be carried out."

History of Ludington.

The Ludington Line opened in September, 1930, and was the first large independent operator to offer frequent air service between large cities at rates comparable to railway fares.

The line is owned principally by Nicholas and Townsend Ludington, of Philadelphia, who are interested in numerous other commercial enterprises in the Philadelphia area.

Ludington Air Lines is actively managed by Mr. Eaton, who went to the company from Pan-American Airways, where he was general traffic manager.

The company is reported to be the only line operating without an air mail contract in the United States which showed a profit for the year 1931.

Eastern Air Transport is an operating subsidiary of North American Aviation, with headquarters in New York City. The company took over the activities of the old Pitcairn Aviation Co., which originally carried the air mail from New York to the South.

One of the factors which may delay and make difficult an ultimate consolidation with the Ludington interests is the fact that the company is an operating subsidiary of a large holding company, North American Aviation, and considerable delay may be experienced in getting stock details arranged to facilitate the combine.

HOUSE PASSES AMENDMENTS TO INCREASE TAX REVENUES

per cent, as against 13½ per cent on individual corporation returns.

Taking the floor against the Cannon amendment, the Speaker said he had opposed consolidated and affiliated returns in the past and had made against them what he thought was as good a fight as he ever had made. He didn't yield his opposition, but urged the House to go along with the committee and test out the penalty on consolidated returns. The results of the next year, he said, would see whether he was correct or those who favored the consolidated returns were correct.

Will Give Separate Returns.

"You are now," he said, "proposing to penalize them 1½ per cent. If it is advantageous to them to file such returns they will pay the penalty. If there is not any advantage in consolidated and of affiliated returns, they will submit separate returns.

"I imagine no one can defend the proposition that you must give a multiplicity of corporations an advantage over an individual, and at the same time say that that advantage can not be paid into the Treasury of the United States, or a test made to see what benefits they get out of it.

"If you abolish consolidated and affiliated returns, no one knows just how much money the Government would gain by it. We have all guessed at it. I staked my reputation at one time on the floor of this House as a predicter as to what revenue would be derived from it when I said it would yield $50,000,000.

"But that was in 1928, and the returns from corporations now are about one-fourth what they were then. So, if my prediction were true then, the limit at this time would probably be 25 per cent for the first year, and it would gradually drift off during the years.

"The reason for this must be apparent to anyone when he thinks of it. Consolidated and affiliated returns after the first year could hardly be readjusted. After that wash sales and readjustments in their bookkeeping would naturally reduce the advantage from consolidated and affiliated returns.

"I hope that this committee amendment will be adopted, because, as I have said, it will test out in the next year or two whether or not the opposition to consolidated and affiliated returns is correct."

The effectiveness of the ruddy-faced Texas Speaker was demonstrated in the vote. The Cannon amendment was defeated by a vote of 133 to 20. The Speaker had "cracked down" on incipient rebellion. He stayed around a few minutes and then, satisfied that all was well, left the floor, inasmuch as he was not presiding because the House was considering the bill in the committee of the whole, during which time the Speaker does not preside.

Attack on Coca-Cola.

The bull-voiced Representative John C. Schafer (Republican), of Wisconsin, physically the biggest man in the House, helped the committee along when he launched an attack on Coca-Cola, which is produced in Georgia, the home State of Representative Charles R. Crisp (Democrat), acting chairman of the ways and means committee, who is in charge of the tax bill. Mr. Schafer is a "wet" and he protested against the tax on home-brewing materials when it was imposed earlier. Asa Candler, builder of the gigantic Coca-Cola Co., was a heavy contributor to the Antisaloon League and the prohibition movement, success of which added so much to his profits. Mr. Schafer referred to Georgia as the "Coca-Cola State."

He drew a heated reply from Representative Crisp, who said he had opposed a tax on malt and wort in the committee, but had abided by the decision of the majority. If the inference made by Mr. Schafer were justified, Mr. Crisp said, "I don't belong in the House."

Representative Willis C. Hawley (Republican), of Oregon, ranking Republican on the ways and means committee, arose to say that he knew Mr. Crisp had no personal interest involved. Others jumped up, too, and said, among other things, that the Coca-Cola Co. was now nationally owned and was no longer a Georgia proposition. The Schafer amendment was lost by a vote of 101 to 14.

Major Fight of Day.

The debate over the proposed stock exchange transaction tax developed into a major battle of the day, but its importance was rather emphasized by the lack of any real fight on the many other taxes the House had accepted with an air of anxiety to speed passage and impatience that any one should slow down consideration.

Representative John J. O'Connor (Democrat), New York, led the fight against the stock exchange tax proposed by the committee. He was rather sharp in his criticism of the insistence that it be passed on at such a late hour. Opponents of the tax, he said, had believed it would not be brought up until today. There was considerable wrangling, the upshot of which was that Mr. Crisp got an agreement to limit debate to the committee amendment and all amendments to it to 30 minutes, but Mr. O'Connor won his point when Mr. Crisp agreed to have the vote go over until today with 20 minutes debate before the vote.

Representative LaGuardia jumped into that fight in support of the committee. He said Representative Hartsill Ragon (Democrat), Arkansas, chairman of the special subcommittee which drafted the tax, had leaned backward in estimating the revenue it would produce.

Mr. Ragon had taken the floor when Representative James V. McClintic (Democrat), Oklahoma, proposed to raise the tax from the one-quarter of 1 per cent proposed by the committee to one-half of 1 per cent.

"Any higher rates than that proposed by the committee would mean that the House would kill the goose that laid the golden egg," Mr. Ragon said. "The tax the committee proposes is the highest similar tax in effect in any country in the world. Any higher tax would be approaching the point where we would be voting to drive business out of the country."

He was referring to the fear, expressed by some, that the committee proposal would drive stock exchange business to Canada.

Representative LaGuardia had proposed a one-half of 1 per cent tax on short sales. He accepted the committee proposal, however, explaining that on short sales the tax actually would be one-half of 1 per cent when short sales were covered.

Speedy Action Taken.

In the course of its generally serene moments the House went through the tax bill as fast as J. Patrick Haltigan and A. E. Chaffee, who have to read the bills, could read. Taxes which were approved included:

The postage increase; the increase on consolidated returns; a stamp tax on stock issues, designed to raise $13,000,000; reduction in the surtax exemption from $10,000 to $6,000, estimated to raise $7,000,000; a 5 per cent tax on mechanical refrigerators, to raise $4,500,000; reduction in corporation exemptions from $2,000 to $1,000, to yield $6,000,000; beverage taxes, $11,000,000; abolishing spreading of losses provision, $20,000,000; 10 per cent tax on safe deposit boxes, $1,000,000; tax on admission charges over 45 cents, $40,000,000; taxes on telegraph, telephone, cable and radio messages, with exceptions allowed for genuine press dispatches, or radio leased wires, $33,000,000.

Other taxes, which have been approved by the ways and means committee and which shall be offered today and tomorrow amount to $241,000,000 more.

Aim Is $1,241,000,000.

The committee is aiming at balancing the budget by way of a tax bill estimated to raise $1,241,000,000. This staggering sum will not be adequate to meet the deficit and a saving of $243,000,000 in cutting Government expenditures is a part of the program. The special House economy committee, however, has fallen into difficulties. It is doubtful if that amount will be cut from the budget estimates for the running of the Government next year.

There is, too, considerable division of opinion about the accurracy of estimated revenues which will result from the various taxes.

Before the bill is passed out of the House Treasury experts will be called in to give their estimates. The disposition is to add whatever additional taxes—above the ways and means committe sales tax substitute program—may be necessary. It is not at all unlikely that the committee will have to go further and seek beyond the borders of what it has considered as its taxation realm.

Passage of the bill is expected tomorrow, and then the House will adjourn over the first week-end holiday it has had since it convened in its hard-working session in December.

Senator Jones Will Seek Duty on Lumber and Pulp

(Associated Press.)

Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, yesterday notified the Senate he would seek to add import levies on wood pulp and lumber when the House revenue bill reaches the Senate.

The rates he will seek on pulp will be: One-sixth of a cent a pound on mechanically ground; one-third of a cent on unbleached chemical; one-half a cent on bleached.

The timber levy would be $3 per 1,000 board feet on the following types of timber: Hewn, sided or squared, round for spars or wharves, ties, telephone and telegraph poles if of fir, spruce, pine, hemlock or larch.

Senator Jones read to the Senate a letter from Gov. Roland H. Hartley of Washington, in which the executive said "the depreciation of foreign exchange has permitted entry into the United States of a flood of imports that definitely threatens absolute extinction to production of lumber and pulp within our boundaries."

RECTOR LED WICKED LIFE, GIRL TESTIFIES

Often Came to Room While Trying to 'Save' Her, She Says in London.

London, March 30 (U.P.).—The trials, temptations and even physical dangers faced by the Rev. Harold Francis Davidson in rescuing London girls from immorality were described in intimate detail today at the hearing of charges made by the Bishop of Norwich against the 60-year-old rector of Stiffkey, Norfolk.

Most of the details were given to the Norwich Consistory Court by golden-haired, baby-faced Barbara Harris, 17, under the gruelling questioning of the bishop's counsel and the defense counsel, R. F. Levy, who contended that Dr. Davidson spent "a year of his life" saving the girl.

There was, for example, the incident in which Dr. Davidson became involved in a controversy with a professional "strong man," Barbara told the court at Church House, Westminster. The strong man was one of her "purely promiscuous affairs"—many of which she related—but he threatened to smash her face for no particular reason.

Posed as Girl's Uncle.

She wrote a letter to Dr. Davidson, she said, appealing to him to save her from the strong man. Dr. Davidson donned his clerical collar, posed before the strong man as Barbara's uncle and told him not to strike her. The strong man changed his mind about smashing her face, Barbara said.

But on other occasions Barbara said her relations with the rector were not so pleasant. She recalled as an example the time she gave him a black eye after he had threatened to commit suicide.

On that occasion, she said, Dr. Davidson had taken her to see a performance of Oscar Wilde's "Salome." Later, instead of trying to save her from a life of immorality, she said he demanded that she accompany him to his room and threatened to kill himself if she refused. She didn't want him to commit suicide, but after they were in the rector's room, she said, he locked the door.

Never Talked About Religion.

The rector's counsel said the story was pure fabrication, but the girl reiterated it, and added that Dr. Davidson never talked to her about religion.

"He had plenty of other girls, too," she said.

She said that Davidson often came to her room.

"The door didn't have any lock and it was always open except when he came in and put a chair against it," she said. "We could hear people coming up the stairs because they were wooden and creaked."

"You mean that while he was assaulting you, anybody could have walked into the room?" Levy asked.

The girl admitted this, but disagreed with Levy's suggestion that she was "a very sexual person."

Dr. Davidson, who has flowing white hair, is married and has four children, was unperturbed by her testimony.

Miss Harris, who contended that the rector told her she looked like Greta Garbo, was sober during her testimony.

AMERICANS IN PARIS SEEK U. S. TRADE AID

resort of American business men, two representations direct to Louis Rollin, French minister of commerce, and numerous letters having failed.

"Partial embargoes under quotas enforced overnight leave the future of business uncertain to make it impossible for importers of American products to carry on," Mr. Smith said. "There is no discrimination against French products by the United States that justifies reprisals against the Americans."

Meanwhile, decrees further limiting American imports were pub ished in the French government's official journal. They bar American finished woods, such as oak flooring and similar products, from France until January 1, 1933, and common woods until July 1, 1932. Exhausted imports quotas were given as the reason.

Two new classes of electrical goods, meters and transformers, also were added to the electrical goods quota established on January 9. That quota was declared by American interests to be discriminatory against the United States in favor of certain European countries at the time it was announced.

The import duty on fresh fruits, chiefly apples, would be increased from 60 francs to 75 francs per 100 kilograms under a recommendation of the customs committee of the Chamber of Deputies today. (The new rate would be about $3 on 220 pounds as compared to the present rate of about $2.40).

The proposed increase, which was voted by the committee, will be submitted to Parliament for consideration. No change in the rate on dried fruits was proposed.

FRANCIS SCOTT KEY DESCENDANT JAILED

Is Sentenced to Year After Conviction on Charge of Manslaughter.

Leonardtown, Md., March 30 (A.P.). James Key, 23, member of a prominent southern Maryland family and descendant of Francis Scott Key, was sentenced to a year in the Maryland House of Correction today, following his conviction on a charge of manslaughter.

Key was convicted on a charge of killing Mrs. Lillian M. Bevans when the automobile he was driving struck her last November 21. Mrs. Bevans was the mother of six children.

Key also pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile after revocation of his operator's license, and was given a suspended fine of $100 and costs.

His license was revoked following a hit-and-run accident in which Woodley Buckler, State roads employe, was killed in July, 1930. He was charged with manslaughter then, but the case was nolle prossed.

Storm Phone Toll Is Put at $1,000,000

Repairs Over Area Being Speeded by Chesapeake & Potomac.

The blizzard of March 6, which embraced Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia as well as Washington, will cost the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. $1,000,000 in repairs, it was announced yesterday.

The storm interrupted service of 23,650 telephones, 1,087 long-distance circuits, and isolated 75 central offices. Repairs in the affected areas will include the replacement of 21,400 poles and 10,000 miles of open wire lines. The construction of 60 miles of cable to replace open wire local and long-distance circuits will insure less interruptions from future storms in the areas in which this type of plant will be constructed, it was announced.

KILL THE GLASS BILL.

Hearings on the Glass bill before the Senate banking and currency committee are nearing an end. Many of the foremost bankers and business experts in the country have testified with virtually unanimous agreement that the measure, if enacted, would plunge the country deeper into depression. In fact, no one seems to favor clamping this handicap upon business recovery, except Senator Glass and a few colleagues who are under his influence.

The most effective blow that has been struck at the Glass bill came from the Federal Reserve Board. Gov. Eugene Meyer said:

> The board takes the view that legislation further materially restricting the character of member bank loans and investments is not desirable at a time when the country's banking system is going through a period of severe readjustment. Some of the provisions of the proposed bill would have a tendency to bring about further contraction of credit and thus retard the recovery of business.

The Federal advisory council, consisting of one banker from each of the Federal Reserve districts, concluded that "if the bill should be enacted into law it would necessitate a wholesale liquidation of securities, which would most certainly cause a further decline in the prices of all securities." Silas H. Strawn, speaking for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, declared that it would "not only retard reconstruction, but would cause further depression." Volumes of similar adverse testimony have been taken.

Mr. Meyer points out that the drastic provision which is designed to end stock market speculation would be ineffective for that purpose. Senator Glass would penalize banks if they borrowed from the Federal Reserve banks on fifteen-day notes to accommodate investors. But if this kind of borrowing is made inconvenient and expensive the banks will merely substitute the procedure of rediscounting eligible paper. Instead of curbing speculation Senator Glass would only make the operation of the Federal Reserve system more clumsy and inefficient.

The Glass bill would make the Federal Reserve banks watchdogs over the policies of member banks, with a view to cutting off their supply of credit when they extended loans for investment purposes. But Mr. Meyer points out that member banks as a rule do not borrow to relend, but to make up deficiencies in their reserves. It is, therefore, impossible to determine whether loans by Federal Reserve banks ultimately reach speculative channels. In his effort to penalize speculators Senator Glass would work a hardship on legitimate business seeking credit.

In view of the united opposition against it, it is unthinkable that the Glass bill can be approved in its present form. There are some constructive features in the bill. Senator Glass faces the alternative of lifting these out for enactment as an emergency measure or of seeing the entire bill rejected. It is improbable that substitute provisions for Senator Glass' deflationary formula could be approved in the brief time that remains. The banking and currency committee would do well to lay all the revolutionary features aside and concentrate its attention on a bill to aid closed banks.

"AIDING" THE FARMER.

Secretary Hyde's reference to the Department of Agriculture as "the prize boob in the history of finance" brings forward a very serious problem of agricultural economics. Congress has set up in the department an agricultural bank, the business of which is lending money on flimsy security when credit can not be obtained from any other source. The result is injurious to the farmer as well as taxpayers who have to supply the funds.

Last year the excuse for lending money through the Department of Agriculture was the drought. But $48,000,000 of the fund made available in the form of agricultural loans was for crop production. Congress recently provided a fund of $50,000,000 through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to aid farmers in their spring planting. This was a sop to the farmer to forestall charges that Congress was devoting all of its attention to banks and business.

The practical effect of these loans is to increase production and thus bring about further depression of prices to the detriment of the farmer. Secretary Hyde has taken every precaution to avoid these consequences. Loans are not made unless the applicants farmed last year. For certain crops, including tobacco and peanuts, loans are made only when the applicant agrees to keep his acreage within 65 per cent of what it was last year. Efforts are also made to force borrowers to cultivate gardens and thus promote their economic independence. But in spite of these regulations the fact remains that this fund keeps thousands of uneconomical producers on the farms and stimulates overproduction.

Only 55 per cent of the 1931 loans has been collected, and this includes about $16,000,000 worth of cotton and wheat that was mortgaged to secure the loans. The Government already has on hand vast quantities of these staples, and there is no market for them. Yet Congress makes more funds available to help farmers produce these same crops. Apparently the Government is merely helping uneconomic farmers to prolong their own misery.

SOAKING THE DISTRICT.

District taxation will remain an unsettled question until after a new Federal revenue law has been enacted. The Senate District committee has completed its hearing on the proposed estate tax, and other bills in the Mapes tax program will be taken up within the next few weeks. But members of the committee indicate that they do not expect to vote on these measures until the question of Federal revenue is settled.

This action betrays an attitude similar to that taken by the Mapes committee. The District budget was not considered as a unit, but as an adjunct to the Federal budget. Conditions in the Federal Treasury and not the actual needs of the District itself were determining factors in the House vote. It is with a feeling of deep regret that Washingtonians note that the Senate committee is falling into the same fallacy.

If the Mapes committee's bills were needed to raise funds for District activities there would be little opposition to them. But the only excuse that can be offered for them is the need of the Federal Government for more revenue. The people of Washington have nothing to gain from the taxes that the House proposes to levy upon them. Nearly all the benefits would go to Uncle Sam in the form of a reduction in the Federal contribution to the maintenance of the National Capital. It is this outrageous proposal to levy local taxes on District residents for the benefit of the country as a whole that arouses the ire of Washington citizens.

Some members of the District committee have already expressed opposition to the proposed estate tax, which is the only fair measure in the whole Mapes program. At present the Government collects estate taxes from people of the District, and, in effect, uses that money as part of the Federal contribution toward development of the Capital. The Government allows States to deduct under their own inheritance laws 80 per cent of estate taxes that otherwise would be due to the Federal Treasury. At present the District is denied that privilege.

The merit of the individual bills before the committee is not the point at issue. The whole controversy resolves itself into the question: Is Congress willing to pay for the extra cost of municipal development that is imposed upon Washington by reason of being the National Capital, or does Congress intend to impose excessive taxes upon the people of Washington so that the other citizens of the United States may boast of a splendid National Capital that costs them almost nothing?

DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH.

Consideration of the tax bill in the House has given rise to a series of absurd statements about a small percentage of the people owning an enormous percentage of the wealth and receiving most of the national income. The "soak-the-rich" drive in the House was based on the erroneous belief that the wealth of the country is concentrated in a few hands. Most of the statistics brought forth by the radicals to prove that contention are grossly misleading.

It is true that less than 3 per cent of the people earn enough income to require the filing of an income tax return under the present law. But the gross income of all persons who made returns in 1930 amounted to only $21,665,505,850, as compared with a national income of $71,000,000,000. If all of those who are even moderately well-to-do are put into a class by themselves, they do not draw four-fifths of the national income, as the fanatics claim, but only a little more than one-fourth.

But it is obviously impossible to put only those individuals with high incomes into a social group. Men with large incomes have families just the same as men with small incomes. In most instances the head of the family earns the family income, and it is technically correct to say that he owns the family estate. But as a matter of fact, that income and that accumulated wealth is used for the benefit of all members of the owner's family. When propagandists attempt to excite unrest among the common people they put wealthy men in a tiny group by themselves and classify all other members of their families as poor unfortunates without property and with meager income.

The average family in the United States consists of slightly more than four persons. On that basis the 30 per cent of the national income which is earned by persons who file income tax returns is distributed among 12 per cent of the people, instead of less than 3 per cent.

It is a mistake to suppose that most of the income in this higher bracket goes to millionaires. In 1930 nearly 41 per cent of the income on which taxes were paid was earned by individuals with net incomes of less than $5,000. About 60 per cent of the taxable income was earned by individuals with net incomes of less than $10,000.

It is significant that 43 per cent of all the taxable income in 1930 represents wages and salaries. Business profits account for only 12 per cent of the total, and stock dividends 19 per cent. These figures apply only to incomes on which tax returns were filed. Wages would account for a much larger percentage of the total national income.

Wealth is not evenly distributed, and never will be. But the claims of the socialists that a small fraction of the people has a corner on income and wealth are utterly false. Such conditions have never existed in the United States. Furthermore, the depression has wiped out hundreds of large fortunes. Others have been melted down to almost nothing. Huge incomes were reduced to one-third of their former volume in the single year of 1930. Tax returns indicate that the falling off was still more marked in 1931. Moderate incomes, however, have been but slightly reduced. The depression has been a great leveling force through which those at the top of the capitalistic structure have lost most heavily.

Better distribution of wealth and income is much to be desired. But fanatics who make statistics lie for their own purposes make no contribution to that end.

UNITY WILL CONQUER.

Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, has had the genius to suggest that "the economic depression is a blessing in disguise that will make the Americans a still stronger and unconquerable people."

The country, he says, is confronted with a task of readjustment, but "it is not a hopeless one, and although much injury will be done to the unprotected, the inherent strength and indomitable will of the American people will surely extricate them from their present difficulties." He urges the unification of "all petty supergovernments, such as farmers' blocs, labor unions, chambers of commerce and their allies," as a means toward making the country function as an intelligent whole.

The Nation's plight is the entire Nation's problem. "No single set of statesmen, economists, teachers, merchants or laborers," Mr. Morgenthau insists, "can solve the problem of the present disarrangement." The people, as a body and as individuals, must make sensible and constructive adjustments. In the end, the experience will be a source of strength and profit.

Mr. Morgenthau calls attention to the fact that there are more than 30,000,000 persons in the United States who are gainfully employed at the present time. In reality there are more than 40,000,000. This is a challenge to pessimism and a contradiction to prophets of disaster. Mr. Morgenthau deserves a salute from the puzzled but not disheartened masses of his countrymen.

PHILIPPINE MARKET

By VICENTE VILLAMIN.

As a market for American goods the Philippines rank fifteenth in importance among the 85 countries which trade with the United States. They outrank Brazil, Chile, the Central American countries combined, Spain, Sweden, British India, British South Africa and the Dutch East Indies.

Using the figures for 1929, a nearly normal year, the Philippines imported American goods aggregating $92,600,000 in value. According to the United States Tariff Commission, primary agricultural products and manufactures thereof, practically all benefiting in tariff protection under the Philippine-American free trade, made up a considerable portion of the total, amounting to about $33,395,000 in value.

The Philippine consumption of American goods was $7.20 per capita. The corresponding figure for Cuba was about $25. The Philippines have more varied natural resources than Cuba, are two and a half times greater in area, over four times more numerous in population and are as advanced, if not more so, in social progress. The potentiality of the Philippines as a market is obviously great. Based on the Cuban figure, the Philippines would consume at least $300,000,000 worth of American goods annually.

The Philippine imports of American iron and steel manufactures were valued at $17,780,000, representing 81 per cent of total. Germany furnished 8 per cent of total, Belgium 3 per cent and Great Britain a little less than 3 per cent. The State of Alabama contributed substantially to the American exports to the islands.

Imports of American cotton goods reached a value of $15,850,000. This was nearly 59 per cent of the aggregate imports, with Japan supplying 20 per cent and Great Britain 11 per cent. It is conceded that if it were not for the tariff protection given by the Philippines American cotton goods could hardly compete with the Japanese and the British in the Philippine market. The necessity for more adequate protection is being felt. A more rigorous prevention of undervalution and other fraudulent import practices in the islands would result in an appreciable increase of American cotton goods imports.

The Philippines purchased American meat and dairy products valued at $3,670,000, being 53 per cent of the total. Australia contributed 18 per cent of total and China 15 per cent. American wheat flour imported amounted to $4,348,000, constituting 86 per cent of total imports, with Australia furnishing 10½ per cent and Canada 3½ per cent. As Filipino diet is being studied and improved, it is safe to predict that the coming years will see a great increase in the use of wheat flour.

Other imports from the United States were: Mineral oils, $8,400,000; automobiles, parts and tires, $7,630,000; electrical goods, $3,730,000; fish products, $3,800,000; tobacco products, $3,150,000; paper goods, $3,000,000; fertilizers, $2,130,000; silk and rayon manufactures, $2,000,000; soap, $1,900,000; chemicals and drugs, $1,750,000; leather goods, $1,720,000; fruits and nuts, $1,230,000.

American ships carried more than 44 per cent of the total Philippine overseas commerce, the British 24½ per cent, Japanese 12½ per cent, Norwegian 5 per cent and German 4 per cent. The Philippines are not within the coastwise laws of the United States. International competitive conditions exist in the Philippine ocean-carrying trade.

Under the Philippine organic law, which is an act of Congress, the trade relations between the United States and the Philippines are under the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress. The Philippine government is, however, authorized to enact its own tariff law respecting foreign countries with the approval of the President of the United States. Under this authority a Philippine tariff act is in operation providing for an average ad valorem duty of 23 per cent, which is the measure of the tariff protection that American goods receive in the Philippines.

The importation of American ideas to the Philippines will eventually prove to be the largest item of all imports measured in dollars and cents. It is changing Filipino life for the better.

No Man Ever Got to the Top by Thinking Himself a Second-Rater.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE most dreadful feature of poverty is not the present hardship it imposes, but the lasting effect on the minds of children.

Many poor children, living among others of their kind, are mercifully unaware of their poverty; but others who are more sensitive and more observing make comparisons and endure shame that leaves a scar as lasting as life itself.

Parents who discuss their anxieties and express their bitterness within the hearing of their children may be unaware of the evil they are doing, but in many instances they are teaching class consciousness and envy. They are teaching their children to feel inferior. They are filling young minds with a poison that will prove a lifelong handicap.

Children are not caste-conscious by nature. Money is merely something to exchange for ice cream, and good clothes a nuisance that interferes with play. But once a sensitive boy is made conscious of poverty, his darned stockings and patched clothes shame him to his marrow and he is filled with sullen rebellion or a cringing cowardice.

Perhaps his parents never know. Certainly the boy himself doesn't realize what is happening. But poverty is developing an enemy of society or a man who must fight all his life to overcome the feeling that other men are his superiors.

It is a shameful thing to break a boy's spirit. And it is as unnecessary as it is shameful.

If parents can not overcome poverty, they can at least remove the sting of it. They can teach their children a decent pride. By example, more than by precept, they can teach the wholesome truth that self-respect is justified by race, by family achievement, by industry, honesty, cleanliness, or any other thing that is decent.

Poverty, unless its cause is vice or indolence, is no more shameful than a broken leg. The boy's wholesome and logical mind will rate it as nothing worse than a misfortune if no evil influence warps his judgment.

But the hurt of it may break his spirit unless he is given the solace of hope and taught to regard himself as an equal of kings and the natural heir of all he can fairly win.

PRO AND CON

Wrecking Crew.

Boston Transcript.

It was a strange spectacle in the House of Representatives when the attempt was made to transform the revenue bill into a general tariff measure. It was not an edifying spectacle. Democratic members of the House revealed themselves as having been giving lip service only to what has been proclaimed as a principle and policy of their party.

Since the passage of the Smoot-Hawley tariff act it has afforded the Democrats one of the chief elements in their stock of campaign material. The administration has been accused of permitting duties to be raised to scandalous heights in a session of Congress called to consider only the needs of the farmers. The rewritten tariff has been denounced as the cause of much of our trouble both at home and abroad. With ridicule and contumely, the changes have been rung upon this favorite theme of the opponents of the administration. And then, in concert with insurgent Republicans, Democratic members of the House urge the imposition of duties that are not be found in this much-abused law. No wonder Representative Crisp accused these of his fellow Democrats of undertaking to wreck the party.

"Wet Propaganda."

Topeka Capital.

Prohibition enforcement is improving all the time, according to the publisher of "Who's Who in America," A. N. Marquis, of Chicago. "If critics of prohibition would let up for a while," he says, "instead of spending such large amounts of money on propaganda, the genuine benefits would be more apparent."

Congress at least has not been stampeded by the terrific bombardment of wet propaganda, or by wet polls of popular feeling. It has more trustworthy means than irresponsible polls and questionnaires to interpret public sentiment in its districts.

Fiscal Statesmanship.

Springfield Republican.

If the budget is to be balanced, with a deficit of such magnitude as the Treasury is now carrying on its books, the country must make sacrifices. It is impossible to raise a billion dollars in new revenue without making various industries or interests or classes squirm in protest. In time of war, however, they take their medicine. The present emergency should be dealt with by a courageous Congress in much the same spirit as a war emergency. If a better plan can be proposed, which would eliminate the sales tax, let us have it. But in the inevitable chorus of protests that accompany any plan for raising new revenue, let it not be forgotten that ability to balance the budget has become a supreme test of our American capacity for sound fiscal statesmanship.

No Unity on Liquor Question.

Detroit News.

A candidate for President can hardly fail to have a personal view on prohibition, and it is important to know what it is; but we fail to see the importance of tying his party to his opinion, or any great incongruity in his becoming a candidate and remaining something less than a fanatic on one side or the other of the issue. As long as it is conceded that no unity can be expected in either party on either side of the issue, why the foolish insistence upon unity? The way to change is clearly indicated, when and if the country wants a change, and has nothing to do with the party complexion of the Government or the Congress.

Or Divorces?

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

All governmental bodies are looking around, here, there and everywhere, for something more to tax. Have they thought of goldfish or funeral wreaths?

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Modern Crook Has the Advantage Over Policemen in Uniform—Old Methods Must Go.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The pedestrian's letter in the March 26 Post, in favor of "policemen dressed in civilian clothing" for the capture of reckless traffic speeders, is all right.

In reading the said letter I got a slant on the question of police uniforms, which nobody has considered yet, as far as I know.

Seeing that the District Commissioner, who overlooks police affairs and also the police superintendent are both military men, you might think they would be in favor of plain uniforms for policemen.

I can remember when soldiers wore bright uniforms that would please the women, and the old Washington Light Infantry and other military organizations used to make a gorgeous marching picture on holiday parades. Today the style of the clothes our fighters wear has not much to do with their fine appearance on the march.

I do not need to go into the five points of why the U. S. A. has changed from a showy to a plain uniform. It ought to be enough to say that the Army experts thought it was necessary because warfare is a very different thing today from what it used to be.

Also it may be said that the war against crime is somewhat different from what it was not as much as a lifetime ago.

Looking at it from this angle, I think policemen are in a class with the soldiers. They go armed in the name of law and order just as the soldiers do, and they should have the benefit of plain clothes if it will help them in the line of duty.

In these days the city lawbreaker has his automobile to scout around in, besides other up-to-date helps. The alleys as well as the streets are brightly lighted up by electricity, and the policeman in the uniform which is now the fashion can be easily spotted at night, not to mention the fact that in the daytime he can be recognized two or three blocks away. So you see, as far as strategy has anything to with it, the crook has all of the advantage.

The wrong old way of doing things is not always easy to break up, but it generally has its limit. I think sometime or another as the amount of unpunished crime increases policemen as well as soldiers will wear clothing that fits the kind of work they have to do.

GEORGE C. AKERS.

Protest Against Littering of Streets With Trucks.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Mrs. Charles Edward Russell in her letter to The Post calling attention to the disgraceful condition of Washington's dirty streets, sidewalks and vacant lots, states there are ordinances against the scattering of papers and trash and asks why these ordinances are not enforced. She overlooks the fact that evidence must be obtained against the persons who do these things in order to secure a conviction. Apparently the citizens of Washington are too busy to do any sleuthing work in the interest of a spotless town. People who complain to the police, corporation counsel and the District Commissioners are informed that the District government does not possess the authority to require property owners to clean vacant lots except where the health and fire regulations are violated.

A senator to whose attention this matter was brought stated that a bill had been introduced in the last session of Congress requiring property owners to clean their lots or fence them in, but that the bill failed of passage. The senator expressed a willingness to resubmit the bill upon request of the District Commissioners.

It is quite true, as Mrs. Russell points out, that the city presents the same sort of spectacle that a family would present if they moved into a $1,000,000,000 mansion and kept it as a pig-sty. Some sections of town do present a slumlike appearance with littered vacant lots, tumbledown shanties and dilapidated trucks parked in the streets. Over the week-end the writer observed five trucks parked in the street adjoining the curb at Seward Square, and one truck parked on Connecticut avenue in front of a small park above Dupont Circle. Another amazing thing is that public garages which supposedly have space for storing their paraphernalia indoors leave towing and wrecking cars and other commercial vehicles in the street overnight and week-ends. One wonders why these violations of the traffic regulations are not punished. Nothing gives a neighborhood a slumlike appearance so much as commercial vehicles left out in the street overnight.

Taxpayer Suggests Congress Should Balance Budget Day by Day.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It is well known that Congress likes to appropriate money for almost any old purpose; likewise it has much difficulty in passing a revenue-producing bill. Why not insist that every appropriation bill have a revenue-producing bill coupled with it?

SUPERIOR STANDARD OF LIVING FORECAST

New Noninflammable Oil Is Announced at Session of Chemical Society.

New Orleans, March 30 (A.P.).—Discoveries showing science working successfully toward a standard of living "immeasurably superior to our present one" and a few even making money now were enumerated tonight by Dr. E. R. Weidlein, director of Mellon Institute. He spoke at a general meeting of the American Chemical Society.

A new noninflammable oil, intended to reduce fire hazards in schools and other institutions, was announced briefly in a statement by Theodore Swann, of Birmingham.

"In the present period of trade depression," said Dr. Weidlein, "industrial research is being carried out extensively—on many branches of manufacture, as though no subnormal condition exists."

He said that "mail order houses, chain store organizations and department stores are trying research to cut costs and prices and to secure greater value to place before the public.

Work Is Handicapped.

Dr. Weidlein asserted that deprivation in the accustomed standard of living would "lead to great dissatisfaction and demoralization," and that the scientific work which could be done to prevent this was handicapped by inadequacy of economic organization.

"The present stage in our industrial development," he continued, "calls for original thinking, for daring and adventurous thinking. There are 30,000 scientists in the United States who are trained for just this kind of thinking.

"These scientists, if given the opportunity, will provide the physical basis for a standard of living immeasurably superior to our present one."

Cites Power of Science.

Illustrating the power of science to make money for new business, Dr. Weidlein said:

"A new synthetic resin product made its appearance on the market in February, 1931, in a highly competitive field, and by November this new organization showed black figures and its business has more than doubled since January 1, 1932.

The oil which can not burn, said Mr. Swann, is under test for insulating electrical equipment in schools and institutions where fire from overheated oil might lead to disaster.

He said the research at present was secret and aimed at ultimately supplanting electrical transformer oil with the new fluid.

The safety oil is made from a substance called an aroclor, which in turn is derived from diphenly, a new industrial product used to supplant steam for the sort of work done by a steam pipe. Diphenly transfers heat through a pipe from one place to another better than steam.

Oklahoma Takes Lead in Job Drive

Total in Campaign Now Is 386,200, With Goal Set at 1,000,000.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Oklahoma today led 39 States as they ran the total jobs found for unemployed Americans since February 15 to 386,200.

Twelve Oklahoma communities contributed 2,893 of the day's total of 12,464. Oregon reported 1,802 new jobs toward the ultimate goal of 1,000,000, and New York contributed 1,344.

Minnesota continued to lead the Nation in the campaign directed by the united action of the American Legion, its auxiliary, the American Federation of Labor and Association of National Advertisers. It sent its total to 34,625 jobs found in 70 communities. New York, second with a 33,401 total, has amassed its figure from 132 communities. Pennsylvania's third place total of 26,002 has been contributed by 169 cities and towns.

Man Seized as Passer Of Bogus British Note

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Charged with participation in a ring passing counterfeit Bank of England notes, Thomas Achille, 42, was held in $10,000 bail today by United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill. Hearing was set for April 12.

Detectives said Achille, father of two children, had offered a counterfeit 5-pound English note to the American Exchange Co.—1 of 50 recently palmed off on exchanges. Assistant Federal Attorney Louis M. Treadwell said Achille had four convictions to his record, one for burglary in Baltimore, Md., in 1912.

Frankfort, Ky., March 30 (A.P.).—Commonwealth's Attorney William B. Ardery, of Paris, indicated today the Franklin County grand jury would be asked when it convenes Monday for the April term of court to investigate alleged irregularities in passage of bills at the recent session of the Kentucky Legislature.

The Commonwealth's attorney said summonses were prepared today subpenaing a number of witnesses from the capitol to appear before the grand jury. He said newspapermen would be asked to testify.

She will be a guest of the Chinese government. The services were delayed pending her arrival.

Extermination Is Predicted For Nation Losing Next War

Maj. de Seversky, Russian Ace and Now U. S. Citizen, Says Untold Horrors Will Be Wrought by Bombing Planes If New Conflict Is Undertaken.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Virtual extermination, says Maj. Alexander de Seversky, will be the fate of the nation that loses the next war.

The famous Russian ace painted a word picture today of what he thinks will happen when the next big war breaks out.

Because aviation will play such a big part in the combat, he said, there will be no front lines and every resident of every belligerent nation will be actually in the zone of fighting and danger, "for combat planes will take the horrors of the war right into the heart of every country involved."

"Fighting planes now can carry as much as 4,100 pounds of explosives," he continued, "and that load may be greatly increased as time goes on.

"If just one enemy plane were to slip by our air guards and drop that quantity of bombs along Fifth avenue, 40 buildings might be blown up.

"It would be possible to send the Empire State Building, even though it is 102 stories tall, crashing in a heap of ruins. Broken water mains would cause disastrous floods. Terrible fires would break out. Tens of thousands might be killed by those 4,100 pounds of explosives. Horror such as the world has never seen nor imagined would result.

"If a combat force of 50 planes got over here, they could easily destroy all of New York, Chicago or San Francisco and kill hundreds of thousands of our people."

But Maj. de Seversky thinks in one way large air forces will serve as instruments of peace.

"Realizing what a terrible and swift and destructive affair the next war will be," he said, "nations will hesitate long before throwing down the gauntlet."

The former Russian flier spoke reluctantly of his experiences during the war, when, as a boy of 19, he was shot down and lost a leg, only to go back to the front with an artificial limb and bring down 13 enemy ships. Then he was sent to America and later became a citizen and received an Army commission.

Over his desk hangs the photograph of a $50,000 check he received from the United States War Department—an indication of the value of some of the bombing devices he has invented for his adopted land.

Within six weeks he expects to fly a plane he is now building which, mathematical calculations indicate, will be the fastest amphibian in the world, with a speed of 215 miles an hour.

FESS HEAPS PRAISE ON FLEXIBLE TARIFF

Describes Provision as Most Progressive Step Taken in 40 Years.

(Associated Press.)

Characterizing the flexible provisions the "longest single step toward scientific tariff making ever taken by Congress," Senator Fess, of Ohio, yesterday continued the Republican defense of that section of the law. The Democrats are seeking to repeal it.

Fess, chairman of the Republican national committee, said to have Congress instead of the President act on recommendations of the tariff commission as proposed in the Democratic measure, would encourage "log rolling."

He said the chief purpose of the flexible provision, which he called the most "progressive" move in 40 years, was to take tariff making out of the range of log rolling and to prevent the disturbance to business resulting from general tariff revisions.

"If the purpose is to avoid log rolling," Fess said, "the final decision should be made by one mind instead of 500."

Defending the protective tariff system, Fess asked:

"How long could America continue her industry, maintaining the standard of living and scale of wages which we pay if we were in open competition with Germany, paying one-fifth the wage that we pay?"

Fess said Democrats almost without exception had shown their belief in the wisdom of tariff protection for individual articles.

"The only difference is that I'm for protection as a policy of the Government," he said. "Many of our Democratic friends are not."

Fess and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, argued over the proposal to create a consumers' counsel which the Ohioan termned "unnecessary, inconsistent, adding another bureau and setting up the idea you must have some one to represent the public."

Fess contended Congress took the public's interests fully into consideration in weighing tariff questions and asked that if a consumers' counsel were needed "why not one for labor or for the farmer."

$1,100,000 in Damages Sought on Grape Patent

Los Angeles, March 30 (A.P.).—A suit for $1,100,000 damages, alleging infringement of a patent, was filed against the Sunmaid Raisin Growers of California today.

The plaintiffs, Sam Avis and Abraham Y. Ameer, of Chicago, and Joseph Yonan and Jeremiah R. Baboo, of Gary, Ind., claimed that in 1921 they obtained a patent on a process for manufacturing grape juice and removing active fermentation. Since 1926, they alleged the Sunmaid Co. has used the same process and they asked, besides the damages, an injunction, an accounting and costs of the suit.

Cut of Day's Pay Brings Strike Among "Jobless"

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—About 100 jobless men given emergency work by the city dropped their picks and shovels in the Bronx today and announced they were on "strike" over the loss of a day's pay.

They protested in a body to Park Commissioner Thomas Dolen that $5.50 had been deducted from their wages because inclement weather prevented their working last Monday. He informed them they should have remained under shelters until noon in order to draw pay and announced they were "fired."

Yacht Death Case Figure Held Sane

Dr. Schultze, Erstwhile Medical Examiner, Was Collings Quiz Puzzle.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Dr. Otto H. Schultze, former district attorney's medical examiner, whose actions during the Collings murder case investigation aroused comment, was adjudged sane and able to conduct his own affairs by Supreme Court Justice Peter Schmuck today. A sheriff's jury, which had been conducting sanity hearings upon petition of the physician's wife, was dismissed.

Last September, at a coroner's inquest into the mysterious death of Benjamin P. Collings, Connecticut yachtsman, Dr. Schultze defied the coroner and district attorney of Suffolk County.

Two days later he was taken to a hospital for observation and treatment. Later he was placed in a sanitarium.

Col. Young Reveals Gains In Air Passenger Traffic

(Associated Press.)

American civil aircraft carried 2,389,862 passengers 141,729,107 miles during 1931.

Col. Clarence M. Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, said yesterday that scheduled air lines, including domestic routes and American-operated lines into Canada, Mexico, Central and South America, carried 522,345 passengers 47,385,987 miles.

Of these domestic scheduled air lines carried 469,981 passengers, compared with 374,935 in 1930. Miles flown totaled 42,949,836, compared with 31,992,634.

Express carried in domestic service totaled 1,320,215 pounds, compared with 2,760,207 pounds in 1930. Mail carried totaled 9,097,411 pounds against 7,985,010 and payments for carrying mail were $19,900,251, compared with $14,702,656.

Total miles flown by Americans in the foreign services were 4,630,570, compared with 4,952,569, and passengers carried were 52,364, compared with 42,570. Express flown was 363,289 pounds, compared with 109,048.

Miscellaneous flying operations were more than double those on scheduled lines. The total for this classification was 94,343,115 miles, compared with 108,269,760 miles in 1930. Passengers carried in miscellaneous operations totaled 1,867,517, compared with 2,298,341.

One of Two Robbers Taken After Bank Raid

Shreveport, La., March 30 (U.P.).—One of two bank robbers who robbed the bank of Bradley, Ark., of $3,000 today was captured several hours later near Plain Dealing, La., and identified by Jack Meeks, assistant bookkeeper of the bank. The man gave his name as Burt Houston and his age as 40.

Between $700 and $800 in currency, believed stolen from the bank, was found in a flour sack on the bank of a small stream and was said by officers to be part of the loot of the robbery. In Houston's pockets were found keys to an automobile abandoned on a road near Bolinger. The car is believed to have been the one in which the bandits escaped.

Wingless Autogiro Exhibition Put Off

Spanish Inventor Reveals Several Months of Work Yet Needed.

Madrid, March 30 (A.P.).—Juan de la Cierva, Spanish inventor of the autogiro, today told La Voz that his new wingless autogiro would not be ready for practical use for several months.

(On March 27 it was reported from London that Cierva had perfected a new flying machine, similar to the autogiro, which had no wings and could descend gently like a parachute. The machine is parked in a hangar at Hamble Airdrome, England.)

Cierva in an interview today said he was trying to make flying as simple as automobiling, believing such a development was the logical one for the greatest future in aviation. He said he did not think it was absurd or impossible to say that same day man would be able to fly to the moon, if means are discovered to harness atomic energy.

The Frigidaire Sales Corporation has installed offices in the northeast corner of Fourteenth and Rhode Island avenue northwest to provide a showroom for the public and dealers that is more centrally located than the former location at 1600 Eckington place northeast.

Drastic price reduction made recently as a result of a nation-wide survey which indicated that there were hundreds of thousands of people who would like to own a Frigidaire, but have deferred its actual purchase because of price will, according to the local dealers, result in a sales volume exceeding that of last year. Sales of Frigidaires last year totaled a greater volume than in any previous year.

STUDENTS PROTEST TO SENATORS TODAY

(Associated Press.)

Travel-stained and weary from their long hours in buses, more than 60 of the Eastern College students who were expelled from the Kentucky mine fields reached the Capital last night, a handful remaining and the others returning to New York.

Rob F. Hall, of Columbia University, leader of the party, said their complaint of rough handling in Kentucky would be laid today before Senator Costigan (Democrat), Colorado, and other senators.

Costigan is coauthor with Senator Cutting (Republican), New Mexico, of a resolution for a senatorial inquiry into conditions in Harlan and Bell counties, where the students sought to make an investigation of their own.

A committee of five, headed by Hall, and about a half-dozen student witnesses remained in Washington last night. The others plan a mass meeting in New York today as a protest against their treatment.

The committee members are Eleanor Curtis, of Columbia; Helen North, of Hunter College; Joe Leboit, of New York City College, and Margaret Bailey, of New York University.

The names of the senators who will join Costigan in hearing their protests remains to be determined, but the Coloradoan is inviting several of the members of the manufacturers committee, which is considering the resolution for the inquiry.

A MILLION DOLLAR STORM

WHERE WIND AND SLEET DID GREAT Ddamage

When the blizzard of Sunday, March sixth, swept through the Middle Atlantic States, it did nearly a million dollars worth of damage to the lines of The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Companies. The whirling wind tore down twelve thousand poles in a tangle of ice-covered wires. Twenty-three thousand telephones and a thousand inter-city circuits were silenced.

Telephone service has now been practically restored, but it will be many months before the work of repairing the damage will be completed. The cost of these repairs is one of the costs of furnishing telephone service. A certain amount each month is charged to expense for the purpose of maintaining a depreciation reserve, which includes provision for just such emergencies.

We wish to thank the telephone users for their patience during this time of inconvenience.

"Look at All Three!

BUT DON'T BUY ANY LOW-PRICED CAR UNTIL YOU'VE DRIVEN THE NEW PLYMOUTH WITH FLOATING POWER"

"It is my opinion that any new car without Patented Floating Power is obsolete."

THOUSANDS of people have been waiting expectantly until today before buying a new car. I hope that you are one of them.

Now that the new low-priced cars are here (including the new Plymouth which will be shown on Saturday) I urge you to carefully compare values.

This is the time for you to "shop" and buy wisely. Don't make a deposit on any automobile until you've actually had a demonstration.

It is my opinion that the automobile industry as a whole has never offered such values to the public.

In the new Plymouth we have achieved more than I had ever dared to hope for. If you had told me two years ago that such a big, powerful, beautiful automobile could be sold at the astonishing prices we will announce on Saturday . . . I'd have said it was absolutely impossible.

I have spent my life building fine cars. But no achievement in my career has given me the deep-down satisfaction that I derive from the value you get in this 1932 Plymouth. To me, its outstanding feature is Floating Power. We already know how the public feels about this. Last summer it was news, but today it is an established engineering achievement.

A Statement by Walter P. Chrysler

It is my opinion, and I think that of leading engineering authorities, that any new car without Floating Power is obsolete. Drive a Plymouth with Patented Floating Power, and note its utter lack of vibration . . . then drive a car with old-fashioned engine mountings and you will understand what I mean. There's absolutely no comparison.

We have made the Plymouth a much larger automobile. It is a BIG car. We have increased its power, lengthened the wheelbase and greatly improved its beauty.

In my opinion you will find the new Plymouth the easiest riding car you have ever driven. Yet with all these improvements we have been able to lower prices.

Again let me urge you, go and see the new Plymouth with Floating Power on Saturday. Be sure to look at all THREE low-priced cars and don't buy any until you do. That is the way to get the most for your money.

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

WHILE you are trying out the treatment I shall outline for acne and blemishes be sure that you never miss your daily bath and that you never leave powder or make-up on overnight. Take plenty of outdoor exercise. Watch your diet. Eat all you need for growing purposes, but don't overeat. Eat as many oranges, tomatoes and green vegetables as possible. Orange juice, tomato juice or a half lemon in a glass of water upon arising or before retiring will prove mildly laxative and regulating. These should be taken without sugar. Eat as few sweets and starchy foods as you can and please do cut down on chocolates. Above all, make sure that your digestive organs are functioning properly.

Elsie Pierce.

Now for the local treatment, but remember that patient care over a long period may be necessary and don't allow yourself to become discouraged.

Night Treatment.

Before you start your treatment wash your hands thoroughly with soap and warm water and scrub your nails with a nail brush. Then commence the treatment. First and foremost a good soaping is necessary. Use a mild soap. Wash with a clean, fresh wash cloth, the soap and warm water. Rub a rich lather over the entire face and neck, concentrating on the areas where there are blackheads and eruptions. Usually both are found in the same blemished skin. The treatment should be very gentle, however. If there is any irritation, you may follow with a cleansing cream. Remove thoroughly with tissues.

Now if there are blackheads or if some of the pimples have come to a head, you may try to remove them very gently, being careful not to bruise or break the skin. For the blackheads, cover fingertips with tissues or soft cloth. For the eruptions, sterilize a fine needle by dipping in antiseptic or passing through a flame, gently prick and empty the pus sacs and then dab each little spot with a pad of cotton moistened with camphor and niter. Keep a small bottle of it in your bathroom. Now follow by patting with a skin tonic to close the pores and stimulate the circulation. Last, apply a good antiseptic cream to heal and clear and leave on as long as convenient, preferably overnight.

Morning Treatment.

The morning treatment is simple. Repeat the soaping, rinse thoroughly, and dry. Follow with skin tonic, patting, or thorough dashing with cold water. Use as little make-up as possible. If you do use a little powder or rouge, it is well to protect the skin first with an antiseptic acne lotion that really has healing properties and also serves as a powder base, temporarily forming a film that conceals the blemishes. There are several such lotions on the market and they are a boon to the acne-blemished skin. If you do use powder, use only the best. This is very important. Use with a fluff of cotton, fresh for each application, instead of a puff. And pat your powder on lightly; do not rub.

If you have a blemished skin, be sure to write for my Health Rules, Diet and Exercises, as these will help you to a healthy system, which is the foundation for a clear skin.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

FIRST AID FOR FRACTURES.

THE American College of Surgeons undertakes to standardize surgical methods whenever that is possible. The advantage of this undertaking is the decrease in the use of poor methods and poor surgery generally. It has a great tendency to stop surgeons from doing the right thing in the wrong way, and from doing the wrong thing. The disadvantage lies in a proneness to stop progress. Whenever anything is standardized further improvement may come to a halt. Since nothing is perfect, the accepted way may be considerably different from the ultimate perfect.

The so-called standard methods are agreed on by committees appointed by the college. They are composed of men of wide experience. These men meet, discuss methods and experience, weigh evidence, discriminate between procedures, and, finally, make their recommendations. It is proper for the leaders to weigh the possibility that the achievements of the ultimate is hampered by the adoption of standards, by causing a changing something to set. On the other hand, the people with immediate problems, calling for an immediate service, are lucky in having standard procedures, and in finding surgeons who will use them.

One of the subjects on which the college issues a report of standard procedures is fractures of bones. This is entitled "The Principles and Outline of Fracture Treatment." The public is especially interested in that part of this report which deals with first aid in fracture cases.

The first and probably the most important bit of standardized advice is: When a fractured bone is reasonably suspected, splint it immediately. Except in the greatest emergency, such as removal from a burning building, the injured part should be splintered before there is any moving of the injured person, or much shifting of his position. Anybody can do the needed splinting. Any stiff material or object will answer the purpose—a walking cane, crutch, umbrella, board, piece of iron or leather, or even heavy cardboard. Any string or cloth will serve to tie the injured part to the protecting object. One should always act on reasonable suspicion. To await proof of fracture is unwise.

Whenever possible it is better to begin applying traction before removal, and as a part of the first-aid treatment. This can be done with one of the Thomas splints. Pull is made by bandages fastened around the ankle, wrist or other part, so as not to bind, and then passing over the crossbar of the splint. By using a nail to twist these bandages, a fair amount of traction can be made. The iron rods of the splint hold the limb in position and lessen the cutting effects of the jagged ends of the broken bone.

PROBABLY DUE TO DIET.

M. B. M. writes:

1. What is the cause of too much acid or too much alkali in the kidney?

2. What excretions are the symptoms?

3. What the cure.

REPLY.

1. The probable cause of too much acid is not drinking enough water and eating too much meat, bread and cereal. Gout and rheumatism are two other causes. The probable cause of too much alkali is eating too many potatoes and other vegetables and fruit. Taking soda is another cause.

2. Usually there are no symptoms.

3. In most cases hyperacidity can be changed by eating more potatoes and bananas and less meat, eggs, cereal and bread; too much alkalinity by eating more meat, eggs, cereal and bread and less potatoes, vegetables and fruit.

TRAINING IS NEEDED.

J. B. B. writes: What is the trouble with one when he feels nervous when he is going to make a public talk or lecture? I feel this nervousness every time I am invited out for dinner, and tremble so much that it is very noticeable at the table. I also do this if I am called on to play the piano in public, and usually make an awful mess of the piece. This trouble is not due to any physical defect because I have been examined by our family physician. If the trouble is just nervousness, as he said, it seems there should be something I could take to stop it.

REPLY.

There is nothing you can take for nervousness. Your case calls for training. Nothing else suffices.

You are suffering from fear and anxiety. Your fear of failure makes you tense and overanxious. The symptomes complained of are caused by your emotional state.

Train yourself in courage, relaxation and tranquillity.

NOSE BLEEDING.

Miss V. M. writes: Lately I have been bothered quite a bit by nose bleeds. I have had three in less than a week, two on successive days. What is the cause?

REPLY.

In old people repeated nose bleeds are apt to indicate arteriosclerosis. Probably nose bleed in this group does more good than harm, so long as it stays within bounds.

In rapidly growing youths it is apt to be a by-product of rapid growth. It may be due to ulcers of the nose, bleeding points in the nose and tumors. Certain diseases start with nose bleed as a symptom. You see, there is room for choice.

What Today Means

"ARIES.

IF March 31 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:20 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 4:30 p. m., and from 9:45 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger periods are from 6:30 a. m. to 8 a. m., and from 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

Both the man of thought and the man of action will meet with heartening prospects on March 31. Astrological influences should promote unusual feelings of consideration and affection and it should be a time of "peace and good will on earth." A renewal of old acquaintances.

Children born on this March 31 will tend to dodge work and responsibilities. They will do most things in life under the stimulation of necessity, and if the stimulation be strong enough will exhibit both brain and talent. They will have very sensitive, impressionable natures, and will often have their feelings stepped upon.

Born on March 31 you have a very tender-hearted and sympathetic nature. You are guided by your feelings more than your intellect. Your first hunches are nine times out of ten correct, and you generally regret not obeying them. You are often carried away by your sympathies and realize the miseries of the world too keenly to be a truly happy being. You are unable to shut your eyes or harden your heart toward the sordid things of life.

You have remarkable holding-on qualities and do not readily let go of anything which interests or appeals to you. You are the loyal friend who still sticks when others have deserted; you are the one, also, who tries once again when others have given up in despair. You have a super-abundance of faith, hope and optimism. Your troubles will come, not from quitting too soon, but from remaining too long in a fruitless place.

You are not a born student or an inveterate reader, but you try to keep well enough informed "to be in the know" of things. You are a follower of the human pack in most respects and never like to be out of fashion. You would often like to be a goat and graze in pastures of your own liking, but you lack both the nerve and initiative.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

270.

NOT A NOTRUMPER.

The value of a hand at Contract depends on two features—on honor-tricks and on distribution. Unless one has high cards—Aces, Kings and Queens—one can not hope to do much; but long and short suits and the pattern of the hand, generally, are hardly less important.

There is one type of hand that will play best at a suit bid; another type that will play more successfully at notrump. For a notrump bid a balanced hand is desirable. Long suits are useful when, with trump aid, one can establish them; short suits on a trump deal can be ruffed, but long suits and short suits alike may prove sad pitfalls in a notrumper.

Mr. Lupin (South) and Miss Pepys (North) were matched against Admiral Penge and Mr. Hake. The score was love-all in a Rubber game. Mr. Hake, sitting East, dealt and passed. Mr. Lupin bid one club. Pass from the Admiral. One diamond from Miss Pepys. Her hand is a poor one, but with 1½ honor-tricks, a biddable diamond suit and a void in clubs, she is bound to take out her partner's Opening bid.

Mr. Lupin now bid one spade (East-West never entering the arena), and Miss Pepys, after some thought, bid one notrump. She argued that she had already shown her diamonds and was drawing attention now to her Ace of hearts. But the bid is a bad one. Miss Pepys has a bare—a very bare—honor-trick minimum. She has bid her hand once already and after that should hold her peace. Any second bid is misleading.

Mr. Lupin, not satisfied with the two bids he had already made, now raised his partner to two notrump. This thoroughly scared Miss Pepys. Realizing, too late, how unsuitable her hand was for notrump, she sought refuge now in three diamonds. But you can not retreat at Contract; you can only advance. Mr. Lupin, who had already overbid his hand, was lured by his partner's seeming encouragement into yet another bid. He raised the contract to three notrump.

The disaster which followed need not be described in detail. Mr. Hake led the Queen of clubs, and, on getting in again with his Ace of diamonds, the nine of hearts, Miss Pepys lost her sole entry card before the diamonds were established. The contract was set for 700.

The bidding of North's hand is admittedly difficult, but with a holding like Miss Pepys', notrump should at all costs be avoided. The hand should have been played by South in one spade. North could make three diamonds, or perhaps four, but there is no sound method, as the cards lie, of arriving at a three diamond contract.

TODAY'S POINTER.

Minimum Takeout of Opening One Notrump Bid.

A bid of two in a suit, over an Opening one notrump, shows a five-card suit, headed by a Queen, at least, or a six-card suit, and from 1½ to 2½ honor-tricks in the hand.

Example:

1	♠ K J 9 6	1½
1	♡ A 10 9 7	1½
1	◇ A 6 5 4	1½
0	♣ 3	2
3 honor-tricks		6½ supporting-tricks at hearts

Responding Hand

1	♡ K J 5 4 3	3
0	◇ 7 3	0
1	♣ A 7 4	1
2 honor-tricks		4 playing-tricks at hearts

Opening Hand	Resp'd'g Hand
4♡

FRANCES M'DONALD

When Men Offend.

DEAR Frances McDonald: We read your column daily and we see that your advice is good. So we are writing in hopes that you will be able to advise us.

We are two girls each of 14 years. We go to a private school and in the morning we usually walk. On the way we seem to attract very much attention from the opposite sex. We are quite good looking and dress as a junior high-school girl should. We do not try in any way to attract attention but seem to get it anyway. In school we are popular with both girls and boys. If we are walking in back of a group of girls we seem to be the only ones who attract this peculiar attention. We are not imagining this, as we have noticed it greatly in the past two months. We ask your best advice on this subject and hope you will print this letter in the paper and we will be very thankful for your help.

On the street when we pass some men they nearly always say some wise crack to us, the same with boys between 15 and 20 years. What is our trouble? B AND C.

Lend an ear, children, for we are going to tell you a story. It starts away back when we were young and fair with a brand-new job on the New York World. We were, to be exact, just 18. And we were summoned to the editor's desk and told that we were to be sent to sell goods on the road just like a traveling man so that the women readers could read our experiences each Sunday in the gorgeous color section. Were we thrilled? And then the trouble started. All the aunts and uncles pounced on mother and forbade it—especially the uncles. But mother said: "A real lady is always quite safe, and if she is not a real lady now she never will be and I have wasted 18 years of my life." Were we proud of mother?

But the trouble was not yet over. Next day we appeared at the office of a big concern whose cough drops we were to sell all over the South. We felt very important. But not for long. The vice president of the company was in the sales manager's office when we appeared. He was introduced, and informed that we were to represent the firm. He looked at the sales manager, and in a very quiet voice said, "Have you lost your mind?" Then ensued the most lively argument we had ever heard. Of course, we finally took part. We told the vice president that a real lady was always quite safe, and we said it in a way that indicated the argument was over. He walked to a door marked "private" in letters large and bright, and, opening it, he summoned the best-looking man we had ever seen—or ever will. He was the president of the company, and he sauntered out and sat on the sales manager's desk, smiling and serene. Both men began to talk at once. He just kept on smiling at us until they stopped for breath. What he said then answers your question as to why men say things as you pass by. He said:

"It isn't because a girl is young or good looking that men annoy her. It's because she is that kind of girl." He said a lot of other things, and finally: "Beauty without breeding lays a woman open to approach and insult. The young lady has breeding, and I lay you a thousand every man she meets will want to look out for her and protect her—just as you two right now are fighting each other because each of you in a different way is thinking of how best to help her. The little lady is perfectly safe." And he got down off the desk and held out a big strong hand and wished us luck.

That cough-drop king was right. We covered seven States and heaven knows how many cities. We sold cough drops by the barrel. We slept in Pullmans where we were the only women. We arrived at strange hotels at 1 in the morning or whenever the train happened to arrive. For months we scarcely met a woman. Men, men, men. Angel men. They boosted our cough drops all along the route. They asked for them everywhere they went. They held umbrellas over us. They flagged trains for us. They told their customers to look out for us. But did they ever try to annoy us? Not one man out of the thousands that got to know the "girl from N. Y." And that's the story. The moral is this: A man at a glance gets a teletype history of a woman. She has reserve or she has not. If she looks approachable, anything may happen. If she looks the way every man in his heart wishes every woman would look, he is at her service, ready to stand between her and any harm on earth—including himself.

So, now while you are 14, decide whether you want every man at your service, or—well, at last wondering whether you are or whether you are not. Men are so wonderful when we ask the best. There is no limit to the nobility buried in man's disappointed, disillusioned soul. Believe that and you will inspire rather than incite, and grown to womanhood you will find men for you, forever—all of the way. Start today.

Advice on Gardening

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

WOULD you kindly advise me concerning gladiolus and tulip bulbs after their season of blooming is over? Should they be left in the ground throughout the winter or be taken up and allowed to dry out and then be stored for replanting in the spring? And can the tiny little bulblets which form around the parent bulbs be put to any use? EDWIN M.

Tulips should be left in the ground. Gladiolus must be watered until the leaves have turned yellow. Given this treatment the bulbs ripen naturally. They must, however, be taken indoors before frost as they are not hardy as are tulip bulbs. Plant the bulblets as you do the larger bulbs. When they have attained sufficient growth they will bloom.

How should an African violet be watered? Should the polygonum auberti be cut back, if so when and how much? W. S.

Water your African violet, when growing, every day and when it is resting give it water only three times a week. Prune a polygonum in the early spring, cutting away any wood that has been winter killed. Also any branches which if left uncut would be likely to give a matted effect. All strong climbers require frequent pruning to keep the vines within bounds.

Could you tell me if it will save annuals and spring-planted bulbs from insects and disease if you place mothballs at regular intervals in the soil where they are growing? L. M. K.

No, it will not.

I have two geranium plants which were started from cuttings in the fall. They are in a sunny window and have developed into fine sturdy plants, but all their energy seems to be used in forming foliage. Each leaf is large and perfectly formed, but what I want is flowers. What treatment must I give the plants to induce them to set buds? MISS M. M.

The warm spring sunshine will likely coax them into bloom. Plants started in the fall should begin to bloom about April 1. They should be kept in small pots and be watered only every other day. Geraniums to bloom well must be kept on the dry side and must be a trifle pot-bound.

I have some sweet Williams that have been growing in the border all winter. The heads of the plants are very well developed, but the branches seem spindly and weak. Would you advise me to remove the weak shoots, leaving only the strongest intact? Can columbine and foxglove be moved into the border at this time? G. O. B.

When the weather permits I would suggest removing the weak shoots. Sweet Williams like a warm soil and one that is never too wet. The plants will die out quickly if the soil is not well drained. They should be divided often, else the plants will choke themselves out. Sweet Williams should be treated as a biennial, sowing the seed each year. Unless propagated each year the plants and flowers are not so large. Do not transplant columbine and foxglove until you are sure all danger from frost is over.

Please tell me how to increase my stock of day lilies. MRS. GEORGE F. D.

The Homemaker

By NANCY CAREY

Thick Clam Chowder Is Baked in Oven.

A THICK clam chowder for tomorrow's evening meal—as a part of a supper rather than a dinner menu by way of variation. Suppers of a hearty "pottage," a good "batch o' muffins" and a green salad are always a relief to Madam Homemaker who has ever before her mind's eye the endless question of "what shall we have for dinner?"

Nor is it necessary that we always think of meat, potatoes, vegetables, salad and dessert as necessary to our evening meal, for there are calories, vitamins and appetizing nutriment aplenty in such a meal as this plan of ours for tomorrow.

FRIDAY'S DINNER.

Thick Clam Chowder
Graham Gems
Russian Vegetable Salad
Preserved Cherries
Nut Cookies
Coffee or Tea

Thick Clam Chowder.

1 quart clams—hard shell
2 cupfuls potatoes—cut in small pieces
2 large onions—minced
1 teaspoonful minced garlic—about two cloves
1 green pepper—minced
2 tomatoes—cut in pieces
2 slices fat bacon—cut thick
3 tablespoons melted butter
Cracker crumbs
Salt and pepper to taste

Place the garlic, pepper, onions, tomato and minced bacon together and add salt and pepper. With a bit of this bacon or bacon fat grease the inside of casserole dish and place in it a first layer of cut potatoes, then a sprinkling of minced seasonings, a layer of clams, then a sprinkling of cracker crumbs and dot the crumbs with butter. Repeat this until the materials are used, then pour over the whole any liquid from the clams and additional boiling water to make a pint of liquid. Have last layer of buttered crumbs. Cover closely and bake in a moderate oven for about a half hour.

Graham Gems.

½ cupful white flour
1 cupful graham flour
Pinch of salt
3½ teaspoons baking powder
1 egg well beaten
2-3 cupful sweet milk

Sift the flour and baking powder. Add salt, the egg and then the milk, using a little less than the given quantity in order to make a stiff batter. Place in buttered gem pans and bake for about 15 minutes in a hot oven.

Russian Vegetable Salad.

1 cupful cooked and diced carrots
1 cupful cooked and diced potatoes
1 cupful cooked peas
1 cupful cooked string beans cut in small pieces

Marinate the vegetables in French dressing and arrange on bed of lettuce, dividing the vegetables into four sections. Add boiled salad dressing and garnish with sprigs of parsley, chopped whites of hard-cooked eggs and egg yolks forced through ricer, arranging the yolks in lines dividing the vegetables into sections.

Boiled Mayonnaise Dressing.

2 eggs
½ cupful water
½ cupful vinegar
3 tablespoonfuls sugar
3 teaspoonfuls flour
Dash red pepper
1-3 tablespoonful salt
1-3 teaspoonful mustard
3 teaspoonfuls butter

Mix the dry ingredients and add the butter, water and vinegar. Stir and cook over hot water until smooth. Beat the eggs and add a few spoonfuls of the hot mixture gradually, beating all the time. Return egg mixtue to double boiler and cook until it thickens, continuing the beating. The dressing may be thinned, if desired, by adding a little cream or lemon juice.

Nut Cookies.

1 cupful English walnuts chopped
2 tablespoonfuls butter
1 egg
1 cupful bown sugar
1 cupful flour
1 teaspoonful vanilla

Mix ingredients and drop from a teaspoon onto a buttered pan and bake in a moderate oven.

Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Simple and elegant ensemble of mandarin wool, with scarf collar of nutria and interesting blouse effect. (From Molyneux, Paris.)

NEW YORK, March 30.—Lucien Lelong, couturier and sincere friend of women is in America on a visit. And for all the reporters who besieged him, for all the pearls of wisdom they expect him to drop, all he says is "simplicity—individuality."

Which are abut the pearliest pearls he could drop, as a fact. For true simplicity is real individuality, you see. And simplicity in dressing is about the cleverest thing a woman can do—as well as the most difficult.

Simplicity is knowing what not to wear. In relation to yourself, not in relation to style, taste or occasion. And in knowing what to wear, a woman has to know herself, and thus dress to emphasize her own personality—by not overdressing, overdecorating her individuality and thus submerging it. The more simply you dress, the better you show up.

But simplicity today is a fine art. A sack with four holes cut in it would be simple—but scarcely intelligent. Not of this simplicity do we speak, nor M. Lelong. But of the elaborate, planned, cultivated and artistic simplicity that the mode offers Miladi today, and a few, very few, women are able to accept and put to their own advantage.

* * * *

So-o-o-o-o-o, I think we will start a little series. Of what to wear and when, just to review our taste, what? Starting today with morning wear. And that means for any morning occasion, spring and summer mornings, of course, and also of course, for town wear. Country mornings are something else again. City mornings mean walking, shopping, school, and business. Of course for school and business one does not change, and it is what is known as morning wear that is appropriate for these.

* * * *

One looks and sees such astonishingly low prices in ready to wear things that it seems just a shame to make 'em. Then one looks and sees mar-ve-looooous values in yard goods, 'specially remnants, and Clever Fingers itch to get to work again on making something! And then there are the special things we want which are hard to buy ready made, such as an underskirt and guimpe for that Six-in-One dress we designed for you a few weeks ago. So what? Well, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which tells you how to make this.

* * * *

Just another supremely elegant and calculatingly simple Molyneux suit, this time of mandarin colored wool, with a blouse of crepe the same color, and a scarf collar of nutria. Morning wear; this, and how chic for any morning, or business!

* * * *

The smartest evening slippers for the coming season will be those of satin or crepe which match the gown. Or sharply contrast it, as red, which is a favorite evening slipper color for the black or white gown. Nothing "depressing" about this, is there? Especially when you know that the average dancing slipper lasts two evenings only—if you are lucky!

Au revoir!

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE HOUSE TAX PROGRAM.

IF you'd lift a nation's debt
There's no need to fume and fret:
Economic learning? Scat!
Get some rabbits and a hat.

II.

Utter words both weird and quaint—
Look for money where it "ain't;"
Kill the goose and shoot the hen—
Talk of things that might have been.

III.

Tax a nonexistent beer,
Tax estates that disappear,
For a levy loudly roar
On an income that's no more;

IV.

Tax the rich man on a lot
Of the coin he hasn't got—
Lift the debt by taxes high
On a golden stream that's dry.

V.

"Sock the rich!" should be your yell—
That's a program always swell;
Never mind the rhyme or reason—
It goes good in any season.

VI.

SOAK 'em (it is quite the fad)
On the things they might have had;
Spout about the gold you'll tear
From the wealth no longer there.

VII.

Get the money from a list
Of estates that don't exist;
What if it can not be done?—
Thank of all the good clean fun!

VIII.

Facts and figures? Fie! and bah!
Act without such things!. Hat-cha!
Never mind the experts; they
Cramp a solon's style of play.

IX.

Snatch the money from the air—
Even if it isn't there;
Buy a dream book; it will aid
Uncle Sam to make the grade!

X.

Never mind about a plan—
It's a nuisance to a man;
Knowledge doesn't really matter—
All that counts is goofy chatter.

XI.

Solve the problem easily—
Tax estates that used to be;
Shout a lot, harangue your hearers—
It's all done with little mirrors!

OUT OF THE SAME TAP.

THE House rejected the proposal for a tax on beer, but sustained one on gasoline, which tastes about the same these days.

Prohibition Fair To Show Speakeasy

A speakeasy will be one of the featured exhibits at the prohibition fair to be held in Washington Auditorium April 17 to April 23, it was announced yesterday by William Rufus Scott, director of the fair.

Suggestion to include a speakeasy was made by Senator Millard E. Tydings, of Maryland, but at first those in charge of the fair did not think the idea sufficiently novel. This opinion was changed when Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, chairman of the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, sponsoring the fair, arrived in Washington yesterday and urged that the speakeasy be featured.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT all goes to show the fallacy of a morning newspaper fellow's ever trying to take a night off.

When I nudged The Post's revolving door early yesterday morning at approximately 1 o'clock in the afternoon, three of the boys at the counter chorused in unison, "Mr. Collier of the Rialto wants to see you." In the elevator there was a note saying, "Mr. Collier of the Rialto wants to see you." When I stopped off at the city room, there was a message in my mail box, "Mr. Collier of the Rialto wants to see you." Arriving at the palatial Sunday suite on the fifth floor, I discovered that a slip of paper had been thrust through the mail slot, bearing, to all intents and purposes, the intelligence, "Wednesday, 1:30 a. m. Mr. Collier of the Rialto wants to see you."

By this time I had begun to suspect that maybe Mr. Collier of the Rialto wanted to see me. And just then he walked in.

"Just wanted to let you know about the new policy over on Ninth street," quoth he, "but I looked for you nowhere last night and couldn't find you every place, or am I a little too involved?"

As if I hadn't already begun to have a hunch!

For they have been dangling around the fringes of a new stage policy for a good many weeks now over at the Rialto—Managing Director Ravenscroft, Rodney Collier, Mr. Wallach and the rest of them—trying to determine once and for all precisely what is available and how satisfactorily the limited Rialto stage could be made to accommodate it. Organized vaudeville or revue units would require a considerable rebuilding of the entire proscenium end of the theater. "Presentations" are more or less passe, so what?

Tuesday night Mr. Ravenscroft returned from New York on the Congressional with the fixed policy of "big names" in addition to the screen entertainment finally decided upon as a fixture of future bills at the Rialto, beginning with the personal appearance the week of Saturday, April 9, of Lilyan Tashman, the cinema's best-dressed beauty, in conjunction with an elaborate style revue.

This, by the way, will mark a reversion to the former custom of inaugurating the new bills on Saturday, instead of Friday as had been done for several months past.

After Miss Tashman, the week of April 16, Dorothy Mackaill, another of the screen's most attractive blondes, will come to the Rialto in a specially staged act that has elicited enthusiastic acclaim wherever it has been presented.

Mr. Ravenscroft had hardly got off the train Tuesday night before Herb Gordon and his Whispering Orchestra from Wardman Park had been signed on the dotted line to provide the musical embellishments of these augmented bills.

And all this time this department was being paged at five-minute intervals by these earnest gentlemen eager to get their announcement in the morning prints.

Even if I had been down at the fights in Alexandria, I am given to understand that the feature brawl between Mr. Jack Portney, of Baltimore, and Mr. "Stumpy" Jacobs, of Hopewell, Va., would not have been worth it.

I liked some of the other bouts, though!

Funny the way things happen.

A few days ago, in commenting upon the many extraordinary features of "Tarzan, the Ape Man," at the Columbia, this column observed that Johnny Weissmuller, in the name part, soars through the treetops like an Alfred Codona of the jungles who could give cards and spades to any of the circus aerialists in the wide sweep and hazardous scope of his trapezing.

Come to find out, it WAS Alfred Codona, wintering in California, who executed the long-shot aerial stunts as a double for the star whose forte is the water rather than the air. I am informed by Mr. Melvin D. Hildreth, who knows all about the circuses—or do you prefer "circi"?—and their people, that one of Cadona's swings in the picture traveled through an arc of some 70 feet at a high elevation.

In addition to some of the pet performers from the Gay lion farm, many of the Al G. Barnes menagerie animals were employed as atmosphere in "Tarzan." The Barnes show winters at Barnes City, not far from Hollywood. In the scene in which Tarzan seems to be transported out of danger by an elephant who carries him with his head in his—the elephant's—mouth, it was "Cheerful" Gardner who performed the stunt with one of his tan bark pachyderms from the big tops. Mr. "Cheerful" Gardner, incidentally, derives his nickname from the fact that he has never yet been discovered with a pleasant expression on his face!

To make up the entire herd of elephants, with their flapping ears fastened on with safety pins and court plaster, it was necessary to draw to some extent, too, upon the resources of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, likewise wintering in the vicinity.

But what a picture!

One of the most remarkable demonstrations of sustained grip upon the interest of the picture-going public is that being currently afforded by Richard Barthelmess in "Alias the Doctor," at the Earle.

Since his first rise to eminence in David Wark Griffith's "Broken Blossoms," Barthelmess has been one of the cinema's most reliable box-office attractions. At the Earle this week, while the house attendance record probably will not be broken, exceptional business is being recorded, as may be gathered from the fact that with close of business last night the receipts exceeded any average week in the general run of motion picture theaters.

House capacities considered, this comes dangerously near giving the Earle the leadership for the week, with the Columbia, RKO-Keith's and the Fox fighting it out in the run through the stretch.

And while we think of it, don't forget that Helen Hayes comes to the National Theater Monday night in Ferenc Molnar's delightful comedy, "The Good Fairy," a mad, merry story of sophisticated modern life, in which the star appears as a little, semisophisticate, serving as usher in a movie palace.

The story begins in a Budapest hotel, with the young usherette dining with an American business man. It ends with an old lawyer saying goodby to a pencil sharpener! In between, there is much that Molnar has written in his most engaging manner and that Miss Hayes plays gorgeously, supported by a cast personally selected by Gilbert Miller.

"The Pied Piper of Hamlin" is being presented the last three days of this week by the Girl Reserves of the Y. W. C. A., in Barker Hall, Seventeenth and K streets, as the sixth annual operetta offered by the organization. Tonight's performance is invitational, but tomorrow and Saturday the presentations will be open to the public at moderate prices of admission. Saturday's matinee performance will be especially for children.

Another new burlesque troupe will make its bow to Washington under the banner of the Columbia "wheel" on Sunday afternoon, when the attraction at the Gayety Theater will be the "Jazz Babies," with Miss Jean Williams, a stately blonde, the feminine star and Bobby Vail, chief comic. Swell support and a dizzy chorus, of course!

The new week in the motion-picture house will witness the following: Palace, Jean Harlow and Walter Huston in "The Beast of the City;" Jean Harlow, in person, on the stage, and Don Barclay and Bert Frohman, in Loew's "Westward, Hi-Ho" revue; Earle, Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald, in "One Hour With You," and Robert Chisholm headlining the vaudeville; Fox, Sally Eilers and Spencer Tracy, in "Disorderly Conduct," and Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, with Fanchon & Marco's "Black and White" idea on the stage; RKO-Keith's, Helen Twelvetrees, in "Young Bride," and Roxy's Gang headlining the vaudeville; Rialto, Norman Foster and June Clyde, in "Steady Company;" Metropolitan, Pat O'Brien and Mae Clarke, in "The Final Edition;" Columbia, Johnny Weismuller and Maureen O'Sullivan in "Tarzan, the Ape Man," second week.

Master Norman Pyle, formerly in charge of advertising and publicity for the Loew houses in Washington, and later touring office manager for Leo, the lion, M-G-M's milk-fed trademark, arrived in the Capital yesterday afternoon as advance guard of an army of high-pressure tub-thumpers to invade our fair city under command of "Bill" Ferguson, of the New York home office, to light a lot of fires under "The Wet Parade," the attraction to follow "Tarzan, the Ape Man," at the Columbia.

Hi, feller!

And now, Mr. Senator, if you can manage about that 4 per cent beer before the Bock season is over, it will be all right with us!

Changes in Water Bill System Recommended

Changes in the methods of reading meters and billing water consumers by the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission is urged in a resolution unanimously adopted by the Citizens Association of Section 8, Chevy Chase, Md. The resolution will be brought to the attention of the Montgomery Civic Federation, the Montgomery County commissioners, the Governor of Maryland and to the citizens' associations and governing bodies of the incorporated towns and taxing areas in the western suburban district.

The resolution was prepared by a committee which included P. E. Griffin, W. E. Pledger, J. Harry Welch and Dr. G. E. Grozier. The association approved the proposal to rename streets in the suburban area to avoid duplication and confusion and opposed change in zoning of the property of Helen K. Winfield in the Bethesda area to commercial from residential.

It will play one-night stands in about 75 cities and towns, and its company of 125 will include about 20 stage stars of the first magnitude.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

THE movement in Congress to make "radio pay its own way" is gaining momentum. In addition to the 5 per cent sales tax on the selling price of radio sets adopted by the House, which would yield $11,000,000, those having to do with radio legislation on the hill are working on the proposition of requiring a radio station to pay a license fee.

Some experts, however, have questioned the wisdom of a fee system for licenses based on power output of a station. Many thoughtful persons, familiar with the radio field, seem to be convinced that a more equitable system of taxation would be one based on net profits.

Commercial stations which are making a profit with the facilities granted them by the Government would undoubtedly gladly pay a reasonable tax, while many educational institutions, church stations, &c., now operating at a loss, would find such a tax quite burdensome.

It has been suggested by the radio commission that those at the Capitol who are trying to find a solution for the problem would be in a position to work out a fair and equitable fee system for licenses, based on profits of stations, better when the radio commission submits its data to the Senate in response to a resolution calling for a compilation of all receipts and expenditures of stations, together with the sources of revenue.

"O THE Raggedy man, he works for Pa
And he's the goodest man ever you saw.
He comes to our house every day,
An' waters the horses and feeds 'em hay."

Helen Webb Zeller will offer this famous poem of James Whitcomb Riley tomorrow night at 7:30, o'clock over Station WOL. She also will give three extracts from "As You Like It," including "Seven Stages of Man."

An address by former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, speaking under the auspices of the Democratic national committee, will be heard during the Lucky Strike Dance Hour at 10 p. m. tonight. The musical program will feature Jack Denny and his orchestra playing their inaugural appearance at the Empire Room of the Waldorf-Astoria.

THE 200th anniversary of the birth of Franz Josef Haydn, Austrian composer, will be commemorated in a program of his works to be broadcast over WRC at 11:35 o'clock tonight. Haydn was the first great master of the symphony and the string quartet.

The program will include the first movement of his "Surprise Symphony," and excerpts from "The Seasons." Cesare Sodero will conduct the symphony orchestra. Amy Goldsmith, soprano; Harold Branch, tenor, and Theodore Webb, barytone, will be the soloists.

Miss Lippmann introduced Martha to magazine readers in 1912, and the stories were afterward published in book form. "Martha by the Day" also has been seen on the stage and in the movies.

JOHNSON CEASES TO WORRY OVER NATS' PITCHING

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

Biloxi, Miss., March 30.

IN the background as Joe Kuhel and Joe Judge battle for the regular first base job with the Washington Ball Club towers the generously proportioned figure of Herr Heinie Manush, hitherto regarded only as an outfielder.

Walter Johnson today laughed off the possibility that Herr Heinie would be given a first baseman's glove and told to get into the fight for the regular infield post, and then he stroked his one-day growth and said, by George, that the Nats with Manush on first base would be as well fixed at the position, if not better, than a couple of other clubs in the league.

Heinie would do very well at first base for the Nats in case of emergency, Johnson declared. Yep, there were lots of reasons to believe that the big Dutchman could go back to his first love—first basing—and do an acceptable job of it, for Washington or any other ball club. This business of Heinie playing first might become serious.

Herr Heinie broke into the Pacific League in 1920—it was then the West Coast League—as a first baseman, but his superior slugging converted him into an outfielder and he put in his years with the Tigers, Browns and Nats in the outer sectors of the diamond, but he has always had a yearning to play first again.

Suppose, for instance, that both Joey Kuhel and Joe Judge were hurt. Johnson would feel no qualms in sending Manush to first base, he said today. Or suppose, perhaps, that neither Kuhel nor Judge hit up to expectations. Manush's batting power would be very welcome, indeed, at first base.

The conditions on the Washington Club make it a very easy task for Manager Johnson to effect the transition of Manush from the outfield to first base if his batting power were needed there. Available for the Washington outfield, and now sitting on the bench, is Sam Rice, who is playing the best ball of all the Nats down here this spring, and whose presence in the outfield with his lifetime batting average of .323 would hardly weaken the outfield one whit.

It might not be fair, of course, to Kuhel and Judge to inject the hard-hitting Manush into the first base battle, but in this case necessity might very well be the mother of necessity if the weak hitting of the two regular first basemen threatened the Nats' pennant chances.

And with Sam Rice waiting and eager to fill Manush's place in the outfield, Manager Johnson could transplant Herr Heinie in the infield with the knowledge that his outer defense would not be sacrificed.

Herr Heinie's first base possibilities are not predicated on the fact that he converted his first chance at first base in twelve years into a triple play last Tuesday against the Baltimore Orioles. Heinie can shift his feet around that bag, and his arm is just the type for the snap throws required of a first baseman. Moreover, he is left-handed, a natural asset for a first sacker.

This correspondent has seen Dale Alexander perform at first base for Detroit and Eddie Morgan attempt to play the bag for Cleveland, and he is ready to depost that Manush at this writing is a better first baseman than either of these men who are holding down regular jobs.

It has been the good fortune of the Washington Club to boast efficient, if not brilliant first basemen for the past 25 years. Joe Judge guarded the sack in nonpariel fashion for sixteen years, and before him was Chick Gandil, of Black Sox fame. Preceding Gandil was another clever first baseman, Bob Unglaub.

In between times the Nats have had title to such recognized performers at first base as George Sisler, Art Shires, Mule Shirley and

Four 1931 Champs Win; Farrell Stops McGowan.

ELEVEN knockouts, one of them coming after two seconds and two clouts on the chin, featured last night's opening rounds of the annual District A. A. U. boxing championships at Portner's Arena. The two-second knockout was accomplished by Louie Gevinson, of the Boys Club, over Harry Goldblatt, unattached, in the initial round of the bantamweight division.

Five hours of toe-to-toe slugging, amateur only in caste, made up the first night of the gentlemanly beak smearing. Every active class, from the peanut flyweights to the ponderous weavings of the heavyweights, produced a sleeping act or promoted a towell throwing act, as the big field moved into the semifinal, and, in some instances, the final rounds, which will be decided Saturday night.

Only one division was unrepresented last night, the 175-pound class, in which Gus Mirman, of the J. C. C., will meet Kirkwood Burke for the title. It will be one of the Saturday night features.

Two defending champions, Mickey O'Connor, middleweight, and Mike Tardugno, featherweight, returned victorious last night, while two 1931 champions now fighting in a heavier class, Louie Gevinson and Leon Shub, also were on the winning side of the fence.

O'Connor Forced To Battle.

O'Connor, representing the Boys Club, had difficulty with George Chappel, of the Knights of Columbus, but floored the Casey in the second round. Tardugno, J. C. C. ace, mopped up the ring with Ollie Dreiser, Boys Club, before disposing of him near the end of the first round. Shub, another J. C. C. color bearer, fighting for the first time as a lightweight, turned the lights out on Walter Smith, unattached, in two rounds, while Gevinson, last year's flyweight champ, looked more than impressive in his first bantam brawl.

Earl Dixon, American Legion 112-pounder, started the long night of knockouts by destroying Tom Walker, of the J. C. C., in the third round of

Women Favorites Win at Pinehurst

Mrs. Hill and Miss Orcutt Easily Win in North and South Golf.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 30 (A.P.).—Mrs. Opal S. Hill, of Kansas City, and Maureen Orcutt, of Englewood, N. J., favorites to meet in the finals, easily won their second round matches in the women's North and South golf tournament today.

Miss Orcutt beat Mrs. J. J. Lawlor, of New Rochelle, N. Y., 6 and 5, and finished out her round for a 74, 3 under women's par. Except for 3 putts on the first green and inability to negotiate a stymie on the ninth, her golf was near perfect. Miss Orcutt tomorrow meets Mrs. Sarah F. Wadsworth, of Pittsburgh, who had the day's closest match with Mrs. Leo Federman, of New York.

Mrs. Hill played easily, but encountered game opposition from young Kathryn Bragaw, of West Orange, N. J. Miss Bragaw was four down at the turn, largely because of trouble she had with traps on the seventh and ninth holes, but she stiffened on the incoming nine and forced Mrs. Hill to go to the sixteenth to win. In the top bracket tomorrow Mrs. Hill meets Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, former Southern champion, who beat Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., 6 and 5, today.

$10,000,000 IS TAX FACED BY FANS

Football, Boxing and Baseball Would Be Hit by Bill.

NEW YORK, March 30 (A.P.).—American sports, led by football, baseball and boxing, figure to contribute close to $10,000,000 toward balancing the 1932 national budget, under the provisions of the bill adopted by the House today for a 10 per cent tax on all athletic admissions over 46 cents.

College football, heretofore exempt from taxation, will be the heaviest single contributor. Even with a prospective shrinkage in gate receipts and school games exempted, the gridiron sport figures all told to collect from $20,000,000 to $30,000,000 at the turnstiles and pay an approximate total tax of $2,500,000.

In peak seasons, the football receipts at such major universities as Harvard, Yale, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Southern California, have exceeded $1,000,000 each.

Other college sports, with the exception of basket ball and some of the big classics, such as the Harvard-Yale and Poughkeepsie regattas and the intercollegiate championship meets, do not collect much in the way of gate receipts.

Million From Major League Games.

On the basis of last year's major league baseball receipts, which were close to $10,000,000 and also untaxed, the American and National League clubs would contribute another $1,000,000 in taxes.

Minor league baseball figures can only be speculated upon, but probably another million would be derived from this source. In comparatively few towns are any admissions scaled at less than a half dollar for baseball. Even for the exhibition spring games they run as high as $1.50 for grandstand seats.

Boxing, curiously enough, figures to benefit from the new tax program, especially so far as the buyer of the high-priced tickets and the promoter are concerned. This would result from the general application of a 10 per cent Federal tax in place of the present graduated levy of 10 per cent on $3 to $5 tickets and 25 per cent on all tickets costing more than $5.

Galleryites Would Suffer.

"The new tax bill will hit the pocketbooks of the boys who sit in the galleries or other cheap seats, while benefiting the ringside patron," said a representative of the Madison Square Garden Corporation. "For example, a $10 ticket now calls for a $3 tax, 25 per cent Federal and 5 per cent State tax. Under the new law, the total tax would be $1.50, a 50 per cent reduction."

The present high Federal tax on boxing admissions, which promoters regard as oppressive, has had the effect of making most of the big outdoor fight shows risky, if not actually losing ventures.

Wrestling, six-day bicycle races, professional football, horse-racing and soccer combined likely would constitute an additional $1,000,000 in taxes.

From tenis and golf the benefits to the public treasury on a 10 per cent tax basis would be comparatively negligible, except for a few of the big national tournaments. Last year the four major golf championships drew only about $30,000 altogether in gate receipts.

Shaw Sets New Mark For 4-Cylinder Autos

Los Angeles, March 30 (A.P.).—A new mark for four-cylinder automobile racing cars was set on Muroc Drylake today by Wilbur Shaw, Los Angeles racer, who was timed by American Automobile Association officials at 137.25 miles per hour.

The international record was 136.98 and was held by Kaye Done, British racer, while the American record of 130.64 was held by Ernie Triplett, Los Angeles racer.

Indoor Quarterfinals For Miss M. Palfrey

Brookline, Mass., March 30 (A.P.).—Miss Mianne Palfrey of Brookline, reached a challenging position today in the quarter-finals of the women's national indoor singles tennis championship by defeating Mrs. John Van Ryn, the former Marjorie Gladman, an intercollegiate titlist, in straight sets, 6—4 and 6—2. Miss Palfrey won the championship in 1930, but was unseeded in the present tournament.

In another quarter-final match, Miss Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, the top seeded player, defeated Mrs. William V. Hestor, of New York, 6—2, 6—2.

Miss Marjorie Sachs, of Cambridge, the defending champion, eliminated Mrs. William Shedden, of Boston, 8—6, 6—3.

Miss Virginia Rice, of Brookline, overcame Miss Dorrance Chase, of Obridge, 9—7 and 6—4.

By PAUL MICKELSON.

CHICAGO, March 30 (A.P.).—Armed with mild to radical rule change proposals, designed to eliminate stalling and speed up the game, scores of the Nation's master minds of amateur basket ball gathered in Chicago tonight for their annual meeting and rule clinic.

Almost to a man, the coaches, representing universities, colleges and high schools, were agreed that stalling must be stopped, but many of them were at odds on just what method should be employed to do it.

Probably the most popular anti-stalling proposal would make life just a little more dangerous for the referee by allowing him to call for a "held" ball whenever he decided one team was not trying to score. One proposal would have him call a "held" ball whenever a player held the ball for five seconds in the back court even though he might not be closely guarded; another would jump the time limit from 5 to 30 seconds.

Dr. James Naismith, the man credited with originating the hardwood game, was strongly in favor of placing such authority in the hands of the referee with a 30 second limit.

"Any team in possession of the ball when three or more of the opposing players are attempting to get the ball that does not make an honest attempt to score should be considered as delaying the game and be penalized accordingly," Dr. Naismith, professor of physical education at the University of Kansas City, said. "Give the referee authority to make the teams play."

Dr. Naismith also proposed that when a player makes a field goal from a position beyond the farthest forward player of the opposing team, it should count four instead of the regulation two points. He also would prohibit more than a certain number of players from going into the back court while the ball is in their offensive territory.

Coach Walter Meanwell, of Wisconsin, had probably the most radical of all suggestions to place before the meeting. He proposed to make all free throws at the end of each half and to use the principal of cancellation. That is, if two teams are awarded the same number of free throws during the half, none would be tried for. If team "A" is awarded six free throws and team "B" four, team "A" would get two free throws and team "B" none. Other features of his suggestion would be to award no free throw when a personal foul is committed on a player who does not have the ball, nor to award free throws for personal fouls against a player in his own back court.

The meeting will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A. A. Schabinger, of Creighton University, Omaha, is president of the organization.

Betters His Own Record in U. S. Senior A. A. U. Title Meet.

New Haven, Conn., March 30 (U.P.).—Buster Crabbe, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, broke his own American record for the 1,500-meter swim today in winning the opening event of the national senior A. A. U. swimming championships in Carnegie Pool.

Crabbe churned through the distance in 19:45¾, bettering his previous record of 20:06½. He was extended to the new time by James Cristy, of Michigan University, who also finished within the old time, being clocked in 19:54 2-5 for second place.

Maiola Kalili, of Los Angeles, took third in 20:17 3-5, with Ray Buddy, of New York A. C., and Jack Harte, of Yale, finishing fourth and fifth, respectively. Austin Clapp, who was expected to give Crabbe a battle for honors, dropped out of the race at the 1,250-yard mark.

Mrs. Moody Planning Tennis Tour Abroad

San Francisco, March 30 (A.P.).—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, greatest tennis player in the country, said today she may go abroad for a series of tournaments this season. She said she was considering entering the French tournaments.

If she decides to play in France, she undoubtedly will compete in the Wightman Cup matches in England and in the Wimbledon classic before returning to the United States to defend her national title.

Mrs. Moody has about three weeks to make up her mind. "I am not certain yet," she said. "My schedule is complete for the trip, however, if I decide to play in the French tournaments."

Seat Reservations Good Until Saturday

Secretary Edward B. Eynon, jr., of the Washington Baseball Club, has announced that reservations for the opening game against the Boston Red Sox here on April 11 will be held until next Saturday at 5:30 p. m. All reservations not called for at Griffith Stadium will be canceled at that time.

Spears to Coach Wisconsin Eleven

Oregon University Mentor Signs One-Year Contract With Badgers.

Madison, Wis., March 30 (A.P.).—The University of Wisconsin's three-month quest for a head football coach ended today when Dr. Clarence Spears, coach at the University of Oregon, accepted a year's contract.

Spears was obtained after several weeks of negotiations and after he had turned down the offer at least twice. The board of regents did not disclose the salary consideration, but it was reliably reported to be $10,000.

The new coach succeeds Glenn Thistlethwaite, who resigned last December. He will arrive here April 13 to start the spring football drills.

The selection of Spears was the climax of several months of turmoil in the university athletic department. After the 1931 football season ended, alumni renewed their demand for a new coach and as a result both Thistlethwaite and George Little, athletic director, resigned. Little is now director of physical education at Rutgers University.

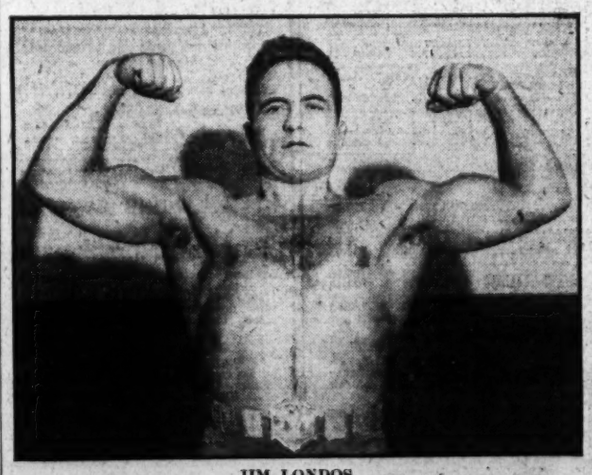
Great Londos Here Tonight To Defend That Mat Title



JIM LONDOS.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

THAT most regal Hellene, Theodore Christofolis (Jim Londos to you), bon vivant, traveler, litterateur, tea guzzler and the world's rassling champion of New York, Philadelphia, Washington and most of the rest of the States, exposes his royal chassis here tonight, at the Washington Auditorium, to the ungentle fingers of George Manich, one of the refugee Americans left in the mat game.

Mr. Londos reaches town today and is scheduled to break a bit of zwieback with friends at the Greek Legation. For a wonder, he has never met Manich, which is in itself enough to pack the Auditorium tonight. Manich has just come to these parts of late, and established a first-rate reputation, holding Dick Shikat even and beating Sandor Szabo, the latter on our own dusty mat at the Strand.

The consensus of opinion around local rassling seems to have it that Manich is going to give Londos a warm reception, and several hardy souls have even wagered small sums that Manich would win. This is a zeal that has not existed in local wrestling since Rude Rudy Dusek, the

Lott Is Defeated In Texas Tourney

Allison and Hall Advance as Chicago Star Bows to Kamrath.

Houston, Tex., March 30 (A.P.).—Wilmer Allison and J. Gilbert Hall, seeded favorites in the annual Houston invitation tennis tourhament, advanced to the third round play today but George Lott, of Chicago, seeded No. 2, was eliminated by Karl Kamrath, of Texas University, 6—4, 7—5.

Allison, a Texan, seeded No. 3, turned back David Peden, of Texas University, 6—0, 6—1, without extending himself.

Hall, the Canadian indoor champion, seeded No. 4, had difficulty in defeating young Sterling Williams, also of Texas University, in three sets, 3—6, 6—4, 6—1.

Others who advanced to the third round included: Doc Barr, of Dallas, defeated Henry Holden, one of Rice Institute's best players, 6—4, 6—3; Karl Kamrath, No. 1 man on the Texas University's team, defeated John McDiarmid, of Fort Worth, 6—1, 6—4; Fred Goyer, of Dallas, turned back Wilbur Hess, of Fort Worth, with difficulty, 3—6, 6—0, 6—2; Hal Surface, of Texas University, who trimmed George Dulinig, of San Antonio, 6—2, 6—3; Lester Stoeffen, of California, who defeated Quinn Connelley, of Rice Institute, 6—2, 6—4, and Frankie Parker, New Orleans youngster, who made short work of George Launey, of Dallas, 6—2, 6—0.

Dalrymple, Grid Star, Gets License to Marry

New Orleans, March 30 (A.P.).—Jerry Dalrymple, Tulane's all-American end, and Miss Dorothy Benedict, daughter of a New Orleans lawyer, today obtained a license to weed soon afterward.

Tulane's 1931 football captain and his bride-to-be went to Christ Episcopal Church, but were told by the rector that "three days' advance notice" was necessary before the marriage could be solemnized.

Percy S. Benedict, Miss Benedict's father, said tonight that no time had been set for the wedding.

LONDOS IN VICTORY.

KLEY THROWS GARDINI.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Fritz Kley, 212, Germany, threw Renato Gardini, 200, Italy, with a body hold after 13 minutes 15 seconds of wrestling in the main bout at Ridgewood Grove tonight.

In another finish bout Richard Shikat, 218, Philadelphia, pinned Joe "Bull" Komar, 232, Lithuania, with a back drop in 23:30.

FORMER BIG LEAGUER HELD.

Los Angeles, March 30 (A.P.).—Arraigned with two alleged accomplices on charges of robbing a jewelry store of $52,000 in valuables, Jerry Downs, former big league baseball player, today was ordered to preliminary trial April 5.

Bail was fixed at $20,000 for Downs and Edward J. Carlson. Eugene Jones, the third defendant, was placed under $10,000 bond.

MINNESOTA GRIDMEN DRILL.

Minneapolis, March 30 (A.P.).—Seventy-five candidates for the 1932 University of Minnesota Football Team answered Coach Bernie Bierman's summons as spring practice opened today. Only five veterans were in the group.

MICHIGAN STATE WINS.

Columbus, Ga., March 30 (A.P.).—Michigan State's Baseball Team defeated Fort Benning, 6 to 3, today, in a game called at the end of the sixth inning on account of rain. The victory gave the collegians their only win out of a three-game series.

DUKE BEATS MARYLAND NINE, 5-3

Berger Is Brilliant as Big League Scouts Watch Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

DURHAM, N. C., March 30.—A three-run rally after two were out in the eighth gave the Blue Devils of Duke a 5-3 victory over Maryland in the Devils' first Southern Conference game today.

Weaver, first man up for Duke in the eighth, was thrown out at first by Berger, who made a brilliant catch of the Duke batters, hard grounder, and Voorhees struck out, but Coombs and Kersey got bases on balls and Harrington singled to center to score Coombs with the tying run. Mitchell dropped one down the left field foul line to send Kersey and Harrington across the plate.

Bobby Coombs, nephew of the Duke coach, who was undefeated last season, made his 1932 bow today by letting the Old Liners down with seven scattered hits and striking out sixteen of them, allowing only three bases on balls.

Physioc, Maryland's right-hander, had the Devils well in hand until the eighth. Although they hit him hard in the early innings the lanky boy tightened up when men were on base and forced the Duke batters to pop out harmlessly.

Maryland Opens Scoring.

Maryland opened the scoring in the second on a two-base hit by Gorman, a sacrifice by Wolfe and a hit to the shortstop, who allowed the runner to score in order to catch O'Hara at first.

Cronin opened the third with an infield hit, stole second and scored on Berger's single to center, and Duke scored in their half on a base on balls, an error by Chalmers and a single to left by Gadd.

Duke knotted the count in the fourth on singles by Howell, Harrington and Mitchell, but Maryland went ahead, 3 to 2, when Berger hit, stole second and scored on Gorman's clean single to right. That ended the scoring until the eighth.

Four big league scouts were in the stands, said to be watching Bozie Berger, Maryland shortstop; Art Kersey, Duke second sacker, and Tim McKeithan, Blue Devil pitcher. Berger gave them an eyeful, playing a brilliant game, but Kersey made an error in the field and went hitless at bat.

First Baseball Glove Designer Dies at 76

Waterford, N. Y., March 30 (A.P.).—Alexander C. Smith, said by his friends to have designed the first baseball glove, will be buried here tomorrow. He died yesterday at the age of 76.

As a member of the Professional Haymakers, who toured the country late in the last century, Smith was reputed to have devised a glove which later found favor with Al Spaulding, one of the famous ball players of the day. After various improvements, the glove became widely used.

Form Shown Pleasing to Manager

Crowder, Marberry, Brown, Weaver Will Rotate.

Rain Forces Nats to Idle; Play Robins Tomorrow.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH (Sports Editor of The Post).

BILOXI, Miss., March 30.—The bogeyman in the camp of the Washington ball club—the deep-seated doubt that the pitching staff might be the team's weak link—is fast evaporating as Manager Walter Perry Johnson turns the situation over in his mind and takes a deal of pleasure in the presence of at least four of his hurling gentry.

This quartet which is giving complete satisfaction to the Nats' manager includes General Alvin Crowder, Fred Marberry, Lloyd Brown and Montie Weaver. Their work in training camp has been of such order that Johnson is reassured on a point that had loomed as a terrifying weakness.

They will be the four whom Johnson will rotate in regular order, barring mishaps to his calculations, and is their presence the Nats will compare favorably with the first four of all rival clubs, except Philadelphia, Johnson believes. He has taken heart especially at the early season form of Crowder and Marberry and will be sorely disappointed if they fail him in the early weeks of the season when the Nats meet the Yankees in 17 of their first 25 games.

Nat Pitchers Rated.

To speak for publication as to the caliber and qualifications of the 12 pitchers of his staff would, of course, be embarrassing for Johnson, but this correspondent has gleaned enough from observation and Johnson's reaction to their work to classify the Nats pitching staff as follows:

ALVIN CROWDER—Once the American League's leading pitcher who is in prime condition again this season, and whom Johnson regards as the ace of the staff, with his five straight victories of the Athletics last year attesting to his ability. Praise of Crowder is easy, but superfluous.

FRED MARBERRY—Another experienced veteran who is an enigma to any club when in condition, and Johnson says big Fred is in better condition this spring than in any previous spring since Johnson has managed the club. When he has the hop on his fast one, Marberry is unbeatable, as twelve straight wins last year attest. Marberry can stand on his ten-year record.

LLOYD BROWN—A six-year man with a good curve and as much courage as any on the squad. The victim of many hard-luck defeats, but steady on the mound and always giving his best, which is good enough to establish him as a regular in the company of Crowder and Marberry.

MONTE WEAVER—The prize rookie pitcher of the past half dozen years. A serious-minded, scholarly youth, of whom Johnson says: "He knows how to pitch." A terse comment that speaks volumes. Of whom Griffith says: "He will win 20 games" He has speed and a clever curve and can "come in there" when the need arises. The sensation of the spring pitching, who won his only big league start and handcuffed the Nationals in two exhibition games with the Orioles last year. He has already won his regular turn.

CARL FISCHER—A big, strong left-hander, who is Johnson's own pupil. Able and willing to work frequently with a devastating fast ball and a curve that he has developed this year. Needs to learn more about pitching, but with as great possibilities as any on the staff. He won nine and lost one last year before he slumped.

BOB BURKE—Endowed with a wealth of native talent, including a wide curve and a tolerable fast ball, but the most lackadaisical worker on the mound. He is capable of brilliant work in spots, but has proven unreliable. He may need regular work to bring out his best, but he must show a right to a regular turn.

FRANK RAGLAND—A big 26-year-old right-hander, with much experience in semipro and minor league ball, who has yet to show Manager Johnson the wherefore of his reputation as a good fast-ball pitcher. He is the calmest of all in his work on the mound and should he develop his fast ball is slated to see a deal of action in a relief role.

BOB FRIEDRICH—Striving hard to win a berth on the team. Friedrich is equipped with a brilliant assortment of "stuff" and when he gets the ball over the plate he is a winning pitcher. Lack of control is his weakness but Johnson is hopeful. Friedrich needs experience more than any other item and he has shown such promise he may be retained. He has the best pitching action of any of the second-flight rookies.

LYNN GRIFFITH—One of the camp's disappointments. Has failed to develop his speed or justify the promise he showed last year. Chattanooga is probably his destination.

The Nats will retain strings on

BOWIE READY TO OPEN EASTERN TURF SEASON TOMORROW

Derby Hopes To Race at Meeting

Entries for $5,000 Inaugural Eagerly Awaited.

Maryland Is Heavily Represented in Bowie Barns.

By WALTER HAIGHT.

THE turf fans' old saying of "Wait 'till Bowie" will be out of order for eleven days after tomorrow, when the East's major racing season opens. And Bowie is ready. The horses are on the scene, the stands are newly painted, the track is in tip-top shape. Only the crowd and the familiar "They're off!" is needed to complete the racing picture that has been absent in these parts since last fall.

After tomorrow's $5,000 added Inaugural Handicap, a long list of other stakes and a charity day, the "Wait 'till Bowie" will again be acceptable in turf language, but not until then.

Every detail has been arranged by J. B. Boyle and T. K. Lynch, the men who are guiding Bowie this year. Nearly 1,300 horses are within walking distance of the track, with the country's best stables represented. Many more thoroughbreds are within daily vanning range of the track.

Entries Eagerly Awaited.

Entries for tomorrow's card are eagerly awaited, especially those on the tenth annual Inaugural. There has been much speculation as to which of the horses that whitered in this section will try for the popular purse over the six-furlong route. It is generally accepted that Panetian and other winter track stars will face the barrier.

Race Secretary Joseph McLennan, popular with the horsemen, has plenty of first class horses from which to select his fields for the other races.

Maryland will be heavily represented during the racing at Bowie as well as at the other State meetings to follow. The Maryland contingent includes the following: Dr. J. Fred Adams, Mrs. Margaret Emerson Amory (Sagamore Farm), J. Merryman Black, J. Bowes Bond, H. Guy Bedwell, Frank A. Bonsal, jr., Howard Bruce, G. R. Bryson and C. Willing Browne, jr.

F. Ambrose Clarke, Maj. L. H. Drennan, Janon Fisher, jr., J. Edwin Griffith, Fred J. Hughes, Sterrett D. Giddings, Mrs. Robert H. Heighe, C. L. A. Heiser, Leslie E. Keiffer, Sylvester W. Labrot, Breckenridge Long, Louis McLane Merryman, Charles J. Meister, A. H. Morris, Miss Fanny King McLane, C. Harvey Pierce, Ral Parr, Mrs. Helena S. Raskob, Maj. G. L. Stryker, E. P. Summerfield, Morris & Waldin, G. W. Y. (Bill) Martin, Max Cohen and E. A. Raymond.

Derby Nominees On Hand.

There are at least six Derby nominees at Bowie, three of which appear likely starters. These are Indian Runner, Big Beau and Brandon Mint. This trio as well as the others will be tested at the meeting.

Post time tomorrow will be at 2:30 o'clock.

The W. B. & A. Electric Railway is running specials to the track every half hour. The new road from Bowie to Laurel, opened since the fall meeting, should tend to lessen the traffic on the Defense highway.

Red Robin Baseballers Will Drill Tomorrow

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., March 30.—"Duke" Penb, coach of the Red Robins Baseball Team, leaders in the junior division here, has called an important practice for Thursday evening at 4 o'clock on the South Royal street diamond.

Ken Robey was named as manager of the club today and has signed the following players: A. Baggett, John Pullman, Eddie Dean, F. Posey, C. Moore, J. Lyons, W. Moriarity, F. Scott, A. Thomas, E. Toms, J. Parker, J. May, C. Scott, and P. Gorman.

The Red Robins hope to open their season within ten days.

Theodore Beach, manager of the Nation-Wide Store Team, announces Coach Bill Langford has assumed active leadership of the team. He will be present for the drill to be held on Sunday at Haydon's Field.

Ken Smith, local professional ball player, will report to Norfolk, in the Eastern League, on April 1. He is a pitcher.

JESTING moved into command with a rush directly after the start, saved a lot of ground while racing under stout urging and, holding on gamely, just lasted to stall off SOCIAL BEE. Latter entered contention with a rush and closed resolutely during the stretch run. HIGH EXPLOSIVE broke in a tangle, was hurried into a forward position and outfinished DARK WAR. Latter, well up from the start, faltered during the closing furlong. LOVE APPLE was forced wide for the entire trip. COLONEL CLOISTER could not menace the leaders. MY JOANNE was crowded back leaving the back stretch.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—RIVER LEE, $17.40, $6.60, $4.10; GUFFLE, $22.30, $16.40; WILD CRESS, $9.20.

RIVER LEE, prominent from the start, responded willingly to punishment during the stretch run and, closing gamely, was up in the concluding strides. GUFFLE, stoutly ridden early, disposed of TALKY entering the home stretch, drew clear, but faltered under weak handling nearing the finish. WILD CRESS, moving up gamely, closed full of run. BOB BLACKBURN, slow to get settled in his stride, finished with a belated rush on the outside. BIRDIE WRACK raced evenly. MONT JULE showed a good test. BARN DANCE, pinched back at the start, could never reach contention. RONALD GREY was in tight quarters the entire trip.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:40½. Off at 3:48½. Winner, Mrs. L. V. Bellew's b. g. HARRY HIEOVER, away in the first flight and showing good speed, raced GAN LEE into submission, saved ground and held BOCKIE B safe during the stretch run. Latter, a forward factor and well ridden, made a determined effort when entering the home stretch, but was not good enough. RESERVATION worked his way up on the outside and finished stoutly during the final drive. GAN LEE, hard hustled all the way, tired in the final quarter mile. UNLUCKY showed a good test throughout. NIM THE NYMPH was unable to reach the leaders. The others were held safe.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $400; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:21½. Off at 4:30. Winner, J. V. Peas' b. m. JOAN K. outrun for the first half mile, went to the outside of leaders when approaching the home stretch, closed gamely under punishment and wore HYPOLUXO down in the final seventy yards. HYPOLUXO followed the pacemakers closely, assumed command when ready, but tired suddenly in the final sixteenth. VLADIMIR improved his position steadily and came courageously in the final drive. LIBERTY ACE was used up racing with BEST MAIFOU and tired in the closing stages. BEST MAIFOU displayed good early speed, saved ground, but could not keep pace when put to a drive. BATTLING ON lacked early speed. SUNNY BOB was never a factor. WANDERING GOLD was unable to enter contention.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $400; claiming. Chamber of Commerce Purse. For 4-year-olds and upward. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 4:56. Off at 5:00. Winner, W. GENIAL HOST, taken under steadying restraint for the first six furlongs, improved his position stoutly after leaving the back stretch, responded to punishment and, wearing HARUM SCARUM down, was slowly drawing clear under pressure. HARUM SCARUM, a stout factor from the beginning, raced TANTALIZING and JOHN MILL into submission and continued with good courage in the closing drive. SI RELIEF, kept within striking distance of the leaders, came with good speed for the final issue. BOZO, caught in tight quarters midway of the back stretch, recovered after being forced back, but could not threaten the leaders. JOHN MILL tired from his early efforts. TANTALIZING had a lot taken out of him setting the pace. BRIGHT SPANGLE appeared to sulk.

BO BALLOT broke very slowly, worked his way up on the outside when settled on the back stretch, came stoutly under punishment for the final drive and, in a game finish, was up in the final twenty yards. PAL TO PAL, kept under pressure from the start, made a stout effort entering the home stretch and fought it out gamely. DOCTOR BILLY took command when midway of the far turn, shook off BACKWOODSMAN and held on well for the closing drive. BACKWOODSMAN, steadied in pursuit of the leaders, saved a lot of ground at the stretch turn, but hung nearing the finish. MISNOMER showed a good effort. NOSEGAY had speed in spots. The others were unable to threaten the leaders.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—OUR PAL, $8.50, $4.70, $4.30; OBSERVATION, $12.10, $8.70; WEATHER PROOF, $3.90.

OUR PAL began slowly, was taken to the outside when reaching the back stretch, improved his position steadily and, closing stoutly, wore the leaders down to get up in the final sixteenth mile. OBSERVATION, going in her best form, worked her way up gamely and came with good energy for the final issue. WEATHERPROOF sprinted into a commanding lead, saved ground early, but swerved when tiring through the final quarter mile and just managed to outstay WINNIE JO. Latter, crowded back going to the first turn, secured racing room on the inside and finished stoutly. PRINCE BULBO was used up following the pacemakers. DESERVE was unable to menace the leaders. NIGHT EDITION took wide course for the entire trip. ORKIN lost his rider when crowded at the first turn.

—St. Johns Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

ST. JOHNS PARK, Jacksonville, Fla., March 30.—St. Johns Park tomorrow presents its final program of racing, and due to the entraining of many horses there for Bowie and Lexington, the card includes many which ran today. The meeting is a flop so far as receipts are concerned, the management using plenty of red ink.

Featuring the final card is the fourth race at 5½ furlongs. NOAJOYCE, winner the other day from Solus and Valley, should repeat the victory in this dash. FIRST MISSION has speed for the short distance and is rated the contender, with the consistent BROOKSIE, a recent winner, having the edge on DONNY JOHNNY for third money. The field is small and most any of the horses has a chance to win. Too much form is not threatening the final day of racing at this course.

FIRST RACE—LIGHT NUN seems well placed in the opening race. MY BEAUTY showed improvement and her last race was not bad. GAN LEE will be one of the choices and should be third. But LIGHT NUN, on Tropical Park form, should beat this field.

SECOND RACE—BOGAN is selected, the only question about his winning being the short route. Third to Ada Epinard Tuesday, he failed to run back to his winning race a short time ago. JUDGE DIXON has been running below form and may improve. PREFERRED is best of the others and should be in the money.

THIRD RACE—VALLEY will have COOTS to trim. She has been more consistent than COOTS and was third to Noajoyce Tuesday. COOTS is much better than the others and has won two races recently. ESTIN should get third money.

FIFTH RACE—AFRIDI has won his last two races, and should make it three in a row. He is entered for some stakes in New York and appears to be of higher class than the platers with which he has been running. PARTIES also has shown good form and is rated the contender. POP CORN, son of Peanuts, has failed to run to expectations this winter, but may surprise.

SIXTH RACE—SOLUS, which was second to Noajoyce Tuesday, may win. RAVE is regarded next best and some recent races bear inspection. DR. BILLY also turned in two smart performances recently since arriving from Havana and should get in the money.

SEVENTH RACE—HARUM SCARUM has become one of the good winter track horses, and should take the Au Revoir purse. He won from Bo Ballot this week. OUR PAL will probably be the contender. AMSTERDAM may be the sleeper and is rated third.

BRAUNSTEIN, RAY BOWEN MATCHED

Meet in Semifinal to Gallagher-Barry Bout Tuesday.

RAY BOWEN, George Esrick and Whitey Sailer, all of whom gained considerable popularity through winning their bouts last Tuesday, were yesterday reengaged to perform on next Tuesday's card in support of the Reds Barry-Marty Gallagher main event at Alexandria.

Bowen, one of the fightin' Bowens of Washington, will meet Sammy Braunstein, hard-punching Marine welterweight, over a six-round route. This will find Ray attempting to make it two wins in a row after a long lay-off. Bowen returned to action Tuesday night to score impressively at the expense of Patsy Lewis, promising Baltimore southpaw, but the weight advantage he held over Lewis will be missing when he tackles the rugged Leatherneck.

Roddy Davis to Tackle Esrick.

Esrick, Baltimore lightweight, who subdued the courageous Marino Marini, is slated to oppose Roddy Davis, local youngster who is now hitting the fastest pace of his career. This bout is listed for four rounds. In another four-rounder Sailer, a Birmingham (Ala.) welter, will engage Jack Quigley, of this city. Sailer upset the dope the other night by trimming Clarence Sloat, of Baltimore, who knocked him out in two rounds last summer at Mid-City Arena.

A total of 32 rounds is scheduled for the next Day Nursery benefit show. In addition to those mentioned, Kid Groves, local featherweight, will tangle with Hunky Decola for four sessions, and Henry Irving will try to continue his come-back efforts against Sam Finazzo, of Baltimore, in six rounds. Sam hopes to duplicate a victory that his brother, Joe, scored over Henry last summer.

The management had some difficulty bringing Barry and Gallagher, both local heavyweights, together in the feature attraction. Gallagher asked for ten rounds, but Barry refused to fight more than eight. Marty, through his manager, Dan Carroll, finally capitulated to Barry's terms rather than do without work.

Gallagher's Margin Small Last Meeting.

In their clash last October at Fort Washington, Gallagher won a doubtful decision in eight rounds, the crowd being equally divided in its opinion as to the winner.

Gallagher, who declined to meet Barry a couple of weeks ago because he was not in proper condition, is now training in Boston. He is expected to arrive here Friday to finish preparations in a local gymnasium. Barry has been training diligently in the Mohawk Club quarters for three weeks.

War-Labor Tossers In Title Game Tonight

War Department's crack A. G. O. Basket Ball Team, which upset several star aggregations in The Post's A. A. U. tournament, will fight it out for the championship of the Departmental League tonight with Labor Department. The game will go on at the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

Labor forged into the finals Tuesday by beating the Army Medicos. A. G. O. is a slight favorite, with Cecil Bugg, sharpshooting center, being the real difference between the clubs.

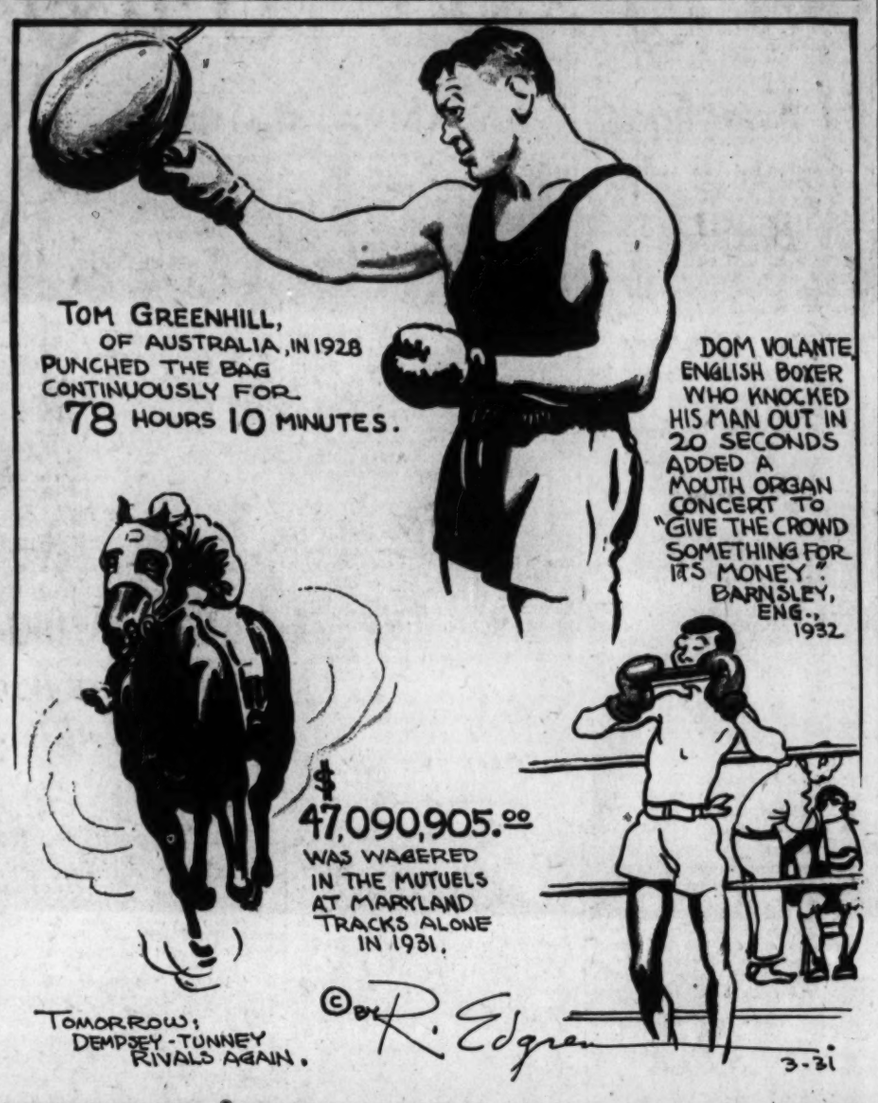
MIRACLES OF SPORTS. —By Robert Edgren



9-YEAR-OLD ST. JOHNS VICTOR

Genial Host Draws Away at End in Feature Race.

ST. JOHNS PARK, Fla., March 30 (A.P.).—This was St. Augustine Day at the home of the Florida Jockey Club and the attendance was considerably augmented by racing fans from that old city. The St. Augustine Chamber of Commerce Claiming Purse featured a well-filled program and the well-backed veteran Genial Host was ridden out to take the purse by two lengths. Harum Scarum was second, a length before Si Relief. The winner paid $7.70 for $2 and ran the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:50 1-5.

After Starter Buddy Wingfield had finally succeeded in getting the fractious Bozo in a position to start, the field left in good order and Tantalizing quickly assumed command. The seven horses raced through the back stretch in a bunch with the exception of Bright Spangle, which was always distanced. John Mill replaced Tantalizing as the pacemaker, but it was anybody's race.

Genial Host Draws Away Steadily.

Genial Host was full of run and held under tight restraint until leaving the back stretch. Then little V. Arthur called on the 9-year-old and he responded willingly, taking command entering the home lane to draw away steadily. Harum Scarum held on well to beat Si Relief.

Joan K. ran a powerful race to account for the purse in the fourth event in a close finish. The mare reached the goal line a neck in advance of Hypoluxo, with Vladimir third, two lengths back. Backers of the winner received $22.50 for $2. Best Maifou jumped into an immediate lead and led Liberty Ace a merry chase. The two leaders faltered approaching the stretch turn. Hypoluxo rushed around the pacemaker and took the lead, but Joan K. closed ground with leaps and bounds when straightened out and passed Hypoluxo in the final drive.

Committees to Control Women's Golf Events

At the meeting of the executive committee of the Women's District Golf Association held yesterday a motion was adopted placing the control of all events and details of the association in charge of the respective committees appointed for the purpose. In the future all tournaments, team matches, &c., will be under the control of the committees named, thus avoiding conflict in their management.

Announcement of the resignation of Mrs. Hugh T. Nicolson, formerly Miss Dorothy White, as a member of the Washington Golf and Country Club, was made, and it was decided, in view of her many golf victories, to place her name on the unaffiliated list as a member of the association.

THIS MORNING:

Harley Boss, none of whom could oust Joe Judge, but any of whom might have won a regular first base berth on any other team.

Before he converted Jimmie Foxx into a first baseman, and after he broke up his wonder team of 1914, Connie Mack was greatly distressed by his inability to acquire an acceptable first sacker. He paid high prices for such performers as Dudley Branom and Jim Poole, neither of whom were able to satisfy, and had it not been for Foxx's adaptability, he might have been looking for a big league first baseman yet.

Manager Peckinpaugh at Cleveland has searched for two years for an acceptable first baseman so that he might send the blundering Morgan back to the outfield, but none has come along. Bucky Harris, at Detroit, is playing big Dale Alexander at first base only for want of a big league first sacker.

But the Nats have been almost surfeited with first base talent in the last 25 years. It must be the fortunes of baseball.

LONDOS HERE TONIGHT TO MEET MANICH

Matchmaker Joe Turner has wisely chosen the preliminaries, with an eye toward biff and maul, rather than toward much scientific inactivity. On the bill he has placed both Tiger Nelson, an elderly and belligerant buck, who stoops to many strange and terrifying deeds in the ring, and Jack Washburn, certainly the most unpopular man who ever lived.

Nelson meets an equally tough egg in George McLeod, while Washburn growls, kicks and bites the sensitive Leon Smith.

Londos is enough to sell out the Auditorium, even if he was rassling a can of sardines, but Promoter Turner is throwing in Leo Pinetzki for good measure tonight.

Pinetzki Will Tackle Hagen.

UNLIMITEDS MEET MONDAY

Capital City Nines Make Plans

Official Scorer for Games Will Be Considered.

Uniform Rulings and Printed Averages Big Boon.

OFFICIAL scorers, an invaluable source of information in every league, will be one of the chief topics of discussion at the meeting of the Capital City League unlimited team managers to be held Monday night at the District Building. A movement is on foot to have official scorers at all games in this division of the league this year. Should the measure meet with success, it will be the first time in the history of the league that such an office has existed.

Objections have been raised in previous years to the haphazard manner of keeping the box scores, with not one but a majority of the managers joining in the protest. The trouble with the present system seems to be that no two scorers think alike. Representatives of both teams score games under the method now in vogue. The winning team has the responsibility of forwarding the score to the league secretary for his official records.

Many Protests Have Resulted.

It sounds simple enough but invariably the losing team comes forward with the protest that their opponents did not hit as safely as many times as the score indicated. They contend that errors on the part of the losing team's players were responsible for a certain number of men reaching first base. The scorer of the winning team replies that the hits in question were too difficult for the fielder to handle, and he stands on his rights and judgment.

To be sure the trouble is insignificant, but it blocks the way for additional interest among the players of the loop which would exist if official fielding and batting averages could be published every month. The most formidable barrier facing the passage of the measure is the cost of retaining scorers. It is believed, however, that ways and means will be found to raise funds sufficient to carry the project.

At this meeting the representatives will also discuss ways and means of honoring George Washington. This being Bicentennial year, the sandlotters have no intention of permitting all other organizations to do all of the celebrating while they take a back seat.

Chevy Chase Seniors In Tourney April 9-10

The Chevy Chase Senior Golf Association will hold its annual meeting Saturday afternoon in the assembly room of the clubhouse at 12:30 o'clock. Election of officers and other matters will be considered.

A seniors' tournament will be held April 9 and 10 at eighteen holes handicap medal play.

Spring Grid Drills Start at St. John's

A squad of 50 huskies reported to Coach Paul Byrne of St. John's yesterday on the Monument Grounds, where spring football training will be continued until the end of May. The team next season will be without the services of Scanlon, Cummings, Wells, Lynch and McKeever, all regulars, but the bulk of the squad will be back in uniform.

The spring campaign will close with a game between players of the recent past and next year's potential regulars.

Title Ping Pong Entries Will Close Tomorrow

Entries close tomorrow in the annual ping pong championship of Washington, which will be conducted at the Shoreham beginning Saturday at 2:30 o'clock. The finals will be played Sunday afternoon.

Among the entrants to date are Maurice O'Neill, Ed Black and Bob Lee, well known as experts of the game.

TIED neck and neck as they stepped up to, and probably over, the foul line, the bowlers of Washington No. 1 and the Drifters rolled for the top position in the Nautical League last night at Columbia, and victory went to Washington when it trimmed the Colonials, 2 to 1, while Potomac was administering a similar defeat to the Drifters.

The other league results were, Drifters No. 2 dropped all three to El Dorado and Bonzai won three from Washington No. 2.

Bureau of Standards League results were: Tech, 3; Files, 0; Engineers, 2; Ceramiste, 1; B. T. U.'s, 2; Mimeos, 1; Chemists, 3; Industrials, 0.

The third annual mixed doubles bowling match, sponsored by the First Brethren Church, will be held tomorrow night at Queen Pin. A good array of talent is promised. Action starts at 7:45 o'clock.

BLAZING THE BASEBALL TRAIL

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 30 (A.P.).—With Johnny Murphy, former Fordham University star, pitching three-hit ball, the New York Yankees defeated the House of David, 2 to 0, today. It was the Yankees' final game of the season in Florida and their eleventh victory in sixteen starts.

In addition to holding the House of David nine to three hits, Murphy made one of the Yanks' six hits off Lefty Moose Swaney and scored one run. Swaney once pitched for Reading, of the International League.

Babe Ruth took a day off to rest his stiff neck. His place was taken by Dusty Cooke, playing his first game this month.

Orlando, Fla., March 30 (A.P.).—Despite two home runs by Jimmy Foxx and the fact they held the lead twice, the Philadelphia Athletics lost to the Cincinnati Reds today, 10 to 9.

Foxx slammed out his first circuit drive in the first inning with two on bases. His second came in the ninth and gave the A's a two-run advantage.

However, Heath, first baseman of the Reds, duplicated the trick in Cincinnati's half of the ninth with two men on and won the game.

New Orleans, La., March 30 (A.P.).—Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland Indians, and General Manager Billy Evans, left for Cleveland today exuding optimism over the coming season. President Bradley observed the Tribe was better this year by 50 per cent, while Evans enthused over players. Even Manager Roger Peckinpaugh, not particularly an optimist himself, caught the spirit of the occasion and admitted that perhaps the team "clicks" pretty well.

Shreveport, La., March 30 (A.P.).—Rain washed out today's game between the White Sox and Shreveport, so Manager Lew Fonseca held skull practice. Pitcher Joe Bartulis and Infielder Johnny Ryan were sent to the Buffalo club of the International League on option.

San Francisco, March 30 (A.P.).—Timely hitting in a first inning rally and a two-run flurry in the third gave the New York Giants a 5-4 victory over the San Francisco Missions here today.

Lefty O'Doul's injured wrist caused the Dodgers a lot of worry. The injury was rather painful and probably will result in Brooklyn's opening the season with a makeshift line-up. O'Doul probably will be out of action for two weeks.

Atlanta, Ga., March 30 (A.P.).—The Phillies humbled Red Barron's Crackers again today, winning their third straight victory by a 7-5 count.

Capt. Pinkey Whitney returned to third base after an attack of ptomaine poisoning and demonstrated the extent of his recovery by lining out a homer and a single in four trips to the plate. The homer came in the second inning with two on base and was the blow that won the game.

10,000 See Post's Tourney Ring Down Court Curtain

BASKET BALL climbed into its box and drew the lid over it Tuesday night when the gigantic District A. A. U.-Washington Post tournament came to an end in a blaze of glory at Tech High. Seventy A. A. U. gold medals were distributed at the final night's games, and the seven team trophies will be presented before the end of the week.

Somthing in the neighborhood of 10,000 persons passed through the turnstiles during the 21 days the tournament bristled with competition. Nearly 1,000 players participated in the meet, while the total number of teams reached 100.

Close Competition in All Classes.

The seven undisputed District championships fell to the Saks Clothiers, unlimited; Olmsted Girl, 145 pound; St. John's, 130 pound; Capital Towers, 115 pounds; St. Martin's, 100 pounds; Highlanders, junior girls, and Als A. C., senior girls. Close competition developed in every section, and every champion team had to show its worth before the crown was lowered on its head.

Once more the unlimited section garnered the greatest acclaim. Saks, seeded No. 2 in the draw, crashed through a great field to win over Tech High in the finals. The Griffith Consumers, the No. 1 seeded team, was put to rout in the quarterfinal round by an inspired Central High club. Tech, seeded No. 4, bumped off the No. 3 team, Delaware & Hudson, decisively.

A consensus of opinion as to the three greatest games of the unlimited section reveals that the Saks-J. C. C. game, the Tech-United Typewriter Grays game and the Central-Griffith Consumers fray lead the pack.

Some token of the impending thrills of the tournament was given in the first game of the joust, March 1, when the Sport Mart beat the Shipleys in three extra periods.

Als Sextet Finally Wins Title.

The Als A. C. Sextet, runners up for the senior girls title for four years, found victory at last in their division. The defending champions, the Eagles, were beaten in the first round of play by the United Typists.

The tournament broke all attendance records established since the District A. A. U. has been in existence. Enough revenue was derived from the big court meet to sustain the remaining sports sponsored by the local amateur union this year.

The conduct of the players in the tournament was a wonderful commentary on the State of local amateur athletics. Constant examples of placing fair play ahead of the desire to win were evident during the meet, an eventuality which went far toward cementing the faith of Washington's sportsminded in amateur athletics.

COURT TITLE ANNEXED BY SLEUTHS

Investigation Defeats Census, 29-26, in League Final.

WITH fans in every nook and cranny, space was at a premium last night at Eastern High as Bureau of Investigation, by a wild last minute rush, downed Census Enumerators for the Government basket ball championship, 29 to 26.

An attendance of considerably more than 400 saw the Sleuths gain an early margin, sink well behind in the last period, and then forge to the victory side of the ledger despite the loss of Levin and Connor, regulars, via the foul route.

Investigation rooters moaned as Blake replaced Levin with five minutes to go. But Blake immediately cashed a "follow" try to knot the count, 25-25, and then little "Speed" Hirsh eluded his guard to twice score amid screams, clinching the 1932 title.

Following the engagement, a diminutive reception was held by Luther Steward and Gertrude McNally, National Federation of Federal Employes officials, who awarded the cup to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Bureau of Investigation, and Capt. Tommy Connor.

No player on the floor stood out, all being brilliant, but Bert Mealy, of Census, led in scoring with twelve tallies, almost upsetting the Sleuth ambition.

Washington's team of B. F. Bean, G. M. Stewart, William McEwen, E. L. Warden and J. E. Fondahl won by 1,439 to 1,383. It gave them a fourth place tie with New York, with four wins and that many losses.

Capital City Tennis Officers Reelected

Pat Deck, J. D. Brown, and Hyman Ritzenberg were reelected officers of the Capital City Tennis League last night at a meeting held at the Tennis Shop. They are, respectively, president, secretary-treasurer and scorer.

Fast Derby Trials Are Shown at Lexington

Lexington, Ky., March 30 (U.P.).—Several impressive training trials were shown here this morning by Kentucky Derby aspirants. Since the racing strip was in good condition, both speed and endurance efforts were attempted.

Scream, a bay gelding owned by C. W. Moore, turned 6 furlongs in 1:16 4-5, in what was perhaps the outstanding move of the day. Oh Dave reeled off 5 furlongs in 1:04 4-5, breezing, while Snow King went 6 furlongs in 1:19 3-5 under a strong pull.

Minton, a stablemate of the Shandon Farm's Burning Blaze, worked a mile in 1:48 4-5. He was well in hand all the way.

Vermont Beats Navy Nine in Slugfest, 9-8

Annapolis, Md., March 30.—The baseball team of Annapolis midshipmen opened its season here today in a fashion not as auspicious as had been anticipated, being forced to accept defeat at the hands of the University of Vermont in a game marked by fairly free hitting, but loose work afield. The score was: Vermont, 9; Navy, 8.

Both teams did the bulk of the scoring in the first four innings, the boys from the Green Mountain State tallying eight times, and Navy 7, during these stages. After that the battle resolved itself into a duel between pitchers, with Rutkowski, of Vermont, and Davenport, finishing on practically even terms. Hits were few and far between in the last five stanzas, Navy collecting four scattered over as many innings, and two safe blows by the visitors were likewise.

MONTGOMERY GRAND JURY TAKES RECESS

Believed to Have Completed Quiz on Alleged Shortage in Office of Clark.

The Montgomery County grand jury recessed yesterday until April 12 without having made a report or presenting any more indictments. The action was taken in order to enable State's Attorney Stedman Prescott to devote his entire time to the prosecution of criminal cases.

The criminal docket will be started today with Judge Robert B. Peter on the bench, in Montgomery County Circuit Court at Rockville, Md. It is expected that the pending cases will be disposed of by April 12.

The grand jury is believed to have completed its investigations into the alleged shortage of approximately $24,000 in the office of Berry E. Clark, former clerk to the Montgomery County commissioners. The alleged shortage was revealed by an auditing firm which made an exhaustive study of the financial situation in the county at the request of the county commissioners. It is alleged to have been accumulated more than twelve years ago when Mr. Clark performed the duties of county treasurer as well as clerk to the county commissioners. The two offices were separated by act of the Legislature when the Lee organization took control of the county administration.

Woman Sues for $25,000 In Husband's Auto Death

A suit asking $25,000 for the death of Charles H. Reed in an automobile accident on Christmas Day is among the five damage suits to be tried in Prince Georges County Circuit Court when its spring term opens Monday.

Mrs. Eliza B. Reed asks a verdict of $25,000 from Andrew P. Vorrath, of Mount Rainier, for the death of her husband, who was killed near his home in Laurel. Her bill, filed through Attorney Thomas O. King, states that Reed was the sole support of his wife and two minor children.

The largest of the claims, which total $81,000, was filed by Mrs. Lucille Groves, of Cottage City, who asks $30,000 from the Washington Suburban Gas Co. for personal injuries. Mrs. Groves alleges that it was the fault of the gas company that she fell into an open ditch near her home, suffering injuries to the hips and internal injuries. Her husband, Lee Jackson Groves, also asks $20,000 for loss of his wife's services. The couple are represented by Attorneys Charles B. Brewer, Leroy Pumphrey, Lansdale G. Sasscer and Waldo Burnside.

Alleging that she was injured in a collision between an automobile driven by her husband and Axel Hoirtdahl, Mrs. A. R. Bullock, of Riverdale, filed suit for $5,000 against Hoirtdahl. Her husband, Earl M. Bullock, is also suing Hoirtdahl for $1,000 for loss of his wife's services and damages to their car. Frank M. Stephens is attorney for the Bullocks. The accident occurred about a year ago on the Edmonston road.

$3,000 FIRE PERILS HOME IN BALLSTON

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Fire said to have been caused by sparks from the chimney threatened the home of R. B. Hough, Wilson Boulevard, Ballston, yesterday morning.

Mrs. J. B. Martin and Mrs. D. A. Powell, who make their home there, sounded the alarm which brought all fire-fighting apparatus in the county.

Mr. Hough, who is in ill health, was taken to the home of Oscar Dodd, a neighbor.

Firemen were able to confine the fire to the third floor. The damage was estimated at $3,000, said to be covered by insurance.

The Arlington Citizens Association meeting last night in the auditorium of the Patrick Henry School indorsed the movement being sponsored by the Arlington County Civic Federation for a county-wide clean-up campaign.

The association went on record as favoring the adoption by the county board of an ordinance which would compel owners of vacant property to keep it free from trash and tall grass.

A resolution expressing opposition to the filling of vacancies in an elective office by appointment was unanimously adopted.

The resolution further set forth the need of legislation that will permit the people to select their own officers by popular vote.

"Nothing But the Truth," a three-act comedy, will be presented by the St. George's Players in the parish hall of St. George's Episcopal Church in Clarendon tonight and tomorrow night. The play is being directed by Frank Davis.

The Virginia Society will give its annual Easter Ball in the ballroom of the Willard Hotel, Washington, tomorrow night, according to the president, Fielding M. Lewis, of Lyon Village, Arlington County.

Cigarette Theft Brings $25 Suspended Fine

Convicted of taking a package of cigarettes from the pocket of Robert E. Lee Goff, court clerk to Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue, in the District Supreme Court, Joseph A. Grafes, 62 years old, yesterday was given a suspended $25 fine and his personal bond was taken.

A deputy marshal saw Graves take the package from Goff's coat, which was hanging in his office in the District Supreme Court. Graves said he noticed the cigarettes and intended to take one and replace the package. He was arrested before he had a chance to put them back, he said.

In order that every member of the Democratic party may be given a fair opportunity to declare his candidacy, it has been decided to accept petitions and notices of candidacy, properly filed with the chairman of the committee, up to 12 o'clock midnight, April 3.

Councilman Michael T. Dwyer, whose term expires September 1, has declared himself a candidate from the Third Ward; William J. McCaffrey from the First Ward, and Charles L. HERNDON MAN HELD AS DRIVER IN CRASH

Auto Damaged, Wagon Hit, Teamster Hurt and Two Horses Killed.

Claude Carter, 24, of Herndon, Va., was arrested yesterday morning by Deputy Sheriff Vernon Cockerille, of Fairfax County, on a charge of driving the truck belonging to the Fair-Lou Mills Co. which sideswiped a car and demolished a wagon, injuring the driver and killing two horses.

According to Deputy Cockerille, the accident occurred between Herndon and Floris. Carter had taken a load of feed to the country and was returning to the mills. Outside of Herndon he sideswiped a car driven by Bently Harrison, who was on his way to Washington with his family and Dr. William Meyer, of Herndon, taking off both fenders. Glancing off the side of the Harriman car, the heavy truck hit the rear end of the wagon driven by Charles White, colored, of Herndon. The wagon was thrown upon the horses, which were killed almost instantly.

White was badly cut and thrown to one side. He was given first aid by Dr. Meyer. After hitting the wagon the truck left the highway and, plowing its way through a fence, upset in a field. Carter was not injured, but was taken to the Herndon Jail pending the outcome of the colored man's injuries.

Funds to provide employment for men out of work in Fairfax County, Va., were allocated yesterday by the county board of public welfare to several communities in the county for improving school grounds. This action was taken in response to requests from various community organizations, and each request was accompanied by a list of unemployed men of each section, who will be given work. The money will be expended from the county's share of the Federal unemployment fund.

The welfare board allotted Fairfax and McLean $150 each; Lorton, $100; Burke, $75, and Vienna and Oakton, $50 each. The Vienna and Oakton requests were only partially granted, as the Oakton-Vienna welfare committee had already received about $200 directly from the Federal employes' contributions.

Mrs. Eleanor W. Aud, county superintendent of public welfare and treasurer of the board, reported that more than $1,500 had been promised to the county from employes of the District government, but as yet no money had been received from that source.

John W. Brookfield, of Springfield, offered his resignation as secretary to the board, and proposed that Mrs. Aud be made secretary in his place. When put to a vote this motion failed. Mrs. Aud stated that Judge Walter T. McCarthy, of the Fairfax County Circuit Court, had promised to fill the vacancies on the county welfare board in accordance with the recommendations of the State board of public welfare.

Albert Pegelow, 43 years old, died early yesterday morning at his home at Lorton, Va. He has been telegrapher for the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad Co. at Lorton, for the past 20 years.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two small daughters. He is also survived by three brothers: Herman Pegelow, of Middletown, Del.; William Pegelow, of Dorchester, Md., and F. H. Pegelow, agent for the R. F. & P. Railroad, at Lorton, and one sister, Mrs. Berthie Oswald, of Dorchester County, Md.

Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Cranford Memorial Church at Lorton by the Rev. H. H. Hoyt. Interment will be in the Cranford Cemetery.

Wall Street—and Beyond

Markets and Business in Review and Outlook

By Lawrence Sullivan

ON the whole, it must be regarded as a happy portent of less arduous times that the lexicographers of business find two new epithets in the throbbing chronicles of the current week. Usually in the lugubrious eras of depression the first moratorium of every week automatically applies against apt phrases and provocative epigrams; and as a result the week-end reviews, over and over again, bring nothing more engaging than interminable tables, averages and percentages, charts, graphs, index numbers and rediscount rates. But now all that is changed.

* * * *

IN the Senate on Monday Mr. Vandenberg, of Michigan, arose to the oratorical magnificence of "tariff hitch-hikers," a term he applied to those of his Democratic colleagues who regularly favor duties on the products of their own States but who, nevertheless, fall repeatedly into alarming convulsions of grandiloquence against the theory of protection.

And hardly had the senator from Michigan resumed his copper-riveted seat before the Secretary of Agriculture, Mr. Arthur M. Hyde, of Missouri, purred one softly at the world. The Department of Agriculture, the Secretary said in so many well-chosen words, is the "prize boob in the history of finance"—which, being interpreted, is seed loans are a costly political racket.

* * * *

BOTH the senator and the Secretary were able to elaborate upon their remarks without agitating the Honorable Carter Glass to a new denunciation of bankers, brokers and all their works; but in neither case did the artful amplification offend either reason or good taste.

"Democratic hitch-hikers," Mr. Vandenberg said, "are those who attach themselves to a Republican measure to get protection for their own products and then thunder at the bill as a whole." And then, after a number of specific citations which were shamefully wanting in the humorous lilt, he concluded:

* * * *

AS for Seedloan Sam, the great Uncle of Agriculture, Secretary Hyde could say for him only that although he is very far "in" there does not appear at the moment to be any particular way out.

A seed loan, it should be explained, is a loan advanced by the Government to a farmer who has no earthly credit. Its purpose, in the purer refinements of senatorial theory, is to insure the continuous cultivation of crops which do not in any one year pay the cost of production.

There being now, for example, a surplus of some 14,000,000 bales of cotton bulging out of warehouses of Dixie, no one who feels obligated to render a sound accounting for money intrusted to his care will lend much on mortgages on next year's cotton crop. So it's up to Seedloan Sam. In the ordinary course of events the lack of credit would force abandonment of excessive acreage, and so tend eventually to restore profitable prices for cotton, which, in turn, would restore prosperity in the South.

* * * *

BUT under the law of the land, Seedloan Sam must endeavor to defeat this immutable process, which, to a lesser degree, applies also to wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, snap beans and garlic.

During the past several weeks the loans have been going out at the rate of $1,000,000 a day, under special provisions written into the reconstruction finance act.

As Mr. Hyde puts it, the loans are handled in the Department of Agriculture because the Reconstruction Finance Corporation "is doing business on a business basis, and loans that are now being made under the name of agriculture can not by the furthest stretch be called good business."

The point, of course, is not whether such loans are justified. It is merely whether the Congress of the United States ought, as a matter of routine, to fall to the subterfuge of doing in fact—with millions of public money—what it will not justify in principle.

To do so makes poor Seedloan Sam a turnip head.

Strain on 5th Area Banks Lifted by Reconstruction

Business in District Remains Unchanged Despite Restoration of Confidence; Failures for February Increase Over January Contrary to Trend.

Richmond, Va., March 30 (A.P.).—Despite a partial restoration of confidence in certain basic factors, February statistics on the business and credit situation in the Fifth Federal Reserve District show little noticeable improvements of a concrete nature, Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond announced today in its monthly economic summary.

There were only seasonal changes in the volume of business done in February, but the mental attitude of the people improved distinctly, apparently as a result of the creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the passage of the Glass-Steagall bank bill.

Since the first of February the survey said, the strain on the banks of the district has lessened, with a resulting decline in bank suspensions.

A similar situation was noted over the entire country.

The marked decline in bank deposits which was in evidence through the last half of 1931 has slowed down appreciably, the review said, and there is some evidence of money which had been hoarded being returned to circulation.

At the Richmond Federal Reserve Bank rediscounts for member banks declined at a season when needs of agriculture might be expected to increase the demand for reserve bank credit. However, discounts held on March 15 were nearly those of a year ago.

The circulation of Federal Reserve notes declined seasonally last month, but the volume outstanding at the middle of March still showed the effects of hoarding, exceeding the circulation on March 15 last year by 23 per cent.

SWEDEN'S BANK AID BRIGHTENS BOURSE

Stocks Shake Off Kreuger Handicap and Record Appreciable Gains.

Stockholm, March 30 (A.P.).—Government aid for banks embarrassed by the difficulties of the Kreuger & Toll companies caused a sharp improvement on the bourse today. Stocks which declined badly after the death of Ivar Kreuger made considerable advances and the general tone of the market was optimistic.

Loans totaling approximately 150,000,000 kronor (about $30,000,000) were arranged by the government and private banks today to maintain the liquidity of the Skandinaviska Kredit Aktiebolag Bank, strained by difficulties of the Kreuger & Toll companies.

The government is providing 100,000,000 kronor and private banks from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000. It also was announced that the national treasury would make itself responsible for the engagements of the Skandinaviska to the National Bank if these exceeded the 100,000,000 government loan.

Premier Carl Ekman announced last night that the government had the support of the Riksdag in a plan designed to help hard-hit credit institutions of Sweden. For several days securities generally had declined sharply on the bourse as a result of Kreuger & Toll complications.

The premier said a bill would be introduced as soon as the Riksdag meets.

Investigation by the experts examining the Kreuger & Toll companies has shown that Ivar Kreuger himself was responsible for the financial statement issued on January 28.

It was said Mr. Kreuger, who had suggested that the board of directors publish the statement, but the board had refused because it was unable to verify the balance sheet which the chairman had prepared while he was in the United States. The board, therefore, gave no opinion about the figures which Mr. Kreuger issued except those of the Boliden Co., a subsidiary, which had been verified.

Officers of the Kreuger & Toll companies applied to the government today for extension until May 1 of the temporary moratorium granted after Ivar Kreuger's death. They said an extension was desirable in the interest of a continued investigation of the company's affairs.

PHONE GIVES WORK TO 204 MORE MEN

Construction Program Adds 202 to Pay Roll; Net Income, $165,295.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

A growing use of the telephone in this city is reflected in the February statement of operations of Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission. It shows that this broader use required the services of 3,223 employes that month, an increase of 204 above the number required in the month in 1931, and a gain of 105 over the number needed in January, 1932. The company was also enabled to proceed with its construction program which gave employment to 202 men in addition to the regular forces.

During the month there was a net gain in telephones of 845, bringing the number serving Washington to 181,062 at the close of business February 29, according to John A. Remon, general manager of the company. In February, local telephone users made 19,234,400 calls, an increase of 12.7 per cent over February, 1931.

Reductions and adjustments in charges for telephone service will result in savings to users of $101,250 in 1932, a proportionate part of which is reflected in the February earnings of the company. Telephone operating revenues in February were $786,370. Telephone operating expenses, $535,392. The balance before dividends after deducting taxes, uncollectible, interest, rents and other items, was $165,295.

Telephone operating revenues for the two months ended February 29, were $1,592,286, and operating expenses during this period, $1,079,554. The balance before dividends and after deducting taxes, the usual items, was $340,318. This was comparable with $265,182 for the first two months of 1931. Net telephone earnings on the average plant in service for the two months ended February 29, were 7.02 per cent. The total plant in service at the end of the month amounted to $31,781,265.

Taxes paid by the company in February were $58,948, as compared with $53,066 in February, 1931. Taxes for the two months were $119,370, as compared with $106,862 for a similar period in 1931. The company's gross construction program for the two months ended February 29 totaled $774,941. For the 12 months ended February 29 it was $3,781,840.

Steel Plans April Revival Despite Decline in Ingots

Output Drops to 22 Per Cent of Nation's Capacity; Auto Buying Depended Upon for Business Improvement Next Month.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—The steel industry continues to look forward to a revival in April in spite of a further decline in ingot production this week, Iron Age said today.

Output has dropped to about 22 per cent of the country's capacity, against 25 per cent last week. There has been a sharp falling off at Cleveland and lesser decreases have occurred in the valleys and at Pittsburgh and Chicago.

Expectation of April improvement, says this review, is strengthened by announcement of a public showing of the new Ford automobiles on Thursday, and the sales drive of General Motors.

The steel industry believes that this is the "zero hour," it is stated, and that new business, principally from the automobile industry, will lift operations appreciably during the next fortnight.

The Iron Age composite price of finished steel rises this week to 2.087 cents a pound from 2.044 cents last week. This is due to the apparent establishment of the $2 a ton advance on bars, shapes and plates.

Pig iron is unchanged at an average of $14.43 a gross ton, and steel scrap remains at $8.21 a ton.

Steel plant operations in the Youngstown district rose this week to 25 per cent of capacity from 19 per cent a week ago, according to reports from that center.

Rail Position Better.

The gain in freight car loadings for the week ended March 19, to the largest total for the year and the substantial improvements in February earnings of the carriers are the best bits of news on the rail situation for some time. The fact that nearly all classes of freight contributed to the rise in loadings suggests a mild seasonal improvement in general business. Previous misgivings over the outlook for the rails were somewhat allayed by indications that February net earnings would show a substantial gain over January.

Railroad statements for February issued so far indicate that the class 1 carriers will show net operating income almost double that of the preceding month, and this in the face of a decrease of nearly 3 per cent in gross revenues.

It is estimated that total net operating income for all roads will approximate $22,100,000, or an increase of nearly 90 per cent over the $11,713,613 net income for January. These results, it is expected, will show a decrease of about 19 per cent from the figures for February, 1931.

Gross revenues in February, according to reports already made, will be around $267,100,000, a decrease of 2.8 per cent from the total reported in January and 20.5 per cent below the same month last year.

Of the first 70 roads to report for February, 24 showed an improvement in net operating income over the same month of 1931.

Railroad quarters point out that real improvement in the volume of traffic would solve the carriers' problems; that with operating economies effected in the past two years, it might not be necessary to regain more than half of the traffic lost in the past two years to restore profits to the level of two years ago.

By JOHN L. COOLEY.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—Stocks rallied at the opening and close of today's dull market. Sandwiched between was a colorless period when leaders jiggled fractionally, as though uncertain just how to take the news, and when a few isolated issues displayed considerable weakness.

The latter failed to show much, if any, recovery, but most others mended from a fraction to more than 2 points net. Volume dropped to 1,007,908 shares.

Early covering was prompted in part by the better freight traffic statement which showed gains in movement of miscellaneous items and in loadings of less than full car volume. This improvement was quickly dissipated by selling of several utilities and some specialties, notably American Power & Light, Electric Power & Light, Beatrice Creamery and Goodyear Rubber issues. However, pivotal rails and industrials were but slightly disturbed by such developments, for the general market was inclined to put more stress of the course of the revenue bill and on the absence of important liquidation during this price-testing period.

Shorts Play Safe.

Shorts apparently were playing safe against the new loaning regulation which becomes effective Friday.

U. S. Steel common was unaffected by liquidation of the preferred, which lost 2 points to a new low before meeting support, and the junior issue closed a point higher.

General Electric, American Can, Woolworth, Gillette, Santa Fe, Procter & Gamble, Loew's, Du Pont, Case and Union Pacific also were up a point.

Standard Oil of New Jersey rallied nearly 2 points, while American Telephone, Norfolk & Western, Allied Chemical and Auburn were up 2 to 2½ net.

International Telephone was steady all day after yesterday's flurry.

Westinghouse dipped 1½ when the quarterly dividend was cut to 25 cents from 62½ cents, but more than made up its loss. Electric Power and American Power issues, common and preferred, finished 1 to 3 off and the two Beatrice Creamery Equities were down a couple of points. Goodyear common lost 1¾ and the preferred 4⅞.

Bond Tone Improves.

There was a distinctly better tone to the bond market with the strength of United States Government issues again the feature of the proceedings.

Gains of fractions to around half a point were recorded by all of the Liberties and Treasuries. Liberty 3½s once more reached a new high for the year.

Reports of mildly increasing railway revenues revived interest in some of the carriers. Among the gainers were Chicago & Northwestern 4½s, Allegheny Corporation 5s, Erie refunding and improvement 5s of 1967, New York Central debenture 4s, Nickel Plate 6s, Frisco 5s, Southern general 4s, and Baltimore & Ohio 4½s.

Loans of Argentine, Brazil, Germany and Bavaria advanced substantially while prices of other foreign obligations were somewhat mixed.

Sales totaled $9,611,000, par value.

Scattered selling again kept the curb market unsettled, although the list as a whole maintained a fairly good undertone. Trading slackened notably, the turnover aggregating 160,000 shares, or roughly 40,000 less than yesterday's.

The Electric Bond & Share group was again under some pressure. The old Bond & Share stock closed at 6¾, off ⅝. Electric Power & Light second preferred sold at a new low at 25, off 5. American Gas & Electric, however, was firm, closing ¾ of a point higher.

Stromberg-Carlson dropped 2 points to 5, a new low.

COTTON STILL RISES ON TAXATION NEWS

Buying Encouraged by Light Offerings in South; May Closes at 6.32.

New York, March 30 (A.P.).—The better feeling which developed in cotton Tuesday on budget developments in Washington was in evidence again today and prices were generally higher.

Buying was encouraged by reports of continued light offerings in the South, relatively steady Liverpool cables and the firmer tone of the grain market. May contracts sold up to 6.33 in the late trading and closed at 6.32. The general market closed very steady at net advances of 19 to 22 points.

The best prices of the day were reached in the late trading with July selling at 6.50 and October at 6.72. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best, with May contracts showing a recovery of 21 points from the low level of yesterday.

Liverpool cables reported covering and buying there promoted by the lower sterling, and said there was a little improvement in the demand for cotton cloths and yarns.

Exports today were 23,088 bales, making 6,832,067 bales so far this season.

WHEAT STAGES RISE ON CROPS' OUTLOOK

Reports of Western States' Shortage Aids Upturn to One Cent.

Chicago, March 30 (A.P.).—Assertions that western Kansas and adjoining territory would not produce half as much wheat as last year gave brisk upturns to grain prices late today. The region had a 1931 harvest of more than 200,000,000 bushels, but rapidly increasing complaints of crop damage focused attention on apparent likelihood of big losses.

Dispatches told of terrific dust storms, especially in western Kansas and western Nebraska, reducing crop prospects at some places to an extent seldom equaled. Decidedly unfavorable crop advices also were received from the Texas panhandle.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE Revolutionary War began on April 19 and ended on April 19 (active hostilities).

While the United States has been in existence as a Nation for only 155 years, there have been only 40 years in which armed forces of the country have not been actively engaged in fighting.

Despite this record Uncle Sam can not be called unduly bellicose, for most of the wars were of a minor nature with Indian tribes. They were usually long drawn out and casualties were comparatively slight. One of these, the Sioux War, lasted for 25 years. The Kickapoo and the Snake Wars lasted 13 years each. The war with Tripoli lasted four years and the Civil War four years.

A 200-pound man can put his full weight on a cigarette after that cigarette has been tied in a knot . . . without even tearing the paper. Here's how . . . first roll the cigarette tightly in cellophane, leaving about two inches of the cellophane protruding at each end. Then twist the two ends until the cellophane is as tightly bound about the cigarette as possible. You can then tie it in a knot and step on it, and it will still be left to smoke, when unwrapped.

EDUCATIONAL DRIVE URGED ON DENTISTS BY NATIONAL HEAD

Dr. Dewey Cites Publicity of American Medical Association.

FOUR STATES' BANQUET ADDRESSED BY WILBUR

Secretary Tells Vast Extent of Problem That Faces Dental Profession.

"The American Medical Association has been the biggest publicity hounds of all," Dr. Martin Dewey, president of the American Dental Association, said at the Four State Dental Banquet at the Mayflower Hotel, last night, in reference to the reluctance of the Dental Association to educate the public in dental hygiene, and the tendency to refer to the Medical Association as an example in ethics where advertising is concerned.

"The public has been educated to appreciate dentistry through tooth paste advertising," the New York dental leader said. "The American Dental Association has not carried on a proper educational program, whereas other professional organizations have used the press to educate the public to appreciate their profession."

Dr. Dewey told the dentists attending the banquet that educational campaigns for the public were successful in increasing hygiene consciousness, and that the reason 90 per cent of the public did not visit the dentist was that they have not been educated to appreciate dental services.

Secretary Wilbur Speaks.

The Secretary of the Interior, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, a guest at the banquet, said "74 per cent of the children in one of our prominent cities have caries (decayed teeth) and receive no attention, and 24 per cent of the children receive partial attention. One hesitates to give the figures in millions for those in the United States who never use a tooth brush."

"This shows," he said, "the massiveness of the problem confronting the American dental profession. The mere mechanical work of adequately taking care of existing dental difficulties would be beyond the capacity of the profession as it is at present constituted.

"It is evident, then, that if the problem is to be adequately met, it must be by mastering conditions that lead to dental defects and oral difficulties. At the White House conference on child health and protection the papers and discussion established clearly the need of prenatal and maternal care, and the great place which nutrition has in the development of teeth of such quality as to resist damage, decay and destruction.

Prominent Banquet Guests.

"Nutrition not only influences the development of sound teeth, but the use of specific foods seems to facilitate decay. Apparently, the farther we get away from natural methods of eating and of certain types of foods, the more likely we are to have disturbances in the structure of the teeth and an enhanced susceptibility to infection."

The banquet was attended by dentists of Washington, Maryland and Virginia. Guests at the function were: Senator Henrik Shipstead, the dentist Congress member; Maj. Gen. Robert U. Patterson, surgeon general of the United States Army; Rear Admiral Charles E. Riggs, surgeon general of the United States Navy; Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, Director of the Veterans Bureau; Capt. Joel T. Boone, physician to the President; Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the District Board of Commissioners; Dr. Frederick Lum, trustee of the Dental Association; Dr. A. C. Christie, president of the District of Columbia Dental Association; Dr. W. N. Cogan, dean of the Georgetown Dental School; Dr. J. Ben Robinson, dean of the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery; Dr. Harry Bear, dean of the dental department of the Medical College of Virginia; Dr. Ralph Snapp, president of the Virginia State Dental Association; Dr. George Anderson, president of the Maryland State Dental Association; Dr. C. R. Strum, president of the West Virginia State Dental Association; Dr. R. E. Price, president of the Delaware State Dental Association; Dr. Warren Combs, secretary of the Delaware Board of Dental Examiners, and Dr. Sterling V. Mead, vice president of the American Dental Association.

Driver, on Rum Count, Gets 10 Months in Jail

A sentence of ten months in the Maryland House of Correction was given to Nelson Woodson, of Washington, when he pleaded guilty yesterday in Hyattsville Police Court to charges of driving while drunk.

Asked about two accidents he is said to have had in the District, Woodson told Judge J. Chew Sheriff that he knew nothing of them until told about them the next morning. He was arrested by Policeman William E. Clifton Sunday on a lookout sent by District police after two hit-and-run crashes here. Woodson was also fined $5 for having no registration card, $10 for failing to keep to the right of the center of the road and $10 for speeding.

Paul Wimmer, of Washington, was elected manager, and Lester Harmon, of Rockville, secretary-treasurer. Other charter members were R. H. Clement, Vincent Norelli, J. H. McGann and Paul Preston.

Trolley Tie-Up Caused By Storage Room Blaze

Greta Nissen, Film Star, Bride of Weldon Heyburn

Weldon Heyburn, film actor, son of Col. Wyatt Golson Franks, of Washington, and his bride, Greta Nissen, also of the films, who were married in Tia Juana after flying from Hollywood with Col. Franks.

Couple Fly to Mexico With His Father, of Capital, to Wed.

Greta Nissen, film star, and Weldon Heyburn, also a film actor and son of Col. Wyatt Golson Franks, of 3133 Connecticut avenue, flew from Hollywood to Tia Juana, Mexico, and were married yesterday, according to Associated Press dispatches.

They left at 2:45 p. m. and were married in a civil ceremony read by Judge Ricardo Gibert, of the Mexican Civil Court, in the bridal suite at a popular hotel.

The couple were accompanied by Col. Franks. After a wedding dinner they were returned to Hollywood by airplane. There were no representatives of the film colony at the wedding. Bully Silver, a friend of the bridegroom, and Col. Franks were the official witnesses, while the chief of police and most of the Tia Juana city officials attended.

The bride, a native of Oslo, Norway, gave her name as Gretchen Ruzt at the marriage license bureau, and the bridegroom used his full name, Weldon Heyburn Franks.

The romance began when the couple met as members of the cast of "The Silent Witness," exhibited recently in Washington, and the marriage is the first for each of them. Both formerly were stage players, and Mr. Heyburn is better known his work in the legitimate theater than in the movies.

Mr. Heyburn was known in Washington and the University of Alabama, which he attended in 1923 and 1924 as "Spanny" Franks. He started his stage career as a member of the Black Friars Club of the university. He was graduated from George Washington University after leaving Alabama. He last appeared in Washington, where his father is stationed in the Army Signal Corps, with Lenore Ulric in "Pagan Lady." He went to Hollywood last August.

REDS WILL PROTEST POLICE "BRUTALITY"

Mass Meeting Also to Demand Release of 19 Seized at Embassy.

A protest meeting, demanding the unconditional release of the 19 radicals who yesterday began serving sentences of from 30 to 60 days for their participation in a demonstration in front of the Japanese Embassy, is planned tomorrow night by Communists.

Arrangement for bail of $500 for release of the prisoners pending appeal of the cases fell through and Communist leaders issued the following statement:

"A mass meeting to protest against the brutal attack by police on the demonstrators at the Japanese Embassy is called under joint auspices of the International Labor Defense, the Friends of the Soviet Union and the Unemployed Councils of Washington.

"The meeting will be held at the Musician's Hall, 1006 E street, Friday, April 1. The meeting will demand the unconditional release of all arrested and the punishment of the police who attacked the demonstrators. Resolutions will also be presented for the release of the Kentucky mine strikers and Tom Mooney.

Judge Ralph Given, imposing fines ranging from $25 to $300 on the radical group, told the defendants that he was only concerned with charges of parading without a permit and disorderly conduct, but that he upheld the methods used by police to subdue the group.

"Why should they take upon themselves to demonstrate in front of an embassy which the United States Government is duty bound to protect," Judge Given remarked at the trial. Charles E. Ford, defense council said, "Had not the police been the aggressor, there would have been no violence."

Cherry Blossoms Due in Eight Days

Experts Predict Delayed Blooms Will Appear Late Next Week.

Long overdue because of severe cold snaps, the famous cherry blossoms, circling the Tidal Basin, should appear late next week, horticulturists at the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks said yesterday.

If all goes well and the sun continues to shine with the generosity displayed yesterday, the blossoms should begin to appear by Friday of next week, and Saturday and Sunday should be gala days with the blooms in full color, it was said.

11 SERVICE GROUPS FORM FEDERATION

President of Optimist Club Is Elected Chairman of New Organization.

Eleven Washington service clubs have banded together as the Federation of Civic Clubs, with Henry Schaffert, president of the Optimist Club, as chairman. Organization of the federation was effected yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the Hamilton Hotel.

The purpose of the group is to exchange club ideas and experiences, to encourage and facilitate cooperation between the clubs, to minimize the duplication of energy due to overlapping of activities, to promote the general welfare of the clubs and to hold several joint luncheons each year.

The clubs comprising the federation are the Civitan, Exchange, Reciprocity, Y's Men's, American Business, Zonta, Cosmopolitan, Newcomers, Round Table, Monarch and Optimist.

The officers are Henry Schaffert, Optimist Club, chairman; L. H. Brodie, Monarch Club, vice chairman; Mrs. Amelia Gude Thomas, Zonta Club, second vice chairman; Louis B. Nichols, Y's Men's Club, secretary, and Roger Yates, Reciprocity Club, treasurer.

The board of governors consists of Dr. Maurice L. Townsend, Civitan; William Edelblut, Exchange; Page McK. Etchison, Round Table; Frank M. Eliot, Newcomers; W. L. King, Cosmopolitan, and LeRoy McCarty, American Business.

Arthur C. Smith, Reciprocity Club, chairman, and Horace Browning, American Business, comprise the program committee, and J. W. Burch, Optimist Club, is chairman of the attendance committee.

Nominating of candidates for the club offices occupied the business session of the luncheon-meeting of the Washington Optimist Club at the Hamilton yesterday. The election will be held next Wednesday.

Change in Kensington's Phones Held Not Needed

The Maryland Public Service Commission has decided that it would not be justified in ordering the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to replace the present magneto type telephones in Kensington, Md., with modern common battery types, according to a notification received by J. Harry Welch, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Montgomery Civic Federation. The commission stated that the type in use at Kensington is the usual one for an exchange for the average number of subscribers served by that exchange.

The commission also has set April 6, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, for a hearing on the proposed reduction in bus service on the Forest Glen and Four Corners lines of the Washington Rapid Transit Co.

Fasting Dr. Wolter Refuses Share of Veteran's Pension

Included in fan mail received yesterday by Dr. Frederic F. Wolter, who, on the thirty-first day of his hunger strike, appeared as usual in the lobby of the Salvation Army Hotel at 119 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, was a letter from a World War veteran in California, who offered to share with the doctor an anual pension of $600.

Dr. Wolter, however, declared the offer was "out of the question." Deeply appreciating the writer's generosity, he pointed out that it would be impossible for the two to live on that amount. The Californian asked that Dr. Wolter come to Long Beach and tutor him in foreign languages.

"That man," Dr. Wolter said, "has offered to share his meager pension with another, while there are thousands of wealthy persons in the country who never think of dividing their riches with any one else. I can not understand it."

Dr. Wolter, conducting his fast as a gesture against present unemployment conditions, declared that although born in Germany, he is now an American citizen. Day after day, since beginning his fast on February 28, he sits beside a small stove in the hotel lobby and studies, only setting aside his books now and then to greet visitors.

MALONE STRESSES NEED FOR MILITARY TRAINING OF YOUTH

Third Corps Area Leader Pleads for Defense of Surety Policy.

CAVALRY NOT OBSOLETE, MAJ. GEN. HENRY AVERS

Nineteenth Annual Parley of Educators Ends With Election Today.

Need for military training of American youth, "because the millenium when wars will be no more is still far away," was emphasized last night by Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area; Maj. Gen. George E. Leach, chief of the Militia Bureau, and other speakers at the annual banquet of the Association of Military Colleges and Schools of the United States, now in convention at the Washington Hotel.

Failure to train American youth in military experience will be a dangerous thing in which the United States will inevitably suffer, Gen. Leach warned. He referred to the history of this country, citing 30 invasions of foreign territory, as an indication of his point that the United States has not reached the stage where she can afford to sacrifice preparedness.

Col. Farrand Presides.

Col. Roy F. Farrand, president of St. Johns Military Academy at Delafield, Wis., and president of the association, who presided, declared that nothing has replaced the frontier days to challenge the manhood of young Americans in peace time. "The modern American boy lives to himself to a far greater degree than any of his forbears," he said.

The object of the association is to develop good citizens through development of a sense of cooperation and discipline and respect for constituted authority, Col. Farrand told the gathering of prominent United States Army officers and heads of military schools and colleges. "The time has come for the American people to be shown the way of protecting their Nation, rather than to disarmament," he asserted.

In a stirring address in which he showed that all world conflicts have been linked with economic difficulties, Gen. Malone pleaded for defense of the national surety policy "written in the life blood of American men on the fields of France." The loss of R. O. T. C. units in schools and colleges would be commensurate to a defeat in the Argonne, he said.

Confessing that he does not want to see war any more than any other man, Gen. Malone warned that the time for settling economic and other international difficulties through a round table conference has not yet come "and will not come until long after time has washed away the name on his gravestone."

Denies Cavalry Obsolete.

Denial of the belief that the cavalry is obsolete was made by Maj. Gen. Guy V. Henry, chief of cavalry, U. S. A. "As long as there is a war movement an army will need cavalry," he said. "Whether that cavalry is mounted on horses or on machines makes little difference. As far as we can see in the near future it will be mounted on both."

Speakers at the afternoon session were Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business; Maj. Ralph C. Bishop, director of the foundation for military research, and Gen. Henry Reilly.

Mr. Thorpe asserted that military appropriations are a legitimate function of Government to protect the people. Criticizing other Government expenditures, he said that $15,000,000 of the total national pay roll of more than $60,000,000 goes to persons on the tax paid pay roll. He estimated the Government expenditure for military defense to be 55 per cent of the national pay roll rather than 80 per cent as he said was generally assumed.

The association convention—the nineteenth—will close today with election of officers and other business.

SUBCOMMITTEE ACTION ON IDLE AID IMMINENT

Urgent Nature of Petition for Early Relief May Change Procedure.

Plans for restoring Wilson Teachers College and Ross Elementary School to their former condition of safety will be laid before the House District appropriations subcommittee by District engineers at a meeting of the House group this morning at 10 o'clock.

Supplemental estimates, asking appropriation of $160,000 from unexpended balances to reinforce foundations and repair cracks in the structures, vacated pending renovation, have all been forwarded to the subcommittee by the President.

This morning engineers will report results of extensive investigations at the site, and submit their plan of restoration.

Members of the subcommittee, who yesterday were petitioned by a group of local civic leaders for early approval of requested allocation of $600,000 in Municipal Center funds to unemployment relief, had not planned to reach that matter this morning.

Plans May Be Shifted.

The urgent nature of the petition may change their plans. No vote has been taken by the committee on the proposed transfer of funds, nor has the item been reached in marking the bill.

Representative William P. Holaday (Republican), Illinois, member of the subcommittee, said the group is waiting for additional expense data requested of the local relief groups. He said only 5 out of 65 organizations had submitted the information and that "he personally wanted to know how the money was going to be spent."

Early Relief Is Urged.

A provision in the estimates stipulate that only $60,000 of the $600,000 be used for payment of salaries.

The "facts" on unemployment in the District justify immediate appropriation of the requested aid, the petition forwarded to Chairman Clarence Cannon yesterday stated.

"The active live registers of the Federal Employment Agency in the District, indicate there are over 19,000 unemployed persons, of whom, according to Mrs. Ward, the director of the Federal Employment Agency, over two-thirds are bona-fide residents of the District," read the petition.

Only 162 Jobs Created.

"Present indices of employment show that there has not been the customary pick-up in activity. The campaign of work creation in the District after six weeks has thus far netted only 162 jobs. Besides, at a time such as this, there is an abnormal inflow of labor into Washington, making it constantly more difficult for its citizens to obtain employment."

The petition was signed by Mrs. Walter S. Ufford, Mrs. William G. Steuart, Oscar W. Leonard, Miss Katherine F. Lenroot, Miss Fay Bentley, Paul Benjamin, Miss Doorthy F. Williamson, Mrs. Charles A. Goldsmith, A. J. Driscoll, W. L. Darby, Miss Sybil Baker and Leifur Magnusson.

Greece's Minister Will Attend Dance

Envoy and Staff Will Aid in Lodges' Charity Ball Sunday Night.

The Greek Minister, Charalambos Simopoulos, and his staff will attend a costume ball to be given Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Kennedy-Warren Hotel by Miaoulis and Eudokia Lodges of the Greek-American Progressive Association.

Proceeds of the affair will go for the benefit of needy families of Washington's Greek community. Through the fund from the dance the association hopes to provide for those in need through the Easter season. Greek Easter is on May 1 this year.

Many tickets have been sold and a large atendance is expected. The ladies' chapter has charge of the ticket sale.

ARRESTS PROMISED IN BUS DEPOT ORDER

Operators Who Attempt to Use Congested Section Tomorrow Warned.

Operators of interstate buses who have not vacated terminals in the congested area of Washington by tomorrow morning will go to jail, Earl V. Fisher, executive secretary, stated late yesterday in behalf of the Public Utilities Commission.

Although the utilities body had given the operators an extension of time to select a new site, it will not permit the buses to opearte within the congested zone after tomorrow, which was the deadline set by an order adopted early last summer.

Only the Greyhound Bus Lines, the Blue Ridge Transportation Co., and the Washington Rapid Transit Co. have definitely selected new terminals, although a score of operators are involved. The Virginia Stages and the Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Lines yesterday sought permission to join the Greyhound and the Blue Ridge Lines on the north side of New York avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, but the commission refused them.

The traffic coordinating committee is working out new routes for the bus lines so as to provide the quickest and least congested outlets and inlets, Mr. Fisher said that the committee had about decided on shifting the outgoing northbound buses to New York avenue, probably at M street.

Lost $400 Diamond Pin Found in Theater Aisle

A breastpin set with 40 diamonds and valued at $400 was returned to its owner last night a short time after she had reported its loss to police. Miss Audrey Campbell, of 1331 New Hampshire avenue northwest, told police she had the pin when she attended a performance at the Ambassador Theater, 2454 Eighteenth street northwest, and when she left it was missing.

Detectives Robert M. Maghan and E. L. Dalstrom, of the Third Precinct, went to the theater and flashed their lights around the aisles. They disturbed a few of the audience, but found the breastpin out in the aisle where it had fallen from Miss Campbell's dress.

Masonic Group Elects Same Officers for Year

All officers were reelected at the annual banquet and meeting of the Worshipful Grand Masters Association of 1910 in the Hamilton Hotel last night. The officers named were: E. Gratz Dunkum, president; Roger O'Donnell and Henry F. Woodward, vice presidents, and C. P. Boss, secretary-treasurer.

Guest of honor was Reuben A. Bogley, grand master of the District. Past District grand masters in attendance were C. C. Coombs, J. Claude Keiper and Sydney R. Jacobs.

EXPLANATION OF CAB METER ORDER ASKED

Chairman Mary Norton, of House District Group, Calls for Report.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, yesterday was called on to explain that body's action in ordering installation of meters in Washington taxicabs, in a letter written by Mrs. Mary T. Norton, chairman of the House District committee.

Representative Norton asked Chairman Patrick to explain not only necessity for the order, upheld Tuesday by the District Supreme Court, but its likely effect on taxi operations, both from the standpoint of drivers and riders.

The information was requested for use of the House District committee, on motion of Representative Loring M. Black, jr. (Republican), New York, following committee debate on the merits of the commission's move.

Representative Vincent L. Palmisano (Democrat), Maryland, declared meter requirements had operated in Baltimore to increase fares and drive out of business the smaller operators. He favored continuance of the zone system.

Although no legislation to block the commission's order was threatened by the committee, it is known that a group of representatives are considering such a step. One said the order might be countermanded by removing taxicabs from the jurisdiction of the Public Utilities Commission.

A favorable report was ordered on two bills—one authorizing Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou to make school appointments between meetings of the Board of Education and another authorizing use of the new 2½-gallon measure for ice cream containers.

Committee consideration of the traction merger bill was further postponed to April 7 at 8 p. m. Speaker Garner has promised Mrs. Norton District time on the House calendar at an early date, the District committee chairman announced.

Two Are Convicted On Liquor Charges

Deitz and Greenberg Guilty of Possession; Three Others Acquitted.

Police Court juries yesterday returned guilty verdicts in liquor cases against William Deitz, 26 years old, and Reuben Greenberg, 20 years old, who were charged with possession of liquor. Both men were acquitted of a charge of maintaining a nuisance.

Three others in the same case were acquitted of both charges. They were Samuel Melincov, 28 years old; Benjamin Cohen, 23 years old, and Shellie Rowe, colored, 21 years old. All were arrested as a result of a raid at 433 Eleventh street northwest several weeks ago.

The trial was the second for the defendants. They were placed on trial two weeks ago, but Judge John P. McMahon ordered a mistrial when a juror became ill after some of the evidence had been introduced.

Owners Association Raps Vehicle Weight Tax Bill

The Maps weight tax bill on automobiles and trucks was opposed last night at a meeting of the Commercial Motor Vehicle Owners Association at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

A committee from the association will present arguments against the bill at a hearing next Tuesday. A resolution was adopted to have representatives of the 40 industries and trades represented in the association meet to determine methods of having the national associations of the trades and industries also oppose the bill.

According to a report read at the meeting, the Maryland State police have served notice on many operators of trucks that beginning Monday arrests will be made on contract or for hire trucks that do not possess the Maryland Public Service Commission tags. This is a revival of an old law where trucks can be taxed one-fifth of a cent per ton per mile, or approximately $2 for a round trip to Baltimore from Washington on a five-ton truck. A special meeting will be held this afternoon at 3:30 in the offices of the association at 2539 Pennsylvania avenue by the officers and truck owners and operators of Maryland and Virginia to discuss the interpretation of this old law and determine its unconstitutionality.

3 MEN AND WOMAN HELD FOR FIGHTING TO ESCAPE ARREST

Capture Is Made Following Pursuit of Speeding Auto by Policeman.

Three men and a young woman were being held last night as the upshot of a hand-to-hand struggle early yesterday between Detective Sergt. Howard E. Ogle and the occupants of a car whom he sought to question because of their suspicious actions.

A large group of victims and witnesses of recent holdups and other crimes last night viewed the quartet held, but failed to identify any of them as implicated. Police officials planned to have witnesses in the shooting of Paul Riedel, Mount Pleasant street baker, view the men held tonight at police headquarters.

Pursuit In Auto.

Those held under investigation charges are Roland M. Golden, 45, of 1100 Eleventh street northwest; Roy Holt, 26, 1020 B street southeast; Oscar E. Loving, 22, of 1109 Eleventh street northwest, and Fern M. Gardiner, 26, of 629 Morris street northeast.

The affrey began when Ogle became suspicious of a machine at Eighth and R streets northwest, shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday morning. The detective was riding in his own machine, but was on duty. He gave chase and the other car attempted to elude him. The pursuit continued at a 45 to 50 mile an hour clip until Eleventh and P streets northwest was reached.

Aided by Trolley Men.

The fleeing machine was forced into the curb and Ogle slighted to question the men. During the questioning, one of the three men in the machine produced a revolver, but Ogle dashed it from his hands. This man fled and Ogle fired several shots at him. Holt then grappled with him, Ogle said. During the scuffle, the man obtained Ogle's revolver, but the detective prevented him from firing it.

The crew of a passing street car finally came to Ogle's aid and Holt was lodged in a cell. A detail of police then accompanied Ogle to 1109 Eleventh street northwest where Miss Gardiner, Golden and Loving were arrested.

Oklahomans to Dance Saturday.

The dance of the Oklahoma State Society, which was to have been held at Meridian Mansions, will be held Saturday night at the United States Chamber of Commerce instead. A patriotic program is planned and members of the State delegation in Congress will attend.
